"Poor Fish"

The expression "poor fish" may owe its origin to the habit one male fish has of following his mate around as she lays her eggs. The male collects the eggs and stores them in a leathery pouch under his gills and there they remain until hatched. This fish is called the Hippocampus or seahorse.

JOHN TAYLOR ONE OF THREE KILLED LAST WEDNESDAY

Former FSA Manager in City Loses Life in Crash at Elk River

Three persons, one of them John W. Taylor, until three years ago local supervisor of the Farm Security administration, were killed when their car bound for Roseau and Baudette, was struck by a Northern Pacific passenger train at a crossing in Elk River Wednesday morning of last week.

Other death victims were Mr. Taylor's father-in law, former State Senator A. M. Landby of Swift, and Christian Nash, FSA supervisor at Baudette. Funeral rites for Mr. Taylor and Mr. Landby were held Sunday at Roseau, where Mr. Taylor maintained his home, and later at Warroad.

Mr. Taylor, former Roseau county agent, made his headquarters in this city for four years, leaving three years ago to accept a position as state real estate specialist with the FSA. He resigned last July to become affiliated with the state office of the war manpower agency.

The driver of the car apparently did not see the approaching train. The automobile was struck by the locomotive and smashed against the concrete signal light at the side of the tracks. All three were dead when rescurers arrived at the scene.

YOUR INCOME TAX

What Is Income Tax?

By Bureau of Internal Revenue

The federal income tax is, as the name implies, a tax levied upon incomes, and it is payable in relation to the amount of income. Income, for Federal income tax purposes, means in general any compensation for one's services, whether the compensation be in money or in goods or other services; it includes also the net value received for the product of one's labor, as farm produce in the case of a farmer; income from investments; profit from business operations; and other gains from sales and exchanges of goods and property. Certain limited categories of income are, however, tax exempt, and to the extent of such exemption are excluded in computing the tax.

Because of exemptions from the tax given to persons having less than certain stated amounts of income, as well as because of various deductions and credits allowable, only a small proportion of the number of persons receiving income have until recently been subject to the tax. Thus, of the estimated 55 million persons in this country who received income in one form or another during the calendar year 1941, only some 26 million persons were required to file Federal income tax returns for that year, while of these same 26 million, more than 9 million were not taxable due to credits and deductions allowable.

As a result of the lowering of exemptions, many more persons are now subject to the Federal income tax than before, and for the calendar year 1942 it is estimated that more than 35 million persons will file Federal income tax returns. To the large number of persons now subject to the Federal income tax, who have never reported income before for Federal tax purposes, an understanding of the law and applicable regulations is of prime importance.

An income tax return is a declaration on the part of the taxpayer of his total taxable income for the year, together with the various deductions, exemptions, and credits to which he is entitled. It is in reliance upon voluntary disclosure, and the integrity of taxpayers generally, that the cost of administration of the income tax can be kept at a minimum. Though the return is a voluntary statement, any person who willfully makes a return which he does not believe to be true and correct in every material matter is subject to the penalties provided by law.

The first requirement of the law is the filing of an appropriate return. For individuals generally, this must be done by March 15 following the end of the calendar year. The return must be filed with the appropriate Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which is located the legal residence or principal place of business of the person making the return.

Under the present law every single person, and every married person not living with husband or wife, having a total income (earnings, together with other income) of $500 or more, and married persons living with husband or wife throughout the taxable year, who have an aggregate income (total earnings of both husband and wife, together with other income) of $1,200 or more, regardless of the amount of net income, must file a return.

FARM BUTCHERING RECOMMENDED BY CO. AGENT PALMER

Points out Importance of Easing Overburdened Transportation

Pennington County farmers can contribute to the war effort this winter by butchering and curing meats for their own use, says County Agent Ernest Palmer. Home butchering will reduce congestion in stockyards and packing plants and relieve over-burdened transportation. It will also help supply cooking fats at a time when these may become scarce.

Shortage of time and equipment need not prevent home butchering because neighbors can do this job together or hire the local butcher or locker plant to do it.

P. A. Anderson, meat specialist at University Farm, says pork is the best meat to cure and store. It is rich in the B vitamin called thiamin, is nutritious and wholesome.

Curing must be well done, since meat is to valuable in the war effort and too high priced to take chances on spoilage. Successful curing, according to Anderson, depends upon selecting a top-quality animal for slaughter. Unless hogs are fat, their meat will not cure successfully.

Complete removal of body heat previous to curing is important in producing smoked products of good flavor. As soon as the hog has been dressed, remove all or part of the leaf fat to permit the escape of animal heat. Hog carcasses should not be sharply frozen immediately after slaughtering, because freezing prevents elimination of body heat.

Proper trimming is the next step after killing and cooling. Roughly trimmed hams with much fat and ragged edges will take up excessive amounts of salt during the curing process. Excess fats should be removed before curing and used for lard. One-half to three-fourths of an inch of fat on the ham is enough to prevent evaporation and shrinkage during the storing period.

Information on butchering and curing may be secured from the county extension office in the form of three folders, "Home Curing of Pork," "Cutting Pork and Lamb for Home Use" and "Cutting the Beef Carcass."

FDR PRESENTS BUDGET ASKING FOR VAST SUMS

Estimates War Expenditures at 100 Billion Next Fiscal Year

ASKS FOR ADDITIONAL 16 BILLION IN TAXES

Tax Receipts Are Expected to Cover About Half of War Bill

President Roosevelt told congress Monday of plans for spending $100,000,000,000 on fighting the war in the next fiscal year—plus $9,000,000,000 to go for other purposes—and recommended $16,000,000,000 in new taxes or compulsory loans.

Submitting his annual budget and budget message, the chief executive outlined a "national effort of gigantic magnitude."

"It reflects," he said, "the determination of civilians to 'pass the ammunition'."

Talking about the budget and taxes at a press conference, Mr. Roosevelt said one of his personal objectives was a $25,000 limit after the payment of all taxes on all incomes. Under executive regulations, net salaries are now limited to $25,000.

The colossal extent of contemplated expenditures brought a collective gasp from congress, which quickly made two things clear: first, that all necessary war appropriations will be quickly forthcoming; and second, that Republicans and economy-minded Democrats will insist upon a further reduction in non-war outlays.

Tax receipts will have to be increased by $16,000,000,000 if they are to cover half the war budget, Mr. Roosevelt said—raised from $33,081,245,000, estimated net yield of the present law, to around $49,000,000,000. He suggested (and congressional talk immediately centered upon) increased outright tax payments supplemented by compulsory savings, taxes to be refunded to the taxpayer after the close of the war.

In addition he urged that so far as possible taxes be placed upon a "pay-as-you-go" basis. He emphasized that in any event the tax program would require wartime sacrifice.

Mr. Roosevelt warned civilians that on the average they can be supplied with but $500 worth of goods and services during the fiscal year, or almost 25 per cent less than in the "record" year of 1941. But "even then," he continued, "most of us will be better fed, better clothed, and better housed than other peoples in the world." However, he asked that it not be assumed there is no need for a great improvement in living conditions of a 'large segment' of the American population.

153 RURAL CREDIT FARMS IN COUNTY SOLD SINCE 1939

George Jones, Conservator, Submits Annual Report to Gov. Stassen

Since January 1, 1939, 153 Pennington county rural credit farms, comprising 25,509 acres, have been sold, leaving fifty farms in this county in the hands of the department of rural credit, George C. Jones conservator, revealed this week in his annual report to Governor Stassen.

Thru the placing of the farms in private hands, the annual tax revenue has been increased approximately $8,700, Mr. Jones stated. Of the 153 farms sold, 29 were bought by former owners or their children, 68 by local tenants, 46 by local farmers and only ten by outside buyers.

For the state as a whole, Mr. Jones reported, the result of sales as offset by acquisitions has been to reduce the holdings of department-owned units available for sale to 478 farms as of December 31, 1942. Of the farms disposed of during the four-year period, 792 were sold for all cash, while an average down payment of 26.2 per cent were made on the remaining 5893.

MOBILIZATION DAY NOTED BY FARMERS HERE

PART OF NATION-WIDE OBSERVANCE OF DAY

Supt. Bye Speaks Eloquently of Contribution Made by Farmers

In common with other communities thruout the nation, Pennington county farmers joined Tuesday in a Farm Mobilization Day program in the Thief River Falls Auditorium, designed to review the food production record for the past year and to plan to equal or surpass the 1942 output of farm products during the current year.

The local program, preceded by a concert by the Lincoln high school band directed by Donald Rogers, was presided over by Carl R. Anderson, chairman of the Pennington county AAA War Board, and included an eloquent address appropriate to the occasion by Supt. Morris Bye.

A highlight of the program was the reception of a nationwide broadcast of a statement addressed to the nation's farmers by President Roosevelt, as well as short talks by Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, and others.

"I know that the whole country joins with me in a tribute to the work farmers already have done, in a pledge of full support in the difficult task which lies ahead for farmers, and in a prayer for good weather to make the farmers' efforts more fruitful," said the President in a statement read by James F. Byrnes, director of economic stabilization.

"Our fighting men and allies, and our families here at home can rely on farmers for the food and other farm products that will help to bring victory."

Mr. Bye, in his address, briefly sketched the record of the war year 1942, showing how the tide had begun gradually to turn in favor of the United Nations, but pointed out that the crucial task lies ahead on the home front as well as on the battlefield.

He stated that fewer people on the farms did a more effective job in increasing production in 1942, and that this year they are being called on to equal or surpass that record with more limited facilities in the way of manpower and equipment. In closing he expressed confidence in the patriotic willingness of the American farmer to try to work out a solution of the problems confronting him.

County Agent Ernest Palmer also spoke briefly, making a plea for wider participation of rural boys and girls in the 4-H club movement as a means of making a definite contribution to the war effort.

Ration Board Explains Point Rationing Plan

With the point rationing program scheduled to go into effect some time in February, George W. Werstlein, chairman of the local war price and rationing board, today clarified a number of phases of the program which are of interest to the housewife. He urged her to cooperate by buying sparingly of canned and bottled processed foods and to purchase only the immediate needs of her family until the program can be placed into effect.

Illustrating the fairness of the point rationing system Mr. Werstlein pointed out the wife of a millionaire would be able to purchase no more than a wife budgeting a laborer's salary.

The following and answers were prepared by the board chairman to clarify the highlights of the program:

Q:—When will rationing begin?
A:—As early in February as possible.

TAX REDUCTION HAS SPOTLIGHT IN LEGISLATURE

Bill Is Introduced to Make Gradual Reduction in State Levy

CUT IN INCOME TAX ALSO IS ADVOCATED

Winona Senator Introduces Bill to Reduce Lower Brackets

Completing their organizations quickly this past week, members of the Minnesota legislature turned at once to one of the main issues before them by presenting bills for reduction of state taxes on real estate and taxes on incomes.

Following Governor Stassen's recommendation for a reduction in the state general property tax in his message to the legislature, Representatives Andrew Finstuen of Kenyon and Walter Burdick of Rochester presented a bill at the first opportunity—House File No. 1, in fact—to launch, so they said, the gradual reduction in the property tax which the governor recommended. The bill provides that the state property levy to be made this year shall not exceed 7½ mills and that for next year it shall not exceed 5 mills.

The current state levy on general property, that for 1942, is 9 mills, with the exception of the first $4,000 of value of a homestead, on which the levy is 1.41 mills. For some years the maximum levy was 10 mills, but the legislature two years ago reduced the ceiling to 9 mills.

While members of the house were tackling the property tax reduction question, Senator M. J. Galvin of Winona was offering a bill in the upper house to cut lower brackets of the state income tax. With the tremendously increased federal income taxes which Minnesotans must pay to aid in the war effort, Senator Galvin believes the legislature should reduce the Minnesota levies.

Senator Galvin's bill reduces by one per cent the rate of tax imposed on each $1,000 of taxable net income from the second $1,000 up to and including the sixth $1,000. Rates applied now are 2% on the second $1,000 of net income, 3% on the third, 4% on the fourth, 5% on the fifth and 6% on the sixth.

Senator Galvin's bill also would abolish the present method under which taxpayers are allowed a certain fixed deduction from the computed tax and return to the federal government plan formerly used in Minnesota, under which the taxpayer is allowed instead to deduct certain amounts from his

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Millions or More by '44

There are several million girls of scout age in the United States. Waiting lists from communities and letters from girls themselves tell us there are thousands and thousands who want to serve the country as girl scouts. Because so many are eager to join the girl scouts, the national board of directors have authorized a nation wide plan to extend the services and training of the scouting to as many girls as possible.

"Work for and with the young people of America is one of the most important of the civilian defense jobs," said Mrs. Orrin G. Lynde, leader of girl scout troop 5 and 6. "Keeping the youngsters healthy and busy to protect them from war nerves is a vital contribution to the national welfare. Perhaps even more important is the job of giving them training and moral stamina they will need to meet the problems of tomorrow's post-war world. The best equipment we can give the citizens of the future now is the training in American democratic methods and ideals.

"One of the best training grounds in democracy is the girl scout troop. The girls plan and organize their own projects with the leaders supplying the necessary training and guidance. They learn the give and take of democratic methods, how to assume authority and how to delegate it, and above all, how to work together harmoniously and efficiently. In England people have found out that this ability of the girl guides to organize quickly and work together is one of their greatest assets in time of need."

According to Mrs. Lynde, youth leadership has a practical as well as moral defense value. "There are hundreds of useful defense jobs that girls of scout age can do which relieve adults for more technical work and contribute their own bit to the national defense program.

"The girl scouts are taking care of young children, learning first aid, home nursing, emergency cooking and nutrition. They are serving as messengers for air raid wardens, civilian defense organizations, the Red Cross, and other agencies. They have given thousands of hours of voluntary service to their community during the past year and will give many more to aid the war effort," Mrs. Lynde stated.

Thief River Falls, we need scout leaders, more adults to help with scouting. If you are willing to help, call Mrs. Ferguson, phone 911.

WOMEN AT WAR

Rosebud

Rosebud is eight, and the most beautiful shade of caramel fudge. To her loving Mammy and Pappy she is known, on approximately alternate days, as "Angel" and "You devil child". It was on her devil-child days that Rosebud tied the knots in the shirts that Mammy had taken in for washing, and poured the whole of the vanilla bottle into the lamb stew. Just, she said later through bitter tears, to "flavor it up some".

On her angel days Rosebud is equally imaginative even if a more restful occupant of the little shack down on Vinegar Hill. Once when Mammy was out doing day work, Rosebud got a wave of cleaning fever and scoured every pot and pan in the kitchen so that they literally glistened. Another day, left alone, she tidied up Mammy's and Pappy's room to such a point of apple-pie order that it was a week before Pappy could find an undershirt.

Rosebud is a great reader of the newspapers. Mammy and Pappy don't take one, but there are plenty of perfectly good newspapers blowing round Vinegar Hill. It was out of one of them that Rosebud got her idea for spending the ten cents the Bunny had put under her pillow the night her tooth came out. After breakfast Rosebud disappeared down the Hill and reappeared soon after with a beautiful ten-cent War Stamp pasted firmly into a brand-new book with neat little squares for more stamps. She displayed her investment to Mammy. "I declare you're an angel child," Mammy said. Rosebud went on sitting on the kitchen floor staring with large brown eyes at the empty squares in her book. From time to time she took hold of one or another of her teeth and wiggled it, gently.

Mammy was engrossed in a particularly big washing. Rosebud was as quiet as a mouse and Mammy forgot about her until, coming in from the yard with her arms full of dry sheets, she encountered her child with a large hammer in her hand. Scenting the devil in her angel child, Mammy shouted at her, "Rosebud! Come yere with that hammer! What you planning on doing?"

But what was done was done. In Rosebud's other hand was another tooth. Her mouth was stretched in a broad if slightly bloody smile. "I ain't doing nothing, Mammy," she said, "I'm just filling up my stamp book."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Uncle Sam's lighter 37-millimeter anti-tank guns are dubbed "tank killers." They are attached to the infantry, not the field artillery, and cost approximately $6,500 each. They have proved particularly effective in anti-tank warfare.

They are mobile, mounted on automobile tires and can be rapidly whisked from place to place. Your purchase of War Bonds will help pay the cost of these field pieces so necessary for our Army in this War. Growing With Your Child

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

How's Your New Tricks?

When Stefansson went into the Arctic, he took with him only enough food for his dogs to last until they began to get seal meat, or whatever else offered. When the time for the change came, he found that the old dogs would almost starve to death before they would touch the unfamiliar food. Young puppies, however, took to the new diet after only the slightest objections.

This behavior of the dogs has an amusing application in view of the human behavior that is cropping up at the present moment. People who "don't like" this or that may find themselves, not starving to death, but actually going a little bit hungry, pretty soon, unless they are willing to adapt themselves to the foods that must replace those of which there is an increasing shortage. A man whose wife reports that "he won't sit down to a meal unless there's meat on the table," may learn that, after all, rich and nourishing split-pea soup that he has always turned up his nose at, has the stay-by-you qualities that make him pretty glad to get it.

In another way, people may soon be starving themselves unless they are willing to adapt their food habits to the changed situation. A person who has always assumed that "not liking" tomatoes was sufficient reason for not eating them may be depriving his system of a much-needed vitamin when he can no longer get the oranges that always before he has contended took the place of tomatoes in food value. If he sticks it out and won't eat the useful tomato, his system will feel the results.

Our children necessarily pick up many of the food habits of their parents. Many a child in the middle west grows up thinking he dislikes many kinds of fish merely because his family rarely serves fish. It will be a very good thing for such children to get accustomed to new kinds of foods before their habits are so set and fast that they react as ridiculously as Stefansson's dogs. The values of sea foods are well known to us, who are aware that we lack iodine in this part of the country. But do we do anything about it? No, we go on serving the foods that are familiar, and make little effort to widen the variety of our diet.

Maybe you can't teach old dogs new tricks, but let's all us old humans make up our minds that not only are we going to learn new food habits, but we're going to like it. If we make no fuss when we have beef heart instead of beef steak, if we don't scorn the cake that is made with a shortening other than butter, our children will fall in line readily. The heading of this column, Growing With Your Child, wasn't invented for nothing. It's more important than ever for us to be able to change and grow and modify old stiff habits.

The scientists are providing the formulas and the aircraft company is providing the lunches and is undertaking to permit tests of the nervous reactions of their workers to the improved diet.

1 cup boiling water

Wipe meat with damp cloth. Dredge with flour. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Brown in hot fat. Place browned meat on a rack in roaster or heavy kettle (Dutch oven or deepwell cooker), add boiling water, cover tightly and cook slowly or bake in a slow oven (300° F.) until tender (about 4 hours). APPLICATIONS FOR FARM AWARDS ARE FILED THIS WEEK

Town Clerks Authorized to Grant Slight Extension in Filing Period

Minnesota's 1942 agricultural award program this week was in the hands of town boards. Producers began to receive applications the week of January 4, and by January 8 all were in the mail.

The applications specified that farmers would have to forward the form to the township clerk by January 11. However, since there was an unavoidable delay in mailing some of the applications, arrangements have been made so that applications filed a day or two after the 11th will be handled.

Town boards and especially town clerks are asked to use their best judgment in connection with the emergency which arises by reason of it having taken longer to get all of the applications in the mail.

In a radio address devoted to the award program, Governor Stassen said that any farmer who had not received an application blank through the mail and who was unable to get one from either the county auditor or the county agricultural agent could obtain one by writing his office.

Plans are now being drawn for community celebrations at which the farm service flags and individual certificates will be awarded.

Nearly 100 purebred registered bulls, cows and heifers of six important breeds will be sold on the second day.

GRANT EXTENSION OF TIME TO HAVE TIRES INSPECTED

First Period for Passenger Car Tires Set Back to March 31st

The office of price administration Tuesday modified its periodic tire inspection program by postponing the Jan. 31 deadline for the first inspection, and providing for [illegible] of inspections.

A staggered system was put into effect by which there will be three different deadlines for the first inspection.

Under the revised program, all holders of basic passenger tire rations will have until the end of March for their first tire inspection and subsequently inspections will be every [illegible] months, instead of the former requirement of every four months.

Holders of B or C supplementary books or bulk coupons for [illegible] will be required to get their first inspection by the end of February. After that, inspections for [illegible] holders will be once every [illegible] and for [illegible] coupon holders once every [illegible]. Formerly the schedule called for examinations of cars with B and C rations once in two months.

An announcement of a similar postponement on inspection of truck and commercial cars was expected later from the office of defense transportation. Commercial [illegible] have a Jan. 15 inspection deadline, but the date probably will be put off for several weeks.

1943 VICTORY BOOK CAMPAIGN OPENED IN U. S. LAST WEEK

Making Second Collection for Benefit of Men in Service

The 1943 Victory Book Campaign, the second annual drive for the collection of books for men in all branches of the service got under way was opened on January 5, and will be carried on throughout the United States up to and including Friday, March 5.

The campaign is sponsored jointly by the American Library association, the American Red Cross and the United Service Organizations. Franklin P. Adams, Edward L. Bernays and Norman Cousins are co-chairmen of the national campaign board. National headquarters are located in Room 1605, Empire State building, New York City.

The purpose of the drive will be to collect and deliver to the public libraries as many books as it is possible to accumulate in the given time. This year, however, emphasis is being placed on the quality of books—both as to physical condition and readability—rather than on the attainment of a staggering over-all total. Classifications of book desired for the increasing millions of our fighting men, soldiers, sailors, marines, coast guardsmen and merchant seamen, include current best-sellers and the more recently published popular fiction and nonfiction; technical books published since 1935; humorous books; and small-sized editions of popular titles, both current and classical.

These books, after accumulation at all libraries throughout the country, will be distributed to camp and naval base libraries and all types of field operations whether at home or abroad; also to USO centers outside the camps and the American Merchant Marine Library Association; and finally, in the event of an over supply, for the men, women and children in defense areas where increased population has taxed the facilities of local libraries.

FARMERS URGED TO CHECK ON RATION

The Office of Defense Transportation is urging farmers and other operators of trucks to lose no time in getting in touch with their county farm transportation committees or ODT field representatives if their fuel and mileage allotments need adjustment. Operators who put off for too long the adjusting of their certificates and allotments may be unable to obtain fuel for their vehicles later, the ODT said.

STATE INCOME TAX RECEIPTS 36 PCT. HIGHER THAN 1941

Collections for Past Year Total $18,502,000, Says Spaeth

Receipts from Minnesota's state income tax for the calendar year of 1942 were 35.99% greater than in 1941 and largest by far in the history of the state, G. Howard Spaeth, state tax commissioner, reported this week.

Total collections for the year amounted to $18,502,646.93, or $4,896,619.96 more than the total for the preceding year. The amount in 1941 was $13,606,026.91.

Of the record total collected during the past year, Spaeth disclosed, more than $1,000,000 represented collections on delinquent accounts from earlier years. Upon going into office, Spaeth instituted new policies to speed up the settlement of disputed levies and also was able, through improved checking, to secure payments from a substantial number of out-of-state firms formerly omitted from the rolls.

This has contributed to the gain in receipts along with improved business and increases in wage payments, which have been the big factors in the change. Rates have remained the same since 1939.

Tire Inspections in —State Behind Schedule

Official tire inspection stations in the northwest have reported to OPA rationing officials that tire inspections are far behind the schedule that should be maintained if the public availed itself of early checking. Indications are there will be a last-minute rush by the public to get tires inspected just before the January 31 deadline, OPA officials explained that all motorists must have their tires inspected before that time as a part of the mileage rationing program. Those who fail to have their tires inspected by that time will be denied gasoline, OPA officials said.

net income as exemptions. The bill would allow a deduction of $500 for each single person, $1,200 for a married person and $350 more for each dependent in addition to husband or wife.

Under the present law, with the tax computed on the full net income, a single person gets a deduction of $10 from the total tax and the head of a household, $30, with $5 additional for each dependent. This plan was put into effect in 1937. Effect of it, Senator Galvin has pointed out, was to increase disproportionately the tax on persons in the lower brackets of taxpayers, particularly those with large families. He says the federal plan is the fairest and should be restored in Minnesota.

EDUCATION BOARD HEARS DISCUSSION OF STATE AID PLAN

Accepts Resignation of Maynard Tweet, Lincoln High School Teacher

At the January session of the local board of education Monday evening, Supt. Morris Bye discussed changes in the present system of state school aids proposed by the interim committee on education, and outlined their effects on the school system here.

He also submitted figures covering 31 Minnesota cities of more than 4,000 population, showing that Thief River Falls compares favorably so far as tax rates for school purposes are concerned.

The board voted to accept the resignation of Maynard Tweet, general science instructor in Lincoln high school, who on February 1 will accept a position with the agricultural marketing administration.

Dr. A. E. Jacobson and L. W. Rulien, board members, were appointed delegates to the annual convention of the Minnesota School Board association to be held in the St. Paul auditorium February 10, 11 and 12.

Mr. Bye stated he would be in Minneapolis Saturday to attend a special conference of the educational policies commission of the Minnesota Education association.

MINNESOTA GROUP TO COMBAT STATE FOOD SHORTAGES

St. Paul Man Is Appointed by Federal Agency to Head Committee

Mr. E. C. Hampe, sales manager, Griggs Cooper & Co., was named co-chairman of the U. S. department of agriculture's war time food management committee, which will cooperate with federal agencies and the food trade in alleviating food shortages due to distribution problems, Dr. E. G. Booth, of the federal food distribution administration, announced today.

Mr. Hampe will head a group representing processors, wholesalers and retailers in all branches of the food industry. Mr. Hampe was named to the post at a meeting Monday of the temporary state committee. Dr. Booth, who was named chairman, assembled the group at the request of Roy F. Hendrickson, director of the food distribution administration.

Similar committees having representation on the state group will be organized at once in the larger trade areas of the state, according to Dr. Booth. He also pointed out that this type of volunteer organization would make it possible to spot and verify any food shortage in the smallest conceivable area, and take the necessary steps to direct supplies from food distribution points.

The state organization, in turn, will have direct contact with regional groups for the purpose of getting direct action where shortages cannot be solved on a local or state basis. Headquarters of the committees will be established in the very near future, and the public will be informed as to the means of directing attention to possible food shortages.

Dr. Booth serves as chairman of the state committee, while his staff of area representatives will act in similar capacities to the trade area groups.

RULING CLARIFIED AS TO VICTORY TAX ON DECEMBER PAY

No Withholding Required on Payrolls Preceding January 1

Arthur D. Reynolds, collector of Internal Revenue, has today received an official ruling from Guy T. Helvering, commissioner of Internal revenue at Washington, regarding withholding the five per cent Victory Tax on wages paid on and after January 1, 1943, covering an established payroll period for wages earned entirely within the year 1942.

Mr. Helvering says that withholding is required if the established payroll period ends on or after January 1, 1943. In such a case the tax is required to be withheld from the full amount of the wages paid in excess of the withholding deduction allowable. However, if the established payroll period ends on or before December 31, 1942, no withholding is required.

Mr. Helvering has previously held that withholding was required on wages paid on and after January 1 regardless of when earned. Employers who have already withheld tax on payments of wages made on and after January 1, but which were earned entirely within the year 1942, may now make adjustments for such deductions on checks issued to employees for the next payroll period.

WOOD ALCOHOL TO BE HARD TO GET

Wood alcohol, methyl alcohol or methanol, by whichever name you call it, is going to be scarce. This commodity, handy for many household and farmstead uses, also is a vital war necessity, being used in production of explosives and resins for aircraft in the United States, Great Britain and Russia. As a result, the War Production Board has put it under complete allocation control for the duration.

NEW GAS RATION REGULATIONS ARE ANNOUNCED HERE

Affects Traveling Salesmen of Restricted Classes

A. J. Eid, specialist on the gasoline panel of the local rationing board, today issued the following statement relative to the amendment to the mileage regulations affecting traveling salesmen distributing certain commodities.

A limited preferred mileage will be allowed for necessary travel by a person principally engaged in selling necessary material or necessary equipment for the operation of naval, military or hospital, extractive or agricultural establishments essential to the war effort. Also for persons principally engaged in selling foods, building materials, clothing, fuels and medical supplies which are essential to the health or safety of the community except those selling direct to consumers for personal, family or household use.

No preferred mileage may be issued for selling non-essential commodities such as alcoholic beverages, soft drinks, candy, toys, flowers, tobacco products, furs, phonograph, musical instruments, luxury items, etc.

It will be necessary for salesmen falling into the preferred category to apply for a "C" card stating the average monthly mileage for 1942. They will receive 65% of their last year's mileage or 8,600 miles, whichever is less. The local gas rationing board expects to have these forms soon.

HATCHING EGGS EXEMPT FROM PRICING CONTROL

Shell eggs, purchased solely for the purpose of hatching, have been exempted from price control by the Office of Price Administration. The government holds that poultry and egg output must be stepped up to aid America's war effort, and such a goal cannot be attained without a corresponding increase in production of baby chicks, poults and other poultry.

Q:—What food items are to be rationed immediately?

A:—All canned and packaged processed foods.

Q:—Why is it necessary to suspend selling during the week prior to the effective day of point rationing?

A:—This period will be used by the merchant to prepare for the start of rationing. It will give him time to replenish his stock, train his clerks, and to receive and post the official OPA list of point values. Secondly, the public must register for Book 2 and become familiar with program.

Q: Will coffee and sugar be rationed under the point rationing program?

A:—No coffee and sugar will continue under the present program. You will retain ration Book 1 to secure those two commodities in the future as in the past.

Q: Will recipients of War Book 2 declare the amount of rationed food on hand?

A: Everyone applying for War Ration Book 2 will be required to fill out and sign a "Consumer Declaration" form stating exactly the stocks of processed food on hand. Heavy federal penalties can be applied to those making false declarations.

Q: Does this "Declaration" mean I will have to declare the fruits and vegetables I canned at home?

A: No. Nothing you have packed at home need be declared and no stamps will be deducted for these home supplies. Your government is asking you, however, to use your home-canned supplies instead of buying commercial products.

Q: Will the housewife have to make an inventory of her canned goods by products?

A: No. She need report only the total number of cans on hand at the start of the rationing.

Q: Can the ration books of all members of the family be used when shopping?

A: Yes. Just as coffee and sugar book is now being used.

Q: How will the consumer know when point values are changed?

A: Newspapers and the radio will carry announcements, and every food store will have an OPA official poster showing current point values of each particular product.

Q: Will point values be the same at every store in the country?

Lincoln Basketball Team Shows Better Form Tuesday

Rebounding from their defeat at Crookston last Friday, coach Glenn Hanna's Prowlers, playing a return game with the Fosston Greyhounds at Fosston Tuesday night, rolled up a 37 to 25 win.

The Prowlers, playing an aggressive game, were held to a 9 to 8 score at the end of the first period, and a 14 to 11 score at the half; but with Bill McKechnie and Don Berg pacing the scoring drive, the locals piled up 23 points in the second half, while holding Fosston to 14 points. McKechnie moved into the game in the second half and proceeded to scamper through the Fosston defense for 5 field goals, and with 2 free throws, totaled 12 points. Don Berg, who won the game's high-point honors with 15 points, rang up 4 field goals and a free throw during the Prowlers second half scoring splurge.

As usual, Fosston's Russ Hagen earned the scoring honors for the Greyhounds, the nimble forward accounting for 10 points, on 4 field goals and 2 free throws.

Pirates Whip Prowlers; E. G. F. Here on Friday

Outscoring the Prowlers, 9 to 2, in the fourth period, the red-shirted Crookston Pirates edged out the locals, 24 to 19, in a district game played on the Crookston floor Friday night. Friday night the Prowlers will be hosts to the defending district champions, East Grand Forks, when Ray Flom's Little Green Wave invades the local court.

Friday night's contest at Crookston was rough and fast, but with both teams being erratic in setting up their plays. The Prowlers notched the game's first point when Bill McKechnie tossed in a free throw. The Pirates' Bill Reynolds, who won the game's high point honors, took a rebound to score on a tip-in shot, to give coach Lysaker's team a 2 to 1 lead. Don Berg pivoted into the lane and looped in a field goal, giving the Prowlers a lead which they held until the last five minutes of the game.

After McKechnie had missed a free throw, Jack Melby recovered the rebound and scored on a tip-in shot. Howie Casmey tallied a Crookston free throw, and the period ended with the Prowlers holding a 5 to 3 advantage. Berg, taking a pass from Bob Wright, flipped in a one-handed shot and, after Reynolds had scored on an under-the-basket shot, Melby popped in a goal from out on the floor. Crookston's nifty little Toddie Johnson counted on a "sleeper" play. Melby and Willie Swanson exchanged free throws, and Bill Hye added a Prowler point on a gift shot. Captain Jim Laurent pumped in a long shot for the Pirates as the first half ended, slicing the locals lead to 11 to 10.

Milt Reierson lofted in a one-handed try to open the second half scoring. Laurent marked up a free throw. McKechnie nudged in a one-handed shot. Casmey and Wallace Johnson tallied free throws for the Pirates. Berg and Hye teamed on a nice passing play, with Berg sinking the counter. Reynolds, from the side of the court, hoisted in a one-handed shot.

The Prowlers held a 17 to 15 lead as the final period opened, and increased their margin to four points as Bob Abbott scored on a push-up shot. Reynolds' one-handed shot found the nets; Casmey added a point on a free throw, and then boosted the Pirates into the lead with one-handed shot. Larson and Laurent connected on free throw tries, and Toddie Johnson clinched the game with a field goal.

Jack Melby, Bill McKechnie, and Don Berg were the Prowler standouts, with Berg winning high point honors for the locals with 6 points. Crookston's swarthy Bill Reynolds came up with 8 points, and played a strong all-round game for the Pirates. Guards Jim Laurent and Toddie Johnson were the chief play makers for Crookston.

THIEF RIVER FALLS CAR SHARING CLUB HOLDS 3D SESSION

Members Urged to Report to Headquarters Before Leaving City

A representative group of local traveling salesman turned out Sunday afternoon for the third meeting of the Thief River Falls Share-Your-Car club in the Evelyn hotel, H. R. Colvin, secretary, reported.

Stressed at the session was the importance of members using scheduled routes and telephoning headquarters at the Evelyn hotel previous to leaving the city. A letter was read from the deputy commissioner of insurance in St. Paul stating that approximately 200 insurance companies had entered into agreements to provide liability insurance protection for bona fide club members.

Also explained was the procedure to be followed by salesmen in applying for additional gasoline for the current quarter. As evidence of the functioning of the club during the past two weeks, it was reported that fifteen members had availed themselves of its facilities.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting. The next session has been set for Sunday afternoon, February 7.

Three persons were killed when their automobile skidded in front of the train. The dead are Wayne Elmer, 18; George Carlson, 28, and Lawrence Borrows, 31, all of Evansville, Minn.

Keeping Score

.... With BUCK OLSON

Basketball's First Rule

The Prowler's apparently, are having a difficult time in learning one of basketball's first rules: that the outcome of high school games are only determined after thirty-two minutes of play, and that the official score-books do not provide points or space for favorable newspaper clippings. The Prowlers, having defeated Fosston and Climax, and having clippings to the effect that both of those teams had taken the measure of Crookston, figured that they would have a cinch at Crookston Friday night, and that their score would be ten or fifteen points heavier than that of the Pirates. The result was a 24 to 19 set-back for the locals.

The fact, too, that coach Herchel Lysaker put a stronger Crookston team on the floor than the records indicated, perhaps had considerable to do with the Prowler defeat. As Lysaker said after the game: "If my team had played as well against East Grand Forks as they did against Thief River tonight, they would have beaten the East Siders by fifteen points." Coach Lysaker had sent the Pirates through eight practice sessions during the Christmas holidays and as a result the team appeared to be better-conditioned than the Prowlers. The Pirates were steadier in the final period, coming up with 9 points while the Prowlers were tallying 2 points, a factor which bulked heavily against the locals.

Coach Glenn Hanna was disappointed with the play of the Prowlers, expressing his feeling with the comment that, "If the Prowlers can't beat a team like Crookston, then they're not going anywhere." And that was a fact, because both teams were tight and erratic in their play, muffing passes and fumbling opportunities to set up plays.

Tomorrow night, on the local floor, the Prowlers meet the East Grand Forks team, and then we'll learn for sure whether or not there were any "extenuating circumstances" in connection with the Crookston loss.

Not So Sure

We [illegible] Quality Dairy five would prove to be the "dark horse" team in the Commercial League as the teams began to move into the home-stretch, but we're not so sure now. The Qualitys did get considerable reinforcement when they signed Walt Larson. Walt had been stubbornly holding out, but he finally came to terms. It's rumored that the terms were plenty low, too. But offsetting the advantage of Walt is the fact that the team's captain, and anchor man, Al. Weber, decided during the holidays to sprout a moustache. Al's bowling delivery is a slow, wide-sweeping curve, and when it's working it accounts for a lot of pins. But that delivery is finicky and needs a lot of polishing, and Al had been devoting much of his leisure time to open bowling and had the curve pretty well in hand; but now the moustache is requiring most of Al's leisure, and his bowling, and the Quality Dairy team, will be the losers.

Seniors Are Ready Again

Anothers year, and another Senior class team has been organized for basketball. The team, with Pete Michalsky, Homer Matheson, and Mark Leverson, as the "power" unit, were taken into camp by the varsity in a practice game last week, but the Seniors claim that they were "off" in that game. On Tuesday night they travel to Newfolden for a game, and if they can hold Lowell Anderson in check, the Seniors should make it a contest.

The Hornets vs. Mouse and Lloyd

A mix-up in the schedule prevented the Hornets from opening their hockey season against Crookston Cathedral last Saturday night, Crookston had already booked a game with St. Michael's for that date, and so the Hornets will get their first taste of competition tonight at 10:30 when they face-off against Mouse Efteland's and Lloyd Johnson's team. Mouse claims that the Hornets will be a "soft touch", but we're not so certain. Coach Connie Stanbridge will perhaps start Johnny Robarge at goalie; Marty Dorn and Bob Protz, in the back line; and Johnny Efteland, Bob Baker, and Les Vignes, in the forward line. Johnny Baker, Bobby Olson, Wes Hoyle, and Sonny Johnson are slated for "pare" work.

Miscellany

Willard Kottke is receiving his basic military training in a camp in New York and indications are that when he has completed his basic, he will be appointed recreation supervisor at a camp in that state—Jimmy Nordine is in the thick of things in North Africa. He landed at Casablanca, but reported that he was moving inland—Don Lorentson received his orders this week to report on Jan. 21st, at the Iowa Pre-flight Naval Training Station.

Stingiest Bird on Earth

The crested swift is the stingiest bird on earth. Although it is 10 inches in length, it makes a nest no bigger than the half shell of an English walnut. And it lays only one egg, because there wouldn't be room in the nest for any more.

GASOLINE RATION AREA HAS 41 PCT. TRAFFIC DECLINE

Survey Indicates Drastic Decline in Eastern Area in November

That gasoline rationing is bringing about a reduction in motor vehicle traffic almost double the reduction effected by other and earlier war-time factors tending to restrict non-essential travel, is indicated by data made public by the U. S. public roads administration, as a result of a survey of travel volume trends.

The summary is based upon data gathered from 500 automatic traffic recorders in 41 states throughout the month of November, the last month before gas rationing became effective in Minnesota, but after it had been in effect for several months in the Atlantic seaboard region.

This survey indicated motor vehicle traffic had decreased 41 per cent in the rationed areas, as compared to only 21 per cent in unrationed areas. The decrease represented the difference in traffic counts at fixed locations throughout November of 1942 as compared with November of 1941.

In the compilation of estimates only roads on which travel was relatively normal were considered, all data from traffic recorders at locations materially effected by defense activities, detours, highways under construction, etc., being excluded.

The traffic decrease on state highways was sharper than that on local roads indicating a lessening amount of rural long-distance travel. It was also much more marked in passenger car traffic than in that of trucks and buses.

Although official traffic recorders used in compiling the federal report are now in operation in Minnesota, the data from surrounding and comparable states of the north central region indicated a decrease in motor vehicle travel of 24.3% in the final two months before December 1, when gasoline rationing became effective in this region.

OPA Establishes Price Ceilings on Used Farm Machinery During Week

In a move to relieve farmers from the possibility of paying excessive prices for used farm equipment and machines, the Office of Price Administration has put specific ceilings on the sale of second hand combines, corn pickers, corn binders, mechanical hay balers, harvesting machines and farm tractors.

The new ruling provides that anyone who sells these used machines cannot charge more than 85 per cent of the original base price if the equipment is less than one year old, and not more than 70 per cent of the machine that is over one year old. In other words, if a machine in this group should cost $100 new, it cannot be sold second hand for more than $85 if it is less than a year old or more than $70 if more than a year old.

An exception to these prices can be had, however, if a dealer guarantees the machine as he would a new one. Then, he could charge up to $95 for a $100 machine. A dealer who reconditions and guarantees a machine can add 25 per cent of the second hand price or $15, whichever is larger. The purpose of this proposal is to encourage rebuilding of farm equipment rather than scrapping usable machines.

Kremlin in Moscow

The Kremlin in Moscow is the most concentrated seat of government in the world. Its 60-odd buildings, built to contain the homes, as well as the offices, of Russia's most important executives within the small space of 90 acres, is surrounded by a 50-foot brick wall with 19 great guard towers. To avoid sabotage, all visitors have been barred from this fortress since 1934.

YOUR INCOME TAX

By Bureau of Internal Revenue

FORM OF RETURN

Persons subject to the Federal income tax must report their income to the Government on forms, or blanks, prescribed by regulations. These forms are obtainable from any Collector of Internal Revenue, and generally from any bank. Special forms are designated for corporations, for partnerships, for trusts and fiduciaries, and for nonresident aliens. Farmers who keep no books of account on the accrual method must attach a special schedule to their return (Form 1040F). For individuals, two forms are used, depending upon the amount and source of income to be reported.

Form 1040. This form is intended for general use of individuals who are citizens of the United States, or residents in this country, whether citizens or not. It contains spaces to show the amount of income from various sources, deductions allowable, exemptions and credits, and computation of tax liability. As most of the items require some explanation in order to be allowable, the form also contains appropriate schedules to show in more detail how the income or the deductions are determined.

Form 1040A. This is a simplified report, which may, at the option of the taxpayer who makes his return on the cash basis, be filed instead of form 1040 by citizens and residents whose gross income was $3,000 or less during 1942, provided all this income consists wholly of one or more of the following: salary, wages, dividends, interest, or annuities. In using this form it is necessary only to enter the amount of gross income as shown, deduct the credit allowable for dependents, and insert the appropriate amount of tax in accordance with one's personal exemption status, as shown on the table on the reverse of the form. This form has no entries for deductions allowable, since the taxes indicated in the table on the back of the form are computed after taking into account what have been considered average deductions for persons of this income class.

A taxpayer should, therefore, consider carefully which form would be appropriate for his purposes. Whichever form is employed, all the information called for in the spaces should be inserted so far as applicable to the taxpayer, in order to avoid the expense to the Government, and the possible inconvenience to the taxpayer, of subsequent check and inquiry.

With each return form is a set of accompanying instructions, and these instructions should be carefully read by the taxpayer before making his return.

Returns for the calendar year 1942 must be filed not later than March 15, 1943. They may be filed by mailing to the Collector of Internal Revenue of the appropriate district in which is located the legal residence or principal place of business of the taxpayer. If the return is filed by mailing, it should be posted in ample time to reach the Collector's office on or before March 15, 1943. Returns received later than the due date are subject to a penalty variable according to the lateness in filing.

SUGAR COATING ON SIDEWALK AT COKATO

Cokato.—Had the following incident occurred a year ago it would not have caused the excitement which followed it last week. Recently Mrs. Ann Peterson purchased her sugar ration, keeping it in the sack. One morning last week when the ice coated the sidewalk in front of her home she decided to spread salt, from the sack. The same day she found the potatoes she had cooked were way too sweet and investigation proved she had used the sugar bag instead of the salt bag.

FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION of Thief River Falls
Chartered and Supervised by the United States Government

TO ALL MONTGOMERY WARD PEOPLE

1—You are free to join or not to join a union, as you wish. The Company fully respects this privilege. Your opportunity with the Company will be the same whether you are a union member or not.

2—You do not have to join a union to work at Wards.

3—Wards is opposed to all forms of the closed shop. Liberty requires that an employee be free to join, to refuse to join, or to resign from a union without losing his job. Liberty requires that an employer be free to employ the person best suited for the work.

4—The President of the United States has commanded Wards to accept for its Chicago plant a form of closed shop called "maintenance of membership". Under this form of closed shop, employees are not free to resign from the union without losing their jobs. Wards is compelled to discharge every union member who fails to maintain his union membership in good standing (non-payment of dues, etc.). This making of membership in a union a condition of holding a job is the closed shop.

5—Wards did not voluntarily agree to this requirement. Wards believes it to be illegal and uneconomic. Wards has accepted it under duress and only because the President of the United States expressly so ordered.

6—Wards is the only retailer in the United States upon whom the President has imposed any form of the closed shop. It is unfair to impose burdens upon Wards and not upon those with whom it is in competition. If the retail industry is to be subjected to the closed shop requirement, it should be legislated by Congress and applied uniformly against all retail establishments.

7—The National War Labor Board has now called a hearing to determine whether the employees at Wards' six large stores in Denver, Detroit and New York City must belong to the union in order to hold their jobs. Wards will continue to oppose this illegal and uneconomic requirement. Wards will reject any demand of the Board that employees be discharged because they fail to maintain their union membership.

8—The President of the United States has no authority to order Wards employees to remain union members in order to hold their jobs. Congress is the only law-making authority. Congress has passed no law requiring the closed shop.

Introvert, Extrovert

People are called "introvert" when they turn all their experiences in upon their consciousness and keep them there. "Extroverts" do just the opposite; they refer all their experiences to external objects and persons. Introvert characteristics include such items as sensitiveness, cautiousness, seclusiveness, day-dreaming, worrying and carefulness about details. Extroverts are very sociable, seldom worry, live much through their senses, are good promoters and dislike details.

Thief River Falls....WAR PRODUCTION CENTER!!

Except for the growing number of stars in service flags, few outward signs reveal that we in this community are engaged in the grimmest sort of war.

Yet our community - and particularly this farmer cooperative - are gearing nearly all our daily efforts to meeting the needs of war.

This cooperative today is a war industry - equally as much as any steel mill, shipyard or airplane factory in America!

Our job is part of the greatest mass production job in history - securing the tremendous amounts of food America needs for our armed forces, our allies, our home front and the starving nations of the world.

This cooperative is doing its full share!

In doing the job we recognize all the implications of our responsibility. We believe that America must have all the dairy products it will be possible to produce. We also believe that this cooperative's reputation for producing quality dairy products must be maintained both during the war and in the years of peace to come. So, today, as always, our members and our employees are devoted to producing dairy products of highest quality.

This is our solemn pledge:

"We shall continue to produce the food America needs . . . . maintaining highest quality . . . . until Victory and Beyond!

Entertaining at Home?
BEER IS APPROPRIATE

More Americans are playing host these days in their own living rooms. Simple entertaining, to ease the strain and tension of wartime, is both wholesome and necessary. Naturally the beverage you serve should be appropriate—mildly stimulating to promote good fellowship, refreshing, and, of course, economical. Beer is all of these, and is enjoyed for its own goodness by the majority of your friends. Remember it, too, as a nutritious beverage, carefully brewed from the rich grain harvests of Minnesota. True temperance, more important today than ever before, is best served by serving beer . . . . . . the beverage of moderation and true hospitality.

NEW SCHOOL AID PLAN PROPOSED IN LEGISLATURE

Interim Committee Report Aims at Simplification of Present Setup

WOULD BE FINANCED BY 30 MILLION FUND

Several of Present Forms of State Aids Would be Retained

Declaring that Minnesota's complicated system of state school aids needs simplifying and improving, the interim committee on education appointed at the last session proposed to the Minnesota legislature in a report this week that the present plan, with 37 different kinds of aids, be abolished, and suggested an entirely new method of distributing the aids.

Under the plan proposed, there would be but seven types of aids, a general aid system designed to give each district a minimum basic educational program and six special aids.

Funds to finance this proposed basic school aid program would be obtained by pooling into one fund income from the permanent trust fund, state income tax and the income from a 10-mill local tax levy on each school district for school purposes. This would provide a fund of about $30,000,000 on the basis of present tax returns.

Realizing the far-reaching nature of the changes advanced, members of the interim committee did not submit them as definite recommendations to be enacted into law at this session of the legislature, but offered them as a basis for study and discussion, with the hope that out of the discussion there may develop an improved state aid program.

Chairman of the committee was Senator A. A. Almen, a well known school man from Balaton and for some years chairman of the senate committee on education. Other members were Senator Donald O Wright, Norman J. Larson, Oscar A. Swenson and M. C. Lightner, and Representatives R. T. Hart, Frederick P. Memmer and Robert F. Lee and Herman Dammann, who was a member of the house until the present session.

Minnesota's complicated system of school aids, developing as it has from piece-meal additions and re-

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH CONDUCTS ANNUAL MEETING

Congregation Has Net Gain of 141 Members During Past Year

The annual business meeting and congregational dinner was held at Trinity Lutheran church Tuesday evening. Despite the extreme cold an attendance of more than 200 was present. The dinner was prepared by a committee from the ladies aid and was served by members of the L. D. R. Following the dinner, the pastor, Rev. G. S. Thompson, introduced the new members of the congregation to those present and a brief intermission was occupied by becoming acquainted with them.

In the business meeting the pastor's report emphasized the progress achieved during the past year and commended the members and officers upon their work. A net increase in membership during the year of 141 was noted.

The report of the treasurer, W. N. Morell, indicated that the budget adopted for 1942 had been exceeded by income in the amount of almost $2,000.00. A budget of $8,150.00, proposed by the board of trustees, was adopted for 1943. Reports on the possibility of acquiring a more adequate pipe organ were given by H. M. Hitterdal, member of the organ committee, and by Justus Larson.

Elections, following the report of the nominating committee, resulted in the following slate of officers being named: Theodore Quale, vice president; Dr. A. E. Jacobson, deacon; Dr. H. K. Helseth, deacon; T. S. Brokke, Melvin Evenson and W. N. Morell, trustees; Stanton Dahlen, chief usher; and Rev. G. S. Thompson, acting superintendent of Sunday school.

POINT RATION PLAN OUTLINED BY WERSTLEIN

Termed Fairest Way of Distributing Commodities to Civilians

WAR RATION BOOK TWO WILL BE ISSUED SOON

Point Values to be the Same in All Sections of the Nation

The point rationing plan, which is to be placed into effect in the near future, is termed "the fairest way" of even distribution of commodities made scarce by the war to the civilian public by George W. Werstlein, chairman of the Local War Price and Rationing Board. He said the plan assured the rich and poor alike a fair share of the available supply.

He urged the public to acquaint themselves with the provisions of the plan in order that they will be familiar with its workings when it becomes effective. The date the program will be placed in effect depends upon how soon the government can distribute War Ration Book Two and other supplies to local boards. Under no circumstances will the plan be put into effect until all is in readiness for its successful inauguration, Mr. Werstlein explained.

In pointing out the highlights of the program he said every eligible man, woman and baby in the United States will be given War Ration Book, Two providing they have registered for War Ration Book One, the one now being used for coffee and sugar. Among the commodities to be rationed are canned, bottled, or packaged processed foods, such as fruits, vegetables, either canned, dried, or frozen.

Soups, juices, catsup, chili sauce and baby foods also are included in the rationed items. These food items will be obtained by the use of the blue stamps while the red stamps will be used later when meat is rationed.

The stamps in War Ration Book Two are both numbered and lettered. The numbers (8, 5, 2 and 1) designate the point value of each stamp, while the letters (A through U) designate the period the stamp is valid. The year will be divided into rationing periods with A, B, and C valid only in the first period.

The blue stamps will be used when purchasing any of the rationed items whose point value will be set by the government depending upon the supply. Grocers will display an official table of point values provided him by the government. The government will keep a close watch on the supply of these processed foods and make changes in point values from time to time as is warranted by the available supply. Changes in point values of the items will be announced and the official table of point values will be changed to conform with the new values.

Regardless of the variance in prices of the items the point values will be the same in all stores and in all parts of the country.

Since no new steel dies, used in engraving stationery, cars, etc. are now available, the industry has been polishing and using both sides of old dies.

Ration Coupon Banking in Effect Here Jan. 27

"Ration coupon banking," a new type of banking service for retailers and wholesalers of rationed commodities, designed to make the nation's ration program work more effectively, will be inaugurated here on January 27, it is announced by the local banks.

This is a war service that the government has asked the banks to undertake under which wholesalers and the larger retailers will be required by the Office of Price Administration to open "ration bank accounts" in the banks with which they customarily do business. Into these "ration accounts" the wholesalers and retailers will deposit the ration coupons received from their customers against which they will draw special "ration checks" when ordering new supplies. It is expected that only the retailers whose food sales in December, 1942 exceeded $5,000 will be directed by the Office of Price Administration to open "ration accounts."

Consumers such as housewives, motorists, and other individuals who purchase rationed commodities for consumption will not be affected by the new "ration coupon banking" system. They will continue to obtain their ration coupons from local ration boards and they will continue to "spend" their coupons at the stores just as they have been doing in the past.

The banks will have nothing to do with the fixing of ration allotments or allowances, or with the issuing of ration coupons. The local ration boards will continue to perform these functions.

The "ration bank accounts" will be new accounts for the handling of ration coupons only and will be entirely separate from all other accounts in the banks. By depositing coupons in their "ration bank accounts" retailers and wholesalers will build up credits or balances of pounds, gallons, or points in the various rationed commodities. Against these balances they will draw special "ration checks" payable to their suppliers when they order new stocks or supplies to sell to the public.

These "ration checks" will have nothing to do with the payment for the commodities ordered. Retailers and wholesalers will continue to pay their bills in the usual way.

"Ration coupon banking" is a new plan for handling a lot of the work now done by the 5,500 local ration boards. Collecting, counting, recording, controlling, and safeguarding of ration coupons and exchanging them for certificates by means of which dealers order new supplies of commodities for sale to the public has threatened to overburden the ration boards and possibly jeopardize the flow of commodities to the public as additional commodities are rationed. The government has therefore asked the banks to undertake these accounting activities in order to assure the smooth running and success of the ration program.

Experience

The newly elected justice of the peace had borrowed a friend's gun. Along came bunny. Bang! The weapon kicked like an army mule.

"You'll be sentencing that thing for assault and battery," smiled his friend to the sore-shouldered magistrate.

NO SOAP

Wifey—Smith says his wife is the fairest flower that grows, you never speak that way of me.

Hubby—Well, he's a florist, and I'm a soap manufacturer.

About Women

A woman does such funny things!
I cannot understand 'em.
The stunts they do with money brings
New cause to reprimand 'em.

They use a twenty dollar bag
And buy it in a minute,
When just a dime and powder rag
Is all they'll carry in it.

Convalescent

He—Why wouldn't you see me yesterday afternoon, when I called?

She—I was ill.

He—But I saw you sitting at the window sewing.

She—I—well—I was on the mend.

A Man's a Man

He—I wonder how it is a girl can't catch a ball like a man?

She—Oh, a man is so much bigger and easier to catch.

NUTTY

"Waiter, are you insane? What do you mean by bringing me a dish of peanuts when I am nearly starved?"

"Pardon me, sir, but when you came in you said you had the appetite of an elephant, so I thought peanuts would just suit you."

Difference

"Before we were married, Jack, you said she could stay with us whenever she pleased."

"Yes, my dear, but since we have been married she has ceased to please."

Fit to Kill

"Funny thing, ain't it?"

"What is?"

Hopeless

Bing—Yes, that's old Spriggs. Half a dozen doctors have given him up at various times during his life.

Wing—What was the matter with him?

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

WHEN the Carltons pulled into the New Brunswick touring camp their first thought was of the blue limousine. Had it arrived ahead of them? A survey of the small, grassy park set on the hilltop revealed no sign of it among the few cars scattered about.

Not that there was any hope to be gotten out of that. It had happened before that they had gone to bed assured that they had eluded their camp follower only to find in the morning it had arrived sometime during the night.

"But if they were really pursuing us, mother," had insisted Julie Carlton, "they would make some effort to become acquainted. But they don't. They keep by themselves."

The trouble was that ever since Mrs. Carlton had realized that her little girl was growing into an extremely pretty woman she had suffered from the complex that her daughter would be the natural prey of all members of the other sex. And there had been certain circumstances that almost justified her fears. Were they not, at this present moment, taking a trip to cure Julie of an absurd infatuation for the "boy next door"—that frequent bete noir of fond mothers?

Of course, Julie's father absolutely scouted the idea that any car had deliberately pursued them from Springfield through the White mountains, up the Maine coast, and across the border.

And now he pointed out the probability of their having turned off on the road that led to Fredericton. "They've just been taking a trunk route like the rest of us," he explained, hammering a tent stake into the ground. "Haven't seen them all day, have we? Well—"

"Daddy!" Julie grabbed her father's arm. "There it is now—the blue limousine!"

In a cloud of dust from the gravel road arrived the huge car of ancient vintage for all its recent coat of azure paint. Hardly had it stopped, before the long-legged youth whose appearance had grown so familiar stepped out, cast his glance toward a square of level ground farthest from the Carlton car, and indicated the spot to his father in the driver's seat with a gesture.

"Well," said Mr. Carlton, very firmly, "these tourist camps are free to all and as I've done nothing to put any one on my trail, they're welcome to track me to Hudson Bay—if I go that far. And, for anything I've seen to the contrary, that young man doesn't even know our Julie exists!"

The next few days, however, could but show if there was actual intention behind all this. If the blue limousine party timed their departure with that of the Carltons, who were remaining over for several days to take in side trips to Nova Scotia, and Prince Edward Island, there would be little doubt that they, the Carltons, were the object of an inexplicable pursuit.

On the second night, the blue limousine was still there, but the Carltons, spending two days in Amherst, were unaware of the fact. The third night the car was gone but not all of the equipment.

On the following morning, Mr. Carlton, rising early [illegible] a speedy getaway, saw the long-legged young man come out of his tent, [illegible] and a hat, then start [illegible] the shuffle board.

Yet it is doubtful if he would have done what he did, had not [illegible] [illegible]

YOUR INCOME TAX

By Bureau of Internal Revenue

Personal Exemption

Every individual is allowed a credit against his net income which varies with his domestic status, that is, whether he is (a) a single person, (b) a married person living with husband or wife, or (c) a head of family. This credit is known as personal exemption, and is shown on line 21 of the return Form 1040. The amount of the personal exemption also varies depending upon the period during which the taxpayer occupied the particular exemption status.

The personal exemption for a single person is $500 for the year; for a married person living with husband or wife, $1,200; and for a "head of family," $1,200. (Personal exemption as head of a family has no effect on liability to file a return.) For Federal income tax purposes, widows, widowers, divorcees, and married persons separated by mutual consent, as well as persons who have never been married, are classed as single persons.

A head of family is defined as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for those dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." A single person, or a married person not living with husband or wife, may, therefore, enjoy a head of family exemption under certain conditions.

Taxpayers using a Simplified Return (which is permitted if the gross income for the year is $3,000 or less and derived solely from earnings from employment and/or from dividends, interest and annuities) obtain personal exemption based on their status as of July 1 of the year. Thus, a taxpayer married and living with husband or wife on July 1 is entitled to $1,200 personal exemption from Form 1040A; if he were a widower on July 1, his exemption would be $500, irrespective of the date on which he became a widower. The amount of the exemption is not deductible from the income but is reflected in the amount of tax shown in the table on the reverse side of the form.

Taxpayers using return Form 1040 obtain personal exemption proportionate with the number of months during which the particular status is held. Thus, for a person who married on July 1, (who was not a head of family prior to his marriage) the personal exemption would be $850 ($250 for the six months as a single man, plus $600 for the six months as a married man). In this example it is assumed that the wife has no income.

Married persons may, however, file joint returns, even though one has no income, and by filing a joint return a couple married during the year may obtain an exemption amounting to the exemption to which they would be entitled for the period of married status, plus the amount of their individual exemptions prior to their marriage. In the example given the total exemption in a joint return would be $1,100 ($250 for each spouse for six months unmarried status).

If a husband and wife living together both have income and file separate returns on Form 1040, the personal exemption applicable to a married person may be taken in the return of either or divided between them in any way as they may agree, but the total personal exemption taken in the two separate returns may not exceed $1200.

L. C. Streater, regional manager of the crop and feed loan section of the Farm Credit administration, through his local field supervisor E. C. Anderson of Crookston, announces that his office is prepared to accept applications for crop production purposes as well as applications for the production and purchase of feed for livestock.

According to Streater, crop and feed loans have been the means of keeping thousands of farmers on the farm during the past several years and notwithstanding the general good crop harvested in most sections of his territory in 1942, he anticipates an increased demand for loans in 1943 to meet the production goals of farmers in connection with the "Food for Victory" program.

If a farmer cannot obtain credit elsewhere at reasonable rates for seed, gas and oil, feed for workstock, repairs for farm machinery, fertilizer, victory gardens and any other item necessary for crop production purposes, federal funds are available at the rate of 4 per cent per annum from date of disbursement. Federal crop loan field supervisors are preparing to accept applications in each county seat town.

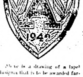
This Lapel Pin Will be Awarded State Farmers



Above is a drawing of a lapel insignia that is to be awarded farmers and farm workers by the Minnesota Agricultural Award. It supplements the Service Flag that will be presented to farm operators for increased production of vital food products in 1942. All persons who had a substantial part in the operation of a Service Flag farm will be given an "A" shield. Award applications, it is now evident, will equal or exceed the 50,000 originally estimated, Ole A. Flaat, director, forecast this week. He asked that town clerks forward to state headquarters all applications received up to Friday, January 22.

MASTER GONE, DOG GOES ON HUNGER STRIKE

Aitkin.—Digging herself into a haymow because her little master went for a visit with relatives and left her behind, the pet dog of Warren Clayton refused all offerings of food or sympathy. Family and friends insist the dog cried like a child, not by howling but by actual sobbing. It was not until her master returned that she was coaxed from her hiding place. The sound of his voice brought her bounding out as lively and happy as ever.

Passenger and light truck tires: John Bye, Casper Wiener. Tubes: John Bye, Wallace Arntz, Clarence Howard, John Jacobson. Heavy truck and bus tires and tubes: Land O'Lakes Creameries, Martin O. Nielson.

In addition, twenty certificates for recaps were issued by the board.

Important Dates on Your Ration Calendar

An important change in the tire inspection program gives northwest motorists a leeway of 30 to 60 days before having their tires inspected, but OPA officials recommend the job be done as soon as possible, nevertheless. Motorists can forget, however, the January 31 deadline on tire inspections. "B" and "C" mileage book holders have until February 28 for their inspection deadline, while "A" book holders have until March 31.

January 27—Expiration date of fuel oil stamps for Period 2. Third period stamps have been in effect since December 23, so fuel oil users still in possession of second period stamps may obtain oil on both period coupons.

January 21—Gasoline mileage stamps No. 3 in "A" books expire at midnight. Motorists who haven't "cashed" in all their A-3 stamps will have to do it before Thursday midnight. They'll be no good after that.

January 31—Stamp No. 10 in War Ration Book No. 1, good for three pounds of sugar, expires.

HAWAIIAN PHONE CALL BRINGS THRILL

Bemidji.—Even tho it caused the loss of sleep in the middle of the night for the little seven-year-old child of Mrs. A. C. Naavik, the child experienced a thrill which will long be remembered last week. Capt. Naavik talked with his family from Hawaii. At 12 a. m. notice of the call came with information that it would probably be completed about 2:30 P. M. The connection was finally made at 1:30 A. M. on a perfectly clear line for the three minute conversation. The operator had warned Mrs. Naavik not to mention weather, any dates that might have to do with military operations, or location of men in service.

STATE SCHOOL AIDS CHANGES OFFERED BY INTERIM COMMITTEE

visions, with some of the laws dating back to 1857, no longer provides a fair or equitable distribution of the school aid funds, the committee's report suggested.

The plan proposed is designed to provide a basic educational program. In elementary school districts enrolling 18 or less pupils, for instance, payment to the district of $60 per pupil in average daily attendance is suggested, providing it employs a teacher with the proper Minnesota certificate.

For districts with more pupils, a payment of $1,300 would be made to the district for each elementary class room unit where the school term is nine months and where the teacher has a certificate based on two years or more of training, and slightly lesser amounts where the school term is shorter and the teacher's training is less. Under the schedule suggested, the allowance would be based on a classroom unit of from 18 to 26 pupils in the smaller schools and 26 pupils in the larger schools, those with 75 or more pupils.

A similar plan would be followed in the case of high schools, where the allowance would run from $1,600 to $1,800, depending on the number of special departments carried, such as agriculture, commercial and home economics.

With this proposed program, it still will be necessary to continue a few special aids, the committee said. Included in this group are the present transportation aids, aids for high school teacher training departments, gross earnings, tax aid, special classes for the handicapped and aid for isolated districts with low valuations.

Funds from the state income tax, income from the permanent trust fund and proceeds of the 10-mill levy will be sufficient, the report of the committee said, to pay in full the aids proposed. The present one-mill state school levy would be dropped under the new plan suggested.

SUSPENSION OF 40 HOUR WEEK URGED BY STATE SENATE

Resolution Aims to Relieve Manpower Shortage on Farms

After two hours of sometimes bitter debate the state senate Monday approved a much amended concurrent resolution urging suspension of the 40-hour week and overtime pay in war industries for the duration in a move to relieve the farm manpower shortage. The vote on final passage was 45 to 17.

Although the resolution also called attention to lack of farm machinery and unfavorable priority rulings as obstacles facing agriculture in its huge food producing tasks, debate centered almost entirely on the section calling for suspension of the 40-hour week and overtime pay.

A phrase "that while we subscribe . . . to the principle of the 40-hour week and added pay for overtime in time of peace we ask that these practices be suspended for the duration," was inserted as a clarifying amendment on the motion of Senator Harry Wahlstrand, Willmar. The vote was 43 to 16.

Women's Club Holds Anniversary Party In Auditorium Jan. 18

The Penates group entertained the Women's Club at their general meeting Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The meeting was in the nature of an anniversary party, it being 29 years since the club was organized in this city.

Following a short business meeting, Mrs. Vorachek, who was in charge of the program, opened with a brief resume of the activities of the Women's Club since its organization here January 25, 1914, pointing out that, as in the beginning, it has continued to be of service to the community. She went on to explain the meaning of the club's motto "Cooperation", stating that cooperation was the biggest factor in making this club successful. The organization immediately joined the district and the state federations, and has continued to send its presidents to these meetings.

Her talk was followed by the piano selection, "Two Larks" by Leschetizky, given by Mrs. W. J. Brown. Rev. Olafsson gave an interesting talk on Iceland, illustrated with pictures, a large map, and many articles made in that country. Other musical numbers followed with Tony Helm singing "Sylvia" by Speaks and "When the Bells in the Lighthouse Ring" accompanied on the piano by Mrs. W. J. Brown. He also gave an impersonation of President Roosevelt, and the program was closed with the singing of "God Bless America" by the entire group.

Refreshments climaxed the evening's entertainment with the past presidents and charter members beginning the line of march to the tune of "Happy Birthday to You" played by the musical cake plate. Decorations for the table carried out the anniversary motif with a large three tiered birthday cake trimmed in green and white, the club's colors, and topped with a star, the emblem of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs. Lighted tapers placed in star shaped holders graced either end of the table.

Mrs. L. G. Larsen, club president in 1916, and Mrs. Dan Shaw, president in 1920, poured while Mrs. George Booren, president in 1924, cut the cake with the assistance of the incumbent president, Mrs. Abbie Wassgren.

Past presidents attending the party were Mmes. L. G. Larsen, George Booren, Mary V. Shaw, G. H. Mayer-Oakes, T. G. Orme, C. W. Vorachek, J. Arthur Johnson, and Gunder Legvold. Charter members present were Mmes. L. G. Larsen, Mary Shaw, George Booren, and J. M. Bishop.

From the State Capitol

BY SENATOR W. E. DAHLQUIST

The last week has slipped by pretty fast. Maybe that's because there has been a little more to keep a fellow occupied. One of my committees has started functioning and I understand meetings of several others will be called this week. The Finance committee is spending two hours of each day checking budget requests, the needs of our state institutions being considered at the present time.

Carl H. Swanson, director of the Division of Public Institutions, has appeared at these hearings, explaining the needs of the nineteen institutions that operate under his direction. The per capita current expenditures for maintaining the 18,460 inmates of these institutions last year was $299.81, considerably less than the all-time high of $354.70 reached in 1921. A sharp increase in these costs may be expected next year however if the requests for wage and salary increases are granted. There evidently is some need for such increases, some of the institutions having experienced as high as a seventy-per-cent employee turnover this past year.

One of the big items in the cost of maintaining these institutions is the repair and replacement of buildings and equipment, many of the properties being well along in years. Food costs are surprisingly low however, much of it being produced by inmate labor on the institution farms.

Most of the institutions provided for the care of the mentally deficient are crowded beyond capacity. The addition to the School for Feeble-Minded at Faribault, which was authorized two years ago, has not been built because of the war and so there has been no relief for the congested conditions. Mr. Swanson stated that he is preparing a supplemental report with recommendations for changes that will provide a measure of relief.

Minnesota apparently is making good progress in the fight to control tuberculosis and the number of patients being hospitalized for this disease is decreasing. Mr. Swanson indicated that his report would ask for authority to remove some of the tubercular mental patients to the state's Sanitorium for Consumptives. He thought that facilities to handle up to 300 of the mentally deficient in this way could be provided by a little reorganization.

Out of the discussion of this problem came several interesting suggestions. We were told that a large number of the people now being committed to our insane asylums are men and women of advanced years who really are not insane but are merely suffering the infirmities of old age under adverse conditions. Instead of committing them to asylums for the insane we should provide for them by building homes for the aged where they could spend their declining years with some measure of dignity. I think I would rather be an innocent victim of the law, confined to a prison, than a sane inmate of an insane asylum.

The finance committee considered this matter from the standpoint of costs, raising the question as to whether or not we are committing too many of our people to institutions. Rockne closed the discussion with the statement that it deserved consideration from other angles and urged members to see to it that it received further attention. I am a member of the Public Welfare committee and no doubt it will come up for further discussion when that committee meets.

Had a short but interesting visit with Walter Olson, director of the Division of Water Resources of the Conservation Department, on whom I had called for information on ditch problems. He sees a need for a revision of our laws on ditch maintenance, a problem that is a headache for many counties. I will try to give you a report later on covering his ideas on this subject.

E. V. Willard, Consultant for the Conservation Department, who probably has done more for the advancement of our river development program than any other person, gave me what information he had on the present status of these projects. Mr. Willard is an engineer and not a politician and when he says the prospects are encouraging we have a right to be hopeful. Details of the War Department's recommendations have not been made public. Until they are there is nothing further to argue about.

With A. F. Berge, Pennington County Fair secretary, I called at Mike Holm's office for information on renewing the corporate life of the Agricultural Society, the present charter expiring May 6. Best plan seemed to be to liquidate the affairs of the old corporation and reorganize on a membership basis. It seems to be the favored procedure by other county fairs. The old organization needs a transfusion of young blood. This will be a good problem for stockholders to figure out on cold February nights.

There is nothing new on the airport front. I have called on both state and federal authorities who agree that from the standpoint of easy development the site selected by the city is ideal. What will be done on the Governor's proposed airways legislation is uncertain. The Federal government is confining its benevolences to airports deemed necessary to the war program.

The interim committee's plan for distributing aid to schools has now been released and is already being discussed and cussed. Senator Almen, chairman of this committee, tells me that copies of the report have been mailed to school officials thruout the state. Superintendent Morris Bye has offered to give me a report on how this new plan will affect Thief River Falls and other districts in our territory and until I hear from him I don't know nothin' except that I think the present crazy-quilt system, a patch-work that is the result of forty years of fumbling, needs to be revised. If you have some ideas on this thing I suggest that you invite Morris over to your house for dinner and then tell him your story. He's a good listener even for a cup of coffee.

This week I will present my first bill, a measure that will enable counties to apply gas tax money on indebtedness during the emergency. About $20,000 will be the minimum in the next distribution. I am writing to our county board urging them not to use the gas tax money in this way. Then maybe they will.

Fred Dennis, attorney for the Chippewa Indians, moved into town for a couple of days with a briefcase full of his troubles. In the past I have always been on the side of those who have asked favors of the Indians and this is the first time I have been in the position where the tables have been reversed. I therefore am glad to have an opportunity to be on their side and so I am joining with Senator Bridgeman of Bemidji in a bill that would authorize the transfer of the state's interests in the Red Lake Fisheries to the tribe. The state's main interests in the Red Lakes now are in the properties at Waskish, considered the best pike hatchery in the state. And of course we face the problem of arriving at an agreement for the control of water levels and the release of waters when our water control project is approved.

IT TAKES BOTH!

Farmers Asked to End Waste from Poor Seed

Dealers and farmers who plan to sell agricultural seeds this winter are urged by Ernest Palmer, county agent to cooperate in eliminating a waste which each year costs Minnesota agriculture millions of dollars. The sale and planting of foul seeds and unadapted varieties of farm crops are responsible for this big loss which cannot be tolerated in wartime.

State laws lay down rigid specifications for clean seed in Minnesota, but full cooperation of those who sell and buy seed is needed to make these laws fully operative, says Mr. Palmer. The law requires each bag of farm seed to carry an official label giving kind, variety, date of test, per cent purity, per cent germination, per cent hard seeds, per cent weed seeds, noxious seeds present listed by name, state in which the seed is grown and dealer's name and address.

In the case of hybrid seed corn the law requires that the label give the county in which the corn is grown, the Minnesota zone for which it is adapted, the number of days normally required for maturity and the type of the cross.

The department of agriculture, dairy and food maintains a state seed laboratory at the University Farm which tests samples of seed free of charge up to five samples. Those who plan to sell farm seeds are urged to avail themselves of this service as soon as possible and also to make arrangements to have the seed properly labeled before it is offered for sale.

In preparing a sample of seed to be sent to the state seed laboratory, the following steps should be taken: Seed should be cleaned thoroughly as one would prepare it for actual seeding. Then a representative sample should be made up from different parts of the bin and mailed in a heavy envelope to the state seed testing laboratory, University Farm, St. Paul. A pint of large seed or a cupful of small seed is needed for the test.

After the seed has been tested and the report received from the laboratory, the next step is to attach the proper label.

Civil Service Agency Seeks Services of More Government Workers

Complex problems connected with the war have created in federal agencies a heavy demand for economists, statisticians, and transportation specialists, G. Legvold, local secretary for the United States civil service commission announced today. Accounting assistants are also required.

Very much needed are economists and statisticians to assist federal agencies conduct studies and analyses relative to commodities, industries, prices, markets, international economics, and many other fields. Men and women with at least 5 years of appropriate college study or experience are sought.

Transportation specialists are needed to prevent traffic bottlenecks and expedite the flow of passenger and freight traffic thruout the United States as well as around the globe. Persons with at least 3 years of appropriate experience in railroad, highway, water, or air transportation will be recruited.

Yearly salaries for these positions range from $2,600 to $6,500 plus overtime compensation. No written test and no maximum age limit is specified for these positions. Persons are selected on the basis of experience.

To recruit accounting and auditing assistants, urgently needed by such federal agencies in Washington, D. C., as the treasury and war departments, and the general accounting office, the U. S. civil service commission will give an examination at Thief River Falls, Minn. Applications must be filed with the commission's Washington office by February 23. Complete information and forms for applying for all of these positions may be obtained from Mr. Legvold at the local postoffice.

Vitamin C in Foods

Orange, lemon, grapefruit and tomato juices are potent sources of vitamin C, as is the whole fruit. An approximately adequate daily source of vitamin C may be obtained by eating 1 sliced orange, 2 tomatoes, ½ grapefruit, or drinking ½ to ¾ cup orange juice, ¾ to 1 cup grapefruit juice, 1 to 1½ cups tomato juice. One medium green pepper will yield about one and one-third the amount of vitamin C needed daily. This means—because vitamin C is most easily destroyed by cooking—RAW fruits or vegetables should be eaten every day.

There were two glass jugs of acid in the car which broke spattering the fluid over their clothing, faces and hands. Edwin was most severely burned about the face. Robert was able to leave the hospital and return home in a couple days, but had to be taken back being threatened with pneumonia. The boys were shivering with cold when picked up by Martin Geving who took them to town. Robert was coming home on a couple weeks furlough. Having been in the army since last winter, in California camps. His brother had gone to meet him. Gerald C. was along but escaped injuries. The accident was caused by a break in the steering wheel.

'You Lucky Bum'

A Fort Leavenworth selectee scrambled into his new uniform and rushed to telephone his girl that he was really in the army at last. On the way to the phone booth he brushed past a captain without saluting.

"Wait a minute, soldier!" the captain snapped. "Didn't you forget something?"

The brand new trainee felt through all his pockets and shook his head.

"Look at my uniform," the captain suggested helpfully.

The recruit regarded the trim officer, still puzzled, then his face broke into a broad grin.

The Home Town Boys Lend a Hand

Natives, who know New Guinea territory even better than the jungle-hardened Aussies and Americans, carry the wounded past a machine gun nest. Transporting the injured from the line of battle is merely one important function of these dark skinned men and boys who act as porters, guides and carpenters.

WOMEN AT WAR

Mom

"Sausages for breakfast! Sausages for breakfast! I can smell 'em!" Small Joe came tumbling downstairs fastening the belt of his shorts as he came. He made a beeline for the kitchen. Pop was already sitting at the table, reading the paper, while Mom held the handle of the frying-pan over the stove. Small Joe came close and sniffed the delicious smoke, wriggling all over with early-morning joy.

"Better be thankful for them while you can still get them." One glance at Mom's face told small Joe this was one of her tight-lipped days. "Not a drop of coffee in the house, and no sugar left to put in it if there was. Some war!" Small Joe kept still.

"Letter for you, son," Pop said, in his quiet voice. Small Joe made a leap for his place at table. There it was, a private personal letter for him alone, propped against his milk glass.

"Hey, Pop! It's from brother!" Small Joe was pulling the envelope apart and diving into the contents. "Hey, look what he sent me." He passed over an oblong of thick, crinkly paper while he leaned over the sheet of writing-paper.

"A twenty-five dollar War Bond," Pop said slowly. Mom turned and looked at it over Pop's shoulder, with the frying-pan in her hand.

"Listen what he says. 'How are you doing, kid? Hurry and grow up so you can help me slap the Japs. Aren't you most big enough to get into the Army? Here's something for you in your name. Let's the whole family gang up and help to win this war.'"

Pop and Mom were silent. But small Joe didn't notice that. He was full of his letter and his War Bond.

"Gee, Pop, in six years I could get into the Army, couldn't I, Pop? Gee, Pop, I want to be a soldier like brother and fight in this war. Gee, isn't that bond nifty? Look, it was issued in Honolulu. It's mine."

But Pop was looking at Mom and Mom was looking at Pop. There were tears in Mom's eyes. She shook her head sharply. Pop reached out and patted her hand gently.

"Well, can't let our soldier boy beat us to buying War Bonds, can we, old lady?" was all he said.

She shook her head again. "I guess if he can give up his job and . . . and go off to war I can do some fighting back at home," she said in a queer voice. Small Joe looked up at her in surprise. She saw him looking at her and spoke sharply. "Well, Joe. We're about ready to eat. Say grace."

"Oh Lord, we thank thee for this food and all thy bountiful gifts . . ."

"Amen," Pop said.

"Amen," Mom said. "Now eat your good sausages."

Amen: Say yes. Take your change in War Stamps. The least you can do is the most you can buy in War Bonds.

RETAIN FARM JOBS, WORKERS OF DRAFT AGE ARE ADVISED

Selective Service Chief and War Manpower Director Issue Warning

Colonel J. E. Nelson, state director of selective service, and Frank M. Rarig, Jr., regional director of the War Manpower Commission, joined today in urging draft-age men on Minnesota farms to stay on their farm jobs and to make no attempt to volunteer into the armed services of the United States.

At the same time, they emphasized that experienced farm workers will not be permitted to transfer to jobs in industry.

"It is most patriotic now for a farm worker of military age to stay at his farm job," Colonel Nelson asserted. "Under present circumstances he is of much greater value to his country on the farm than he could be as a soldier or a sailor."

Colonel Nelson said that the agricultural situation is now so critical that not a single man with experience in farm operations can be spared from the farms of the state. "The department of agriculture has recently announced an extensive program to increase agricultural production during 1943," he explained. "This program cannot be carried out successfully unless sufficient manpower is available."

"Loss of experienced farm manpower to industrial jobs can not be tolerated at a time when farmers are being asked to produce a record output for our war needs," Rarig said. "The War Manpower Commission is making it a principle in all its operations to encourage experienced farm help to remain on the farm and through rural war production training programs is seeking to enlarge the number of workers experienced in the skills of farm operations.

"The War Manpower Commission will devote its major efforts during the coming months in this state and other agricultural states in this region to doing everything possible to assure that farmers get the help they need to produce their food quotas."

AMBULANCE CREW FINDS PATIENT WELL

Ortonville. It took considerable explaining by Rev. C. M. Johnson a few days ago to convince a couple of stretcher bearers that he wasn't their man. It seems that the ambulance had been called to pick up Rev. Oscar Peterson who had slipped on the kitchen floor of his home and fractured his left leg. The receiver of the call had sent the ambulance to Rev. Johnson's home instead of Rev. Peterson's.

HORNETS HOCKEY TEAM SHUTS OUT CATHEDRAL 6-0

The Hornets opened their junior hockey schedule Tuesday night by out-skating and out-scoring the Crookston Cathedral Blue Wave, 6 to 0, on the arena ice.

At the 12:20 mark in the first period, in a mix-up in front of the south goal, Bob Baker took a short pass from Johnny Efteland and flipped in the first tally. Les Vignes, centering the Hornets' "kid" line scored an unassisted goal at the 17:00 mark in the period, poke-checking the puck away from a Cathedral defense man and then beating goalie Schreiner.

Connie Stanbridge's team dented the nets for four tallies in the second period, with Wes Hovie's goal, on a pass from Les Vignes, opening the scoring. Bob Baker hit the nets with a shot from the blue-line, with Johnny Efteland getting the assist; and a couple of minutes later the same duo, Bob Baker and Johnny Efteland, tallied again, with Efteland doing the scoring. The Hornets', and the game's, final score was credited to Lloyd "Sonny" Johnson and the "kid" line, with Vignes setting up the play.

Defense-man Marlyn Dorn and goalie Johnny Robarge were the Hornets defense stars, with Dorn dishing out a number of body-crunching checks, and Robarge hanging up a shut-out. Crookston's Jimmy Medved proved to be the most effective Blue Wave performer, making several dangerous rushes.

Except for Vern Williams, who bowled a 573 total, the Pharmacy team was as cold as the weather.

Prowlers Take E. G. F; Warren Coming Friday

Turning in their finest all-round exhibition of the season, the Prowlers, with Don Berg amassing 21 points on 9 field goals and 3 free throws, upset the district-leading East Grand Forks team, 54 to 38, here Friday night. When they meet Charles Frissell's Warren Ponies on the local floor tomorrow night the Prowlers, with a win and a loss on their district record, will attempt to lift their percentage above the .500 mark.

Don Berg, recovering the ball near the East Grand Forks basket, the west goal, dribbled in for a set-up shot to open the scoring in Friday night's contest. A moment later, taking a long pass from Bill Bye, Berg drove in for another push-up shot, and when fouled on the play, added a free throw; Bill McKechnie pivoted into the lane and looped in a one-handed shot, and the Prowlers held a 7 to 0 lead. Moen and Hunt were the only East Grand Forks players to tally for the Green Wave, while the Prowlers were bringing the score to 11 to 4 as the period ended.

The locals, with Jack Melby picking off the rebounds and starting the plays up the floor, continued to out-distance East Grand Forks during the second period's play. Bob Abbott, replacing Berg, who had picked up three personal fouls in the first stanza, tossed in 3 field goals, with Milt Eiderson and Melby also counting two-pointers, Coach Hanna's team having a 25 to 13 lead at the intermission.

Berg returned to the Prowler line-up in the third period and the sharp-eyed senior pushed in 4 field goals and a free throw—Eiderson, Bud Lide, and Bob Powell collecting the other Prowler field goals in the period to pace the locals to a 43 to 23 advantage as the final period opened. Al Moen, a nifty forward, marked up 3 East Grand Forks field goals in the fourth period as the East Siders sliced 4 points off the Prowler lead. Moen, who out-shone his highly-touted team-mate, Pete Hunt, was credited with 7 field goals and 2 free throws during the game, to be runner-up for high point honors.

In an abbreviated preliminary game the Prowler "B" team, with Art Forsberg and Herb Claffy doing the bulk of the scoring, defeated the Seniors, 22 to 14.

These bank debit figures represent the dollar volume of checks drawn by depositors against their bank accounts to pay for goods, services, debts, etc., and are released monthly by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis. Debit totals for a locality reflect not only the volume of trade, but farmers' cash income and money spent by the federal government to cover payrolls and purchase war materials.

St. Hilaire played a very effective game against Oslo, especially in the second half when they out-scored the visitors by 11 points. Keeping Score

.... With HUCK OLSON

They're Buzzing Again

A pleasing feature of the Hornets 6 to 0 win over a fine Crookston Cathedral team on Tuesday, in addition to the score, was the play of the kids—Wes Hovie, Sonny Johnson, Don Brossoit, and Bobby Olson. These youngsters are just a year or so out of the midget hockey class, and yet they acted as if they had been playing "big" hockey for years. Some fine hockey prospects there. Of course, most of the hornets' "sting" comes from such veterans as Marly Dorn, Bob and Johnny Baker, Johnny Efteland, Bob Prutz, and Les Vignes, with Johnny Robarge handling the pads in the nets.

Scoring in Tuesday's tussle was well scattered, with Bob Baker getting two goals, Hovie, Vignes, Efteland, and Johnson accounting for the others. And the boys were passing nicely, too, for only one of the goals, Les Vignes' tally was registered by the unassisted route. Les sneaked the rubber away from Lyman Peterson, Blue Wave defenseman, near the Crookston net and poked in a neat goal. Better make a mention, also, that Marlyn Dorn had a monopoly on the penalty box, being sent off the ice four times.

Yep, coach Connie Stanbridge has the Hornets buzzing again.

Performed Like Champions

Coach Glenn Hanna's Prowlers certainly turned in a district championship performance in handing East Grand Forks that 54 to 38 beating on Friday, and there were moments during the game when the Prowlers looked like a regional possibility, too.

While Don Berg hung up a 21-point total, scoring at the rate of a point-a-minute, Friday's win wasn't a one-man affair. The entire team—from the time that Jack Melby would pick the ball off the backboard until Don pivoted in close to the basket to shove a push-up into the net—was well-coordinated on offense, breaking so fast that the East Siders man-to-man defense appeared befuddled. And on defense the locals were "tight" enough.

Melby and Berg were the authors of two of the game's nimblest tricks. In the second period Jack drove in to the west basket, and as he went up to take what appeared to be a one-handed push-shot, he turned his wrist and tipped a pass to Bob Abbott, who was open under the basket, and Bob dumped in a set-up. And in the fourth period East Grand's Pete Hunt had the ball near the center-line, feinting as if to set up a play, when Don sidled up to Pete and slapped the ball over Hunt's shoulder, giving Don a wide-open break for the basket. Don missed the goal, but that didn't detract from the play and it didn't make Pete Hunt any happier.

We'd better not forget, though, that East Grand Forks looked as disorganized against the Prowlers in a season's game last year as they did on Friday, and yet they came back to edge the locals out of the championship. There is one thing that the East Side teams will always do, whether they have good, bad, or ordinary teams, and that's fight. As Pete Hunt told Jack Melby after Friday's game: "Melby, we'll take you guys when you come over to East Grand."

Some Fun

Tonight the JC's and the C. & C. are scheduled to meet on the Arena ice at 9:15 P. M. in what appears to be a "grudge" broomball hockey match. Both teams had scouts at the Hornets hockey game Tuesday, taking notes on team strategy, etc.

Broomball hockey, at least the way in which it is played by the Jc's, Eagles, C. & C. and Lions, is more fun for the players and the spectators than an Abbott and Costello movie.

Plenty of Power

That all-star team that bowled, and defeated, the Pharmacy team on Sunday possessed plenty of power, getting two 900 totals. They opened with a 934 game, were "soft" in the second game, and then came back with a 911 total. Wally DuChamp, who organized the team and the match, had a big 596 total. The height of folly, or something, occurred when one of the bystanders made small wagers that Wally would "blow" his spares. Wally doesn't do that often enough to make it a betting proposition.

That Pharmacy team must be a bunch of owls, for they always roll better at night than they do in the afternoon, and Sunday's match was an afternoon meeting. Perhaps they could reverse the decision in an evening set-to.

Eagles Broomball Team Whips Lions Wednesday

The Eagles broomball team, by a 4 to 1 score, defeated the Lions at the arena last night. Helmer Ness, on assists from [illegible] Elstad, marked up two goals, Elstad and Jim Zavoral tallied the other Eagles' goals; while Roy Oen, taking a pass from Vern Williams accounted for the lone Lion score.

It was announced last night that, starting next Wednesday night, there will be a small admission fee charged spectators, ten cents for adults and five cents for students.

GOVERNOR URGES MINNESOTANS TO HALT ACCIDENTS

Summons Citizens of State to Take Offensive in Safety Drive

Governor Harold E. Stassen this week called upon the citizens of Minnesota to arm for safety on the home front against an enemy within which took a toll of 52,000 American workers killed and over 4,400,000 injured during 1942 with a resulting loss of half a million man days. That enemy was accident.

In a statement issued from the Capitol the Governor climaxed his summons to this "fight in a battle for safety on the home front" by the declaration, "Be safe. Stop Accidents Now!" He urged citizens to "Exert every caution and safeguard to protect your health and well being on the job and off, by reorganizing your lives to meet the sterner obligations of war time."

The Governor timed his request to arm for safety as the preface to the opening of a national campaign to reduce accidents undertaken at the request of President Roosevelt by the National Safety Council's War Production Fund to Conserve Manpower.

He declared that this call "parallels in importance the tasks of expanding production in the state's industries and on the farms to the utmost maximum."

"In the state of Minnesota a splendid and enviable safety record has been made to date," the Governor declared. "But it is not enough. This is everybody's war. Everyone must do his part. No one is exempt or deferred. Therefore, I urge all citizens to enlist in this safety crusade, for safety is the key to national security and to victory."

Northwest farmers, whose battery-operated radios are a principal source of entertainment thruout the winter, were urged by WPB officials to go easy on their use for the duration.

Production has been cut down. There won't be as many radio batteries because of zinc restrictions. Tubes will become more difficult to get as time goes on. WPB officials suggested that radio owners operate their sets only when there are programs they really want to hear on the air; break up reception into short periods instead of continued periods when programs they don't care about are on; keep radio batteries away from heat; have tubes checked regularly, and disconnect batteries when the set is not in operation.

These practices, WPB experts said, will do much toward prolonging the life of the radio and its batteries.

RESOURCEFUL COBBLER MAKES SHOES OF STRAW

Kerkhoven.—With leather harder and harder to obtain, Hans H. Kumle, proprietor of a local shoe and harness shop believes he has a good substitute. He takes whole straws and braids three into a tough fiber. Then the fibers are woven crisscross and form the upper part of a shoe. The bottoms are made of composition. Mr. Kumle used to make straw shoes near his native village of Haskervold, outside Bergen, Norway. He claims these shoes are 50 per cent warmer and more durable than leather.

FLASH BATTERIES CUT

Additional reduction of 28 per cent in production of flashlight batteries has been ordered by War Production Board. Total made during 1943 will be about 35 per cent of 1941 manufacture.

WORKS HIMSELF OUT OF JOB AND OFFERS TO QUIT

George C. Jones Resigns Post as State Conservator of Rural Credit

George C. Jones, who has sold 4,692 state farms while acting as conservator of rural credits during the past four years and literally "worked himself out of a job," reported to Governor Harold E. Stassen this past week that he was ready to resign.

Governor Stassen asked Jones to remain in charge of the department for a few weeks until arrangements could be made for future administration of the department. Though the big job of reorganizing the department has been carried through and most of the state's farm lands have been sold—tasks which most appealed to Jones—the state still has 8,086 rural credit loans and contracts outstanding, and there will be need of careful, if less energetic, efforts in the way of administration for quite a few years before liquidation is completed.

Whether this work will be continued under a separate department or consolidated with one of the other state departments has not been determined.

New Seed Directory Is Issued by Minnesota Growers Association

Pennington county farmers who are looking about for weed-free seed of varieties adapted to Minnesota growing conditions have a useful guide in the fall seed directory issued by the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, cooperating with the Minnesota agricultural experiment station. This directory lists several hundred growers who have had their fields inspected and passed by representatives of the crop association.

Field inspection is exceptionally important because the association will not pass fields which have primary noxious weeds. The farmer who gets his seed from certified growers can avoid worries about weed infestation thru seed.

Copies of the seed directory may be secured by writing to the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, University Farm, St. Paul. The directory gives much valuable information about the crop varieties which will grow best under conditions in this state.

Fewer Cars and Less Gas Utilized in 1942 on Highways in State

Minnesota had a smaller curtailment in motor vehicle travel than the average state in 1942, although its reduction in passenger car registration was in line with the national trend, according to figures in a report by the federal public roads administration. There were 7.4 per cent fewer gallons of motor fuel taxed in Minnesota in the first ten months in 1941, while for all states reported including eastern gas rationed areas, the decrease was 16 per cent. In passenger car registration the decrease in Minnesota was 5.4 per cent and in all states it was 5.6 per cent.

According to the report there were 40,864 fewer 1942 passenger car licenses issued in Minnesota up to Sept. 30 than the number issued up to Sept. 30, 1941. For the whole nation there were 1,617,164 fewer car licenses issued up to Sept. 30, 1942, than were issued in the same months in 1941.

The figures for gasoline taxed are the totals minus the gallons on which taxes were refunded. Separate figures are given for the rationed and non-rationed areas, the decrease in non-rationed states being 11.1 per cent while in rationed areas in the east the decrease was 21.2 per cent. Rationing became effective in all states Dec. 1, but since tax collections in most states are based on the previous month's shipments or sales, the true effect of rationing will not be reflected in gas tax receipts until January or February.

R. R. and W. Commission Collects over Million

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

IT'S knowing what all the shooting is about plus all there is to know about 'chuting that gives the paratrooper his extra, skillful something.

It's knowing how to quench your thirst plus how to give you the fine feeling of refreshment that has made ice-cold Coca-Cola the best-liked soft drink on earth. Quality is the extra something. You'll taste it and feel it and enjoy it every time you tip up a frosty bottle of Coke.

Fifty-seven years of skill working with the choicest of ingredients creates its goodness. So, call for ice-cold Coca-Cola by its full name or by everybody's affectionate abbreviation, Coke. That's treating yourself right.

• • •

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Coca-Cola and Coke mean the same thing... the real thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

Ask any fighting man. He'll tell you that ice-cold Coca-Cola at a canteen adds a special touch to morale. And it adds refreshment, everywhere you get it.

8192 DRIVERS RUN AFOUL OF STATUTE, FORFEIT LICENSES

Largest Number in History of State Penalized During 1942

More than 8,000 motorists, the largest number in the history of the state, forfeited their driver's licenses during 1942 for disregarding Minnesota's traffic safety laws.

The annual report of the driver's license division to Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann disclosed today that, despite the wartime reduction in traffic which took place as the year progressed, driver's license revocations last year increased 11.1 per cent over 1941, and driver's license suspensions, ranging from indefinite lengths to periods of one year, increased 51.1 per cent.

Motorists whose licenses were revoked totalled 3,176 as compared with 2,776 in 1941, and license suspensions during the past year number 5,016 as compared to 3,219 during 1941 and 3,690 during 1940, the previous peak year.

Intoxicating liquor accounted for 2,830 of the driver's license forfeitures, with 2,751 revocations for drunken driving and 72 for habitual inebriacy, while seven license suspensions were imposed for intoxication.

Speeding, including offenses against the statutory speed laws and violations of the drastically lower war-time speed limits, caused 2,263 drivers to be barred from the wheel. Of these, 167 lost their license by outright revocation and 2,096 suffered suspensions.

Reckless driving brought 46 revocations and 799 suspensions; driving a car without the owner's permission resulted in 54 revocations; and running through "stop" signs and signals caused the suspension of 204 motorists.

University Attendance Down 15 Pct. This Winter

Total attendance at the University of Minnesota, which was off about 13 per cent when college opened in October, by comparison with last year, lost only two per cent more as the winter quarter opened, figures showing that it is now off about 15 per cent from a year ago. The decline has been less than university officials had anticipated. The figures given do not include the service men who are in training on the campus in naval courses for electrician's mates, machinists' mates, cooks and bakers and others, and army courses in several programs. Only a small decline was shown in students in the engineering courses, and in business and nursing fields, as well as medicine, there was an increase over the fall quarter figures when the winter quarter began.

Cooperative Livestock Assn. Directors Vote 36 Pct. Commission Refund

A refund of 36 per cent of commissions collected in 1942 and 6 per cent stock dividend will be paid to member patrons of the Central Co-operative Association, it was announced by the board of directors of the association who met in South St. Paul Thursday, January 14. This is equivalent to $224,901.79.

This was the twenty-second annual refund and dividend to be declared by the Central, making a total exceeding 2½ million dollars to be paid to member patrons of this organization since it started in business in South St. Paul in 1921.

The refund of 36 per cent means that 36c out of every dollar collected in commissions will be paid to stockholder patrons based on their patronage. The 6 per cent stock dividend is interest on stock owned by members and is the maximum interest permitted to be paid by law.

The Central Co-operative Association will hold its twenty-second annual meeting in the St. Paul Hotel, St. Paul, Minnesota, February 9 and 10 where the business and activities of the past year will be reviewed by Central members and where policies for the ensuing year will be made.

Twin City Market Week Set for February 1-6

Retailers to the number of several thousand from 11 Northwest states will be in attendance at Twin City Market Week, February 1 to 6. Merchants from every section are well aware of the importance of getting the right merchandise, even with apparent shortages in some lines. It is also realized that wartime regulations are a vital element in retail selling. Therefore, most dealers are taking advantage of attending several business clinics while doing their buying. During the week there will be clinics for merchants at the Dyckman Hotel, Minneapolis, daily from 10:00 A. M. to 2:00 P. M. February 1, 2, 3 and 4.

COUNTY BOARD TO DESIGNATE FARM AWARDS CENTERS

Asked to Cooperate by Ole Flaat, State Director of Project

The Pennington county board, at its February meeting, on the suggestion of Ole Flaat, director of the agricultural award program, will consider the question of designating the communities in this area where award presentation meeting shall be held.

Governor Stassen has proposed instead of one general meeting, such as would be logical in normal times, that several meeting be arranged so that the farmers who are to receive the state's "A" service flag and shield will not be obliged to travel any considerable distance. In all probability, when the date for making awards is set, it will be on a Saturday, the day of the week when many farmers are in town.

The county advisory committee for the award program is composed of the county commissioners, with tht county auditor acting as clerk and the county agent as consultant.

It is estimated that between 40,000 and 50,000 farmers in the state will receive "A" service flags, with shields being distributed on the basis of between three and four workers on each "A" service flag farm.

On this major committee all the members of the board of trustees as well as the secretary of the church are members.

FDR CHURCHILL MEET IN AFRICA PLAN STRATEGY

ASK UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER OF AXIS

War Staffs of United States and Britain Share in Conference

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, in the most unprecedented and momentous meeting of the century, have reached "complete agreement" on war plans for 1943 designed to bring about the "unconditional surrender" of Germany, Italy and Japan, it was disclosed Tuesday night.

Defying every tradition, the President of the United States flew across 5,000 miles of the Atlantic ocean for a 10-day meeting with Winston Churchill which saw the leaders of the two nations bring Gen. Charles de Gaulle and Gen. Henri Honore Giraud together for the first time in a little villa just outside Casablanca in French Morocco, North Africa.

Virtually the entire war staffs of both nations participated in day and night discussions which ended Sunday afternoon with a press conference before a group of war correspondents flown secretly from Allied headquarters across North Africa.

These are the high spots of the conference, which Roosevelt and Churchill agreed was unprecedented in history and may decide the fate of the world for generations to come:

1. Leaders of America and Britain, both military and civil, have agreed on a war plan for 1943 designed to maintain the initiative in every theater of the war.

2. Churchill and Roosevelt agreed that peace can come only through "unconditional surrender" of Germany, Italy, and Japan.

3. Generals Giraud and de Gaulle, meeting for the first time under sponsorship of the President and prime minister, are negotiating for a united French movement designed to put French armies, a navy and an air force again into the field against the Axis.

4. Premier Josef Stalin of Russia was kept informed of the results of the conferences. In fact, Churchill and Roosevelt offered to meet Stalin "very much farther to the east," but the Russian chief was unable to leave the U.S.S.R., due to the need of his directing present Red army offensives.

The President and prime minister also have been in communication with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and "have apprised him of the measures which they are taking to assist him in China's magnificent and unrelaxing struggle for the common cause."

5. Maximum material aid to Russia and China will be one of the prime aims of the U. S. and Britain.

6. Roosevelt visited American troops in the field in North Africa the first American president to visit an active war theater since Abraham Lincoln.

Growing With Your Child

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

That Old Thief, Time

This is one of those times of the year when small boys start being late for supper.

"But it isn't dark yet!" cries Billy, coming in all astonished to find his family half through the meal. His father grimly looks at the clock. "It's way past six. Don't you know you're supposed to be home on time?"

Billy, carefully disposing his skates in such fashion that they will dry, pleads again that it wasn't dark, how could he tell it was time to leave the skating rink.

When days are gradually growing longer, a child loses the landmarks by which he has gaged his comings and goings. He's been used to skating until dark, but forgets the dark has been moved ahead a notch or two. Shouldn't his parents take into consideration that a small child's sense of the passage of time is slow to get into working order? Not until the average child is almost eight can he even tell time, by figuring out on the clock when it is "quarter to" or "half past." Although this has little to do with his ability to know when it is "time to come home," it does give us an inkling of how difficult it must be for a child to gain an accurate sense of time.

Especially when he's having fun! How time flies when the ice is good and one's friends are all around! Is it any wonder that Billy can hardly believe that he was skating for over two hours, when it seemed like about two minutes?

There are things that we can definitely expect of our children, things that we should expect. We can legitimately expect young Billy, at ten, to bathe himself, to do various jobs around the house with growing skill, to be an growing competence in his ability to plan how he uses his allowance, for instance. But we should be lenient unless we've provided him with a watch about expecting him to be a good judge as to the passage of time, when there's no clock for him to refer to.

RED CROSS OPENS ITS BIGGEST FUND CAMPAIGN MAR. 1

National Organization Will Undertake Raising of $125,000,000

With a goal of $125,000,000 for its 1943 War Fund, the American Red Cross will embark upon the biggest campaign in its history on March 1.

Millions of volunteers will be recruited to assist in the nationwide appeal, which will be conducted under the direction of Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, who is national chairman of the 1943 Red Cross Fund.

In announcing the goal, set by the central committee of the American Red Cross, Chairman Norman H. Davis said the figure represented the minimum requirements of the Red Cross if the organization is to meet its war-time obligations.

"The goal," Chairman Davis said, "is based upon realistic estimates which careful study shows are actually needed to meet the heavy war-time obligations and responsibilities of the Red Cross. This sum covers local, national and international war-time needs of the organization for one year barring unforseen emergencies or disasters.

"Of the total goal, $45,000,000 is the sum required by Red Cross chapters to finance their indispensable needs and their ever increasing local work on behalf of families of men in the service. The remainder, or $80,000,000, will go to the national organization which, however, requires one hundred million dollars to finance its national and international program. The difference will be met by a balance of $20,000,000 from the first War Fund of 1942 which will be applied to the 1943 budget."

MINNESOTA FARM BUREAU REELECTS OFFICIAL STAFF

AAA Program Is Endorsed at Annual Convention in St. Paul

Frank W. White, Marshall, was re-elected president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau at the annual meeting concluded in St. Paul on January 20. Also re-elected were Ole A. Flaat, Fisher, first vice president; H. M. Sword, Deer River, second vice president; L. O. Jacob, Anoka, and Harry Buran, Fergus Falls, directors.

Support of the AAA program was voted by the delegates assembled from 75 county farm bureaus. Criticism was made of "top heavy" administration from Washington, but state and local administration was praised. Recommendations also were made for limiting the activities of the Farm Security administration to services directly beneficial to farmers.

Resolutions on the farm man power situation urged return from the army of farmers more badly needed at home than in the service. The 40-hour week for labor should be dispensed with, the delegates asserted unanimously.

Ed O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, who spoke at the annual banquet, praised the services of farm state senators and congressmen who, he declared, have put national and agricultural welfare ahead of party, and are making an honest effort to promote the war program by demanding efficiency in government.

The annual report of J. S. Jones, executive secretary, showed that outstanding growth was made in all departments of the Minnesota Farm Bureau during the past year. Membership in 1942 reached the highest peak in the federation's history, with 38,181 farm families enrolled.

ADVERSE FARMING CONDITIONS CITED BY HOUSE MONDAY

Minnesota Representatives Pass Resolution without Debate

Without a word of debate, the Minnesota house of representatives Monday approved a resolution calling upon the President, congress and various federal agencies to take immediate action to correct certain conditions "adversely affecting agriculture."

The vote was 97 to 8.

The resolution was considerably changed in the form in which it was approved, after a hot debate, by the senate a week ago.

Eliminated were all references to the 40-hour week as an obstacle to obtaining adequate farm help and the request that the 40-hour week and overtime pay in war industries be suspended for the duration.

The resolution now goes back to the senate for concurrence in house amendments.

Senator Oscar Swenson of Nicollet, who piloted the measure through the senate, said he wished to study house changes before deciding upon a course of action. If the senate should not agree to house changes, the resolution would have to be sent to a conference committee.

Among adverse conditions, the resolution enumerated in addition to depleted manpower and inability to compete in labor markets were lack of farm machinery and unfavorable priority ratings.

Instead of blaming the 40-hour week for taking men from the farms, as the senate resolution did, the house-approved measure blames "prevailing high wages and overtime pay."

Rural Welfare Levies in Minnesota Are Cut $348,367 in Past Year

County welfare and relief tax levies for the 84 rural counties of Minnesota were reduced by $348,367 in the past year, according to a report just issued by the Minnesota Taxpayer association.

County welfare and relief has become one of the major items in county budgets for several years past, due to unfavorable economic conditions. With the rise in public income, however, the trend now is in the other direction, and rural levies for 1942 show a decline of a third of a million dollars.

1941 levies for all rural counties for welfare purposes were $6,912,556, while the 1942 levies total up to $6,564,189, which is a decline of $348,367, in the one-year period, report shows.

Speakers on the program include Mrs. Max Kannowski, director of public parks, Grand Forks, T. L. Aamodt, assistant state entomologist, state department of agriculture, St. Paul; R. C. From the State Capitol

BY SENATOR W. E. DAHLQUIST

I see by the papers that we have had a cold spell down here but as far as I know it is merely an unconfirmed rumor. The hotel's official waker-upper distributes considerable information each morning, including a comprehensive weather report. From this report I decide whether to walk or ride to the Capitol. On one or two occasions I have suspected that she gets a rake-off from the cab company but at any rate if we have had cold weather I haven't yet come in contact with it. I am living a sheltered life.

If any of you come down here with the idea of having me invite you out to dinner please drop in on a Sunday afternoon or evening—before eight o'clock. The hotel has a room in the cellar where on Sundays they put out a Smorgasbord for a buck and a dime that really is a bargain for hungry people. I am naturally suspicious of such deals but this is no gyp. It's just like eating at a 40 & 8 wild game dinner. You don't know what you are getting but its all good and there's plenty of it and you can go back to the counter as many times as you want to. The only restraint is a "Waste Not-Want Not" card at each table that makes a patriotic appeal for moderation, closing with this neat suggestion, "Your clean Smorgasbord plate is your badge of patriotic cooperation". I pass this idea along for the benefit of the good ladies who arrange our church suppers.

The legislative mill is grinding slowly. Many bills are being introduced each day but following a reading of their titles they are referred to committees so as yet I know little about what we will have to argue about later on.

It appears that I am going to be involved in one of the arguments, all because Mr. Lynskey of our Welfare Board wrote to me asking me to support a change in the proportion of costs of aid to dependent children paid by the state. I turned the letter over to the chairman of the Welfare committee and he proceeded to have a bill prepared to bring about the desired change and put my name down as the author. In committee I discovered that the problem was controversial.

In general terms, this is the problem as I understand it. In the dark days of the pre-Roosevelt era the cost of aid to dependent children was divided nearly equally by the federal government, the state and the counties, each unit paying about a third. Then the federal government increased its contribution to one-half, the benefit of this larger federal contribution, presumably, to be passed on to the counties. But state law, providing that the counties should pay one-third of this cost, has not been changed and so the state, and not the counties, is getting the benefit of the increased federal aid. If the bill, of which I have unwittingly become the author, is passed the counties will have their share of the cost of this aid reduced from one-third to one-sixth, or a saving to our county of some over four thousand dollars.

The rub is that if we pay less the state will have to pay more and some of the brothers object to this. The bill has been referred to the finance committee where such measures are expected to receive harsh treatment. That is where I may get my nose rubbed in the dirt.

My mail is getting heavier but it isn't fan mail. Most of the letters I receive are from people who want something done or undone and by now I am either for or against practically everything. One of the letters that caused me to turn gray over night came from a neighboring town commercial club urging me to oppose the publication of the Moneys and Credits on the tax list. Isn't that something to ask of a member of the powerful newspaper bloc and a third vice president of the state's newspaper association. That's about like asking Stuart McLeod to endorse oleomargarine as a food product.

Well strictly off the record it is my opinion that the legislature will comply with the request of this commercial club and many other organizations and individuals. Right or wrong, the publication is not popular. Unhappy thought, however, for some people I know is the possibility that a change in the law may make it a crime of some kind (the lawyers have a name for it) to turn in a dishonest report. I think there is considerable merit in the idea of abolishing this tax altogether. Now that we have a state income tax that reaches most of those who have moneys and credits, this small revenue producing item could just as well be written off the books.

This week we received the supplemental report from the Division of Public Institutions recommending the transfer of patients from the state's Sanatorium for Consumptives at Walker to county sanatoria and using this institution for tubercular inmates of our hospitals for the mentally defective. This would enable county sanatoria to operate at capacity, would provide better care for the tubercular inmates of our institutions and would relieve the congested condition now prevailing in several of these institutions at little additional cost. It seems likely that this plan will be adopted.

In making this supplemental report Mr. Swanson gave a bid for an additional $2,000 for the Training School for Boys at Red Wing, to be used as a boarding fund in an effort to secure better homes for the boys when they are paroled. This problem was interesting to me. It appears that there is little difficulty in securing good homes for the girls released from Sauk Center but boys are not wanted. Too often they are returned to their own homes and to the conditions that caused their earlier delinquency. Mr. Swanson believes that the state should contribute toward the cost of their room and board with other families in order to put them into a new environment when they are released. It would be an interesting experiment and well worth while if it would reduce the percentage of those released from reform school who latter find their way back to our penal institutions.

Getting back to the subject of taxes, we hear many requests for the abolition or reduction of our state income tax. It is not difficult for me to sympathise with this sentiment, I assure you, but if this tax is reduced or abolished new forms of taxation will have to be found to take its place. That's the tough problem. The income tax makes possible one of the most liberal systems of state aid for schools in the country today. To abolish it would mean that we would either have to tax real property more heavily or resort to other forms of taxation, probably sales taxes.

Along this line Congressman Harold Knutson made some interesting suggestions in a short talk at the Editorial Association convention this week. He advanced the idea that there is too much duplication in state and federal taxes at the present time and that the states and the federal government should enter into an agreement limiting each others fields of taxation. He suggested that incomes should be taxed by the federal government only and that the right to tax sales should be reserved to the states. It is something to think about, a problem that will become increasingly important as our war debt soars to ever higher and higher levels.

But pardon me for becoming serious. It's an old weakness and with advancing years I find it increasingly difficult to control. Sea-Bee Erling Torgerson wired me from Chicago yesterday noon that he was coming in on the Limited and would I have dinner with him at the Nicollet. That's the kind of wires I like to receive and I immediately instructed my secretary to cancel all previous engagements. Well he arrived all right but just in time for a hamburger and a hand shake between trains and then he was on his way to Thief River. That's a sailor for you but I was glad to see him anyway and I may get my dinner when he is on his way back. Life on the bounding main certainly has brought the vigor of youth back to him.

And after being away from home nearly a month I am looking forward to a return to the land of my creditors next week. I don't know yet which week-end it will be but it will be either either this next one or the one following. If any of you have problems I might be of some help on I will be glad to meet you at any coffee counter.

DISCONCERTING IF TRUE

(Long Prairie Leader)

Time magazine publishes a report on man-days lost in the war-plants by reason of workers not showing up for work. The figures are disconcerting. In a recent month the Douglas Aircraft employees lost a total of 760,114 man-hours through casual lay offs. This was enough time for the plant to make 41 attack bombers. In Seattle the record for the year was that one worker in twelve laid off in the shipbuilders' yards. In the Boeing Airplant works 26 per cent of all the workers did not show up the day after the Christmas vacation. In Detroit one plant recorded a lay off of 3,000 workers the day after Christmas. Time says "from coast to coast the sickening story is repeated." Too much money to spend, lack of discipline due to union control and lack of appreciation of the vital importance of war production are given as among the reasons.

Eddie Rickenbacker, noted flier whose plane fell in the Pacific and who with his crew drifted nearly a month before rescue, in a talk in Washington the other day deplored the trend of war plant production and said that if the soldier boys with their hours of work and devotion to duty were to be placed in the plants, production would double in thirty days. There are thousands of men and women who are giving their best in these plants, but evidently there are others who are not. We hope the stories of slackerism are exaggerated, but in any event they are bad even if half true.

CALL FOR PATRIOTISM

(William Feather in Imperial Magazine)

At times a lot of us aren't satisfied with the progress of the war. But it seems to me that too many people are looking for a goat. I try to find out, as diplomatically as possible, what each of the complainers has done to further the war effort, and am almost ashamed to reveal the facts I have compiled.

Among my acquaintances is a family that has stored a six months' supply of coffee. Another (a family of two) has accumulated a backlog of fifty pounds of sugar. A woman I know has bought cartons of Coca-Cola until she has sixty bottles in her pantry. A man boasted that he had the forsight to get four new tires before rationing began, although he has since had to turn them in. Another man, fearing a shortage of razor blades, has picked up a three-year supply.

Every one of these hoarders complains loudly that the public is not aware of the task before us. Without knowing how much any of them has invested in War Bonds, I know that they are looking out for themselves first. And that is America's weakness.

We can't win this war until everybody ceases to be concerned about his own happiness and turns his full attention to the national welfare. In short, we need patriotism. Just as parents think of the family's happiness and well-being instead of each one's individual pleasure, so the patriot must think of his country and the nation's welfare.

THIS BILL SHOULD BE PASSED

(Red Lake Falls Gazette)

One bill recently introduced in the legislature ought to pass without a dissenting vote, and that is the measure to eliminate the possibility of Minnesota's having to elect a short term United States senator for a month or six weeks. There's no sense to the practice whatsoever. The measure would extend the term of a senator appointed to fill an unexpired term, until a regularly elected senator takes his seat.

ADVICE FROM WASHINGTON

F. D. Lum in Wahpeton, N. D., Farmer-Globe

I read of a Montana sheep man who told the gas ration board that an A card is all right until the lambing season arrives in the spring and then he must have for about two months a lot of gas in order to get around to care for the sheep. The board didn't know what to do so they asked Washington. The reply was, tell that farmer to spread his lambing season over the entire year and he will be able to get along on his gas allowance.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Credit For Dependents

A taxpayer is entitled to a credit for each person other than husband or wife whether related to him or not, and whether living with him or not, who during the taxable year was dependent upon and received his chief support from the taxpayer, provided the dependent was either (a) under 18 years of age, or (b) incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

The credit for dependents is based upon ACTUAL FINANCIAL DEPENDENCY and not mere legal dependency. It is not necessary that the dependent be related to the tax payer, but the taxpayer must have provided more than one-half of the support, or there is no dependency.

The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only those who are mentally afflicted and physically crippled, but also persons who, by reason of old age or impaired health, are incapable of self-support. The state of mental or physical defect need not be of a permanent nature, but if it existed for only a portion of the year, then the credit for dependent can be claimed only for that portion of the year during which the dependent was supported by the taxpayer.

A person may not acquire a credit for dependent by reason of support of a person qualifying as a dependent if, as a result of such support, he acquires a head of family exemption, but may acquire a credit for dependent by reason of additional persons qualifying as dependents, whom he supports. Thus, if a person claims head of a family exemption on account of support of an aged mother or father, incapable of self-support or a child, he would not be entitled to a credit for such dependent; but if he supported more than one such person he could claim credit for such additional persons provided they were under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support.

Credit for dependents may not be divided between two persons filing separate returns, but must be taken by the one contributing the chief support. A credit for dependents may be claimed by a father who provides the support for his children living with his divorced wife, if the support is provided as a result of a court decree or as the result of an agreement between husband and wife.

The credit for dependent, allowable to a taxpayer filing on Form 1040, is $350, and is proportionate with the number of months of dependency. Thus, for a child born on July 1, the credit allowable would be $175 (for six months), and if a child became 18 years of age on July 1 the credit allowable would be $175. One-half a month or less is not counted as a month; more than one-half a month is counted as a month in calculating the credit.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

Just a few words to try and tell the folks back home of some of the conditions here where we are putting out almost one ship a day in the shipyards at Richmond alone.

To begin with the unions here are reaping a harvest. The Kaiser Shipbuilding Co. Employment Office occupies about as much room as the first floor of the Oen's store and this office is jammed with people applying for work every day.

The first thing an applicant has to do on arriving in Richmond is go to the office and pay your money ($7.50 to $50.00) as membership to join one of the twenty or twenty-five different unions that are represented in the shipbuilding industry. There are shipfitters, shipwrights, stageriggers, stud welders, welders, and the Lord knows how many more unions. There are lots of people coming in here from the middle west who know nothing about shipbuilding. They join one of the unions and after working at that work as painter we will say, he finds he is not fitted for that work and wishes to be transferred to shipwright he must first get a release from the painters union, but he does not get any of his $25.00 back. The next step is to pay $11.50 to the shipwright union.

There are hundreds of these cases. They certainly cannot tell me that organized labor is not slowing up production.

I happen to be a shipfitter and if I want a plank put in place on the scaffolding I could do this in five minutes but instead I may have to wait an hour to get stagerigger who is the right man for this work.

To go back a little to your arrival here the Housing Bureau will not give you any information what ever before you have joined one of the unions.

The housing situation is terrible and one has to line up for everything, meals at restaurants, groceries, mail, stamp, and even the banks won't take your money unless you fall in line and wait your turn.

The only thing they have in this mans town that has not raised in price and there is no scarcity is the Postage Stamps.

The grocery stores limit you on every thing almost in their line. No meat in the markets; if you want any fresh meat you have to order ahead and then lucky if you get it.

In closing I would say that any one can get a job here even though they were carried into the office on a stretcher if they are able to stand up to the counter, have their pictures taken, be finger printed, and sign their name O. K.

It is an interesting sight at midnight to watch the crowd of some 10,000 people go out of the yards when they change shifts.

There are seven ways in yard N. 1, and twelve ways in yard No. 2, and five ways in yard No. 3.

That means there are twenty-four ships under construction at one time and about seven at docks being finished.

Yours truly
S. E. Hunt

Adjustments Are Made in 1943 AAA Program

Several important adjustments in the 1943 AAA program aimed at greater production of essential food, feed and fiber crops were announced Saturday by Charles W. Stickney, Minnesota USDA War Board and AAA chairman.

"Overnight the outlook for livestock feed has completely changed," Mr. Stickney said, in explaining the new corn provisions of the program. "However, due to the adjustment feature of our farm program we can act immediately to take care of the situation."

Mr. Stickney said that feed production at the present time is trailing livestock production. The surprise 24 percent increase in the 1943 spring pig crop as indicated by late December reports and the possibility of a similar increase next fall touched off re-consideration of the whole feed question.

He also pointed out that the number of livestock on feed is the greatest in history, with the Corn Belt states showing an 8 percent increase over 1942.

In explaining the new corn provision of the program, Mr. Stickney said that no deductions will be made for overplanting a farm corn allotment providing the farmer meets his war crop goals and that an ACP payment would be made on the corn allotment unless deductions are made for failure to meet war crop goals or for excess plantings of wheat.

Farmers will be eligible for the full loan rate for all the corn grown on the farm if war crop goals are met. The full corn loan rate will also be available to farmers growing corn in the non-commercial corn area of the state.

To further encourage the production of feed crops, a support price for barley will be at a level equal to its feeding value in relation to corn. This support price will be available only to farmers that meet war goals.

Although no state or county goals will be determined a farm goal will established on the farm plan for the total acreage on the farm of designated hay and pasture crops such as blue grass western, bluestem, crested wheat, slender wheat, buffalo, grama, Reed's canary and Brome grass, alfalfa, clover, clover and timothy mixture, and lespedeza.

The goal established on a farm for this hay and sod crop acreage will become a part of the total farm war crop goal. New seeding, made in the fall of 1942 or spring of 1943, will qualify to meet the farm goal. Sweet clover will not be considered a war crop when seeded primarily as a green manure crop.

The requirement that 90 percent of an allotment crop can be planted has dropped from the program, according to Mr. Stickney. The designation of substitute feed crops is automatically eliminated. However, the requirement stands that 90 percent of a farm war crop goal be produced if full payment is made. There will be no deductions if a farmer fails to meet this requirement. The deduction of $15 an acre will apply to acreage by which a farmer fails to meet 90 percent of the total war crop goal established for the farm.

Mr. Stickney said there will undoubtedly be further changes in the 1943 AAA program as conditions change and urged that all farmers keep in close touch with their local AAA committeeman. "In time of war we can take nothing for granted for granted," he said. "We cannot say at any time that this is the program for the year because we don't know when some emergency will arise that will call for changes in our production plans."

Bread...FOR A WORLD AT WAR!

THE peaceful prairies of the Dakotas and Western Canada may seem a long way from the far flung battle fronts... yet they, too, are in the "front lines", for from their fertile acres comes the wheat that is feeding not only our men, but our many allies as well.

This vast prairie country, long known as "the bread basket of the world", will begin the harvesting of another crop of golden grain before many months have gone by. Millions of bushels of this grain will be brought to the mills by the Soo Line—a railroad that many years ago was built to give an outlet to these unending acres.

Our first effort will be the transportation of all commodities pertaining to the war program. With your cooperation, we can do that, and at the same time take care of our civilian traffic with but slight inconvenience.

HORNETS DEFEAT FARGO H. S. 2-0 IN ICE TILT HERE

Local Junior Hockey Sextet Displays Good Form in Arena Sunday

The Hornets, marking up their second win of the season, blanked the Fargo high school Midgets, 2 to 0, in a fast and well-played game on the Arena ice Sunday afternoon. The highly-rated Midgets had defeated St. Michaels of Grand Forks, 3 to 2, on Friday; and Crookston Cathedral, 5 to 2, on Saturday, before concluding their road trip against the Hornets.

After a scoreless first period, which found both teams having opportunities to mark up tallies, the Hornets, on Bob Baker's solo rush in the second period, took a 1 to 0 lead. Bob Baker picked up the puck in center-ice, stick-handled through the defense and hit the right-hand corner of the net with a shot from close in. Late in the period the Midgets threatened to knot the score, the Hornets having Les Vigness and Bob Baker off the ice with penalties, but Connie Stanbridge repulsed the Dakotans' power-plays.

Prowlers Overwhelm Warren Friday 61-28

To Go to Valley City

HARRY SEVERSON

Associated with the local Land O'Lakes plant since its establishment in 1929, recently in the capacity of plant superintendent, who is being transferred February 1 to Valley City, N. D., where he will serve as manager of the Land O'Lakes branch in that city. Before leaving, he will resign his position as alderman-at-large on the city council, he having served in that capacity since January, 1942.

Rolling up their biggest score of the season, a 61-point total, coach Glenn Harna's Prowlers easily defeated the Warren Ponies, 61 to 28, in a district basketball game played on the local floor Friday night. And this evening the locals will journey to East Grand Forks for a return game with the Little Green Wave, and a win for the blue-and-gold will send the Prowlers into the lead in the district standings.

Fifteen seconds of Friday's game had elapsed when Milt Reierson, on a dribble, drove to the west basket to score on a push-up shot. Jack Melby popped in a rebound shot; Bill McKechnie getting a pass from Bill Bye, looped in a one handed shot; Melby counted on another rebound tip-in; and after Reierson had missed a free throw attempt, Melby again tipped in the rebound.

Two field goals by Don Berg, from close in, and Milt Reierson's field goal and free throw gave the locals a 17 to 0 lead before Warren was able to mark up a point. After being held scoreless for six minutes, the Ponies, on a free throw by Warren Faulke, tallied a point. Bill Bye drove in for a field goal, bringing the Prowlers first period total to 19; and Maynard Ranstrom hit the net with a long shot to give Warren 2 points, the period ending with the locals holding a 19 to 3 advantage.

The Prowlers slackened their basket-sniping pace somewhat in the second period, getting 13 points while the Ponies were adding 6 points. Jack Melby flipped in two field goals and a free throw; Don Berg notched a field goal and a free throw; Reierson marked up a field goal; and Bob Abbott got a field goal and a free throw. Peterson and Ranstrom connected for the Warren field goals, with Culver adding a free throw.

After Warren Faulke had opened the second half scoring with a field goal, Don Berg broke lose for four rapid-fire goals. McKechnie knifed through for a field goal, and then added a point on a free throw. Bob Abbott's two under-the-basket goals brought the Prowler lead to 47 to 18 as the third period closed. The Prowlers continued to add to their lead in the final period, with Abbott and Powell doing the bulk of the scoring, and just before the game's end, Milt Reierson nipped in a short shot to bring the locals total to 61 points.

In an entertaining preliminary game the Prowler "B" team, with Herb Clafy scoring 18 points on 9 field goals, and Verg Evenstad accounting for 8 points, trounced the Warren "B" team, 34 to 7.

War Stamp Tourney Is Slated on Mint Alleys

Arrangements have been completed for a mixed doubles bowling tournament to be rolled over the Mint alleys on the week-ends of Jan. 30th-31st and Feb. 6th-7th. The tourney, which will present war stamps as prizes, will be on a handicap basis with an 80% handicap being allowed on a 375-pin scratch.

Drawings will be held to determine the doubles partners, and bowlers may re-enter the tournament more than once, but a new doubles partner must be selected for each re-entry. The entry fee has been set at $2.00 per couple, this fee including bowling (three lines per person), and provides for a sizable prize pool.

In addition, Stan Larson, manager of the Poppler Furniture, states that he will provide two merchandise prizes to be awarded to the two bowlers who post the high totals. One prize will go to the lady scoring the high series, and the other to the man with the high total.

Keeping Score

Enjoying a "Hot" Spell

The Prowlers, in spite of the fact that the temperature has been hovering below the zero mark, have been enjoying a "hot" spell. They rolled up 54 points against East Grand a week ago, piled up 61 points against Warren on Friday, and in an informal scrimmage against an alumni team Tuesday night, they racked up 80 points. The alumni, with Eddie Flasch, Wayne Bredeson, and Owen Borchert doing the bulk of the scoring, did pretty well, scoring 47 points.

With each new showing of the Prowlers it is becoming more apparent that captain Jack Melby has developed into one of the most valuable players on the squad. Jack turned in a fine all-round performance against the Ponies last Friday. He took care of the center jump to open the game, and then dropped back to right guard and from that spot he covered the rebounds and sent the plays down the floor. Jack barreled in for three field goals, too, in addition to the three tip-in shots that he scored. After Jack had looped in a couple of rebound shots, a Warren fan asked, "How are you going to stop that guy?" Well, that is a problem and if they ever do stop Jack, which I doubt, they will have to stop Don, Milt, Kerger, Bill, and Bob Abbott. And they're problems, too.

Highest Score

Incidentally, that 54-point total against East Grand Forks is the highest score that the Prowlers have ever tallied against the Little Green Wave. And a look at the records indicates that that 61-point score against Warren was the fifteenth time that a Prowler basketball team has scored 60 or more points in a game. The district champions of 1916 defeated Red Lake Falls, 88 to 11, in 1917 the Prowlers trailed the Midgets, defeated North Star College, [illegible] [illegible]

A Bowling Innovation

Local bowlers, feminine and masculine, shouldn't forget that there is a mixed doubles tournament schedule for the Mint alleys on Jan. 30th and 31st, and Feb. 6th and 7th. The entry fee will be $2.00 per couple, with handicap based on a 375 scratch (with the scratch being 200 for the men and 175 for the ladies) and 80% of the total handicap being allowed. It is planned to use "blind drawings" in selecting the partners. And the tournament will be a re-entry affair, with the bowlers eligible to enter as many times as they wish, but that they must have a new partner with each re-entry. And don't forget, the prizes to be awarded will be war stamps.

The next of a series of [illegible] dances sponsored by the city recreation board will be given in the municipal Auditorium Friday evening, January 29, between the hours of 9 and 12, it was announced today.

A Crowd-Pleaser

The small crowd that was in the Arena to witness the game between the Hornets and the Fargo high school Midgets on Sunday afternoon, was treated to some crowd-pleasing hockey. The brand of hockey played by the two clubs certainly deserved a larger audience.

B. J. Mickelson, Fargo coach, insisted that the game be played under professional rules, which allow considerable lee-way on forward passing. That was new stuff for the Hornets and as a result it took the better part of two periods before the locals could get "hep" to the rule. Coach Connie Stanbridge used blackboard tactics between periods, explaining the rule which permitted forward passing from the defensive zone to the center-ice zone. This rule permits the wing men to play a "sleeper" type of game, for they can linger near the opposing team's blue-line, hoping for a pass from their own defensive zone and then break-away for the goal. Local fans didn't seem to care much for that style of play, complaining that the game developed into too much offside hockey.

Two important new training projects for preparing young men and women to serve more effectively in the war effort will be started within the next six weeks by the University of Minnesota.

About February 15 some 100 young women who can meet the qualifications, will start training in a program financed by the Curtiss-Wright Corporation which will prepare them to be assistants in that company's plants to senior engineers, and to work in aircraft design, aerodynamics calculations, propeller testing, and the like. While in training over a period of 10 months, they will be paid $10 a week for incidental expenses in addition to having their costs of instruction paid. Shevlin Hall, the women's building on the university campus, will be refitted for their occupancy. The university will do the teaching.

Girls who wish to enter the program should seek detailed information from Dr. John G. Darley, head of the University Testing Bureau, at Eddy Hall, Main Campus. Those who pass his tests will be interviewed by a company representative before being accepted.

Also, as of March 1, the University of Minnesota will be one of several institutions that will begin a special pre-meteorological course for students who wish to enter the weather phase of the Army Air Corps. They will be assigned to courses heavily weighted on the side of physics and mathematics.

HIGHWAY PATROL REPORTS ON PAST YEAR OPERATIONS

Minnesota's state highway patrol arrested 10,986 traffic violators on state trunk highways during the year 1942, and issued "do not repeat" warnings to 32,815 other motorists whose offenses were less serious or obviously unintentional.

In all, counting arrests, written and verbal warnings, and tags for driving with unsafe or illegal equipment, the highway patrolmen detected and stopped more than 67,000 traffic law violators, most of which were endangering lives of motorists or pedestrians.

During the same period, they gave aid to 42,964 motorists, of which 17,560 were stalled and required their assistance in making minor adjustments or repairs. Besides giving first aid to 295 injured, the patrol officers pulled 1,323 cars out of ditches, delivered gasoline to 1,018, and called garages for 722 others which required heavier service than the patrol was able to render.

The report on the patrol's operations for the year was made by Chief Eldon Rowe to Highway Commissione M. J. Hoffman this week. It showed a 27 per cent decline in arrests and a 30 per cent drop in driving with unsafe or illegal equipment, corresponding well with the estimated decline in traffic volume, but only a slight decrease in the number of motorists warned of less hazardous or unintentional violations, due perhaps to the number of motorists who were shown leniency in he early stages of the imposition of the 40-mile and later the 35-mile-an-hour war-time speed limits.

Highway patrolmen examined 316,111 sets of lights during the year, as compared with 46,191 during 1941, examined 4,927 sets of brakes, and checked 103,103 drivers' licenses. They traveled 4,780,924 miles in 302,431 hours of patrol duty, a reduction from 5,618,615 miles traveled on 309,703 hours of patrol duty in 1941.

Of the violations detected during the past year, driving at excessive speed brought 2,085 arrests and 4,524 warnings; improper passing 1,352 arrests and 1,170 warnings; driving through "stop" signs or signals, 1,229 arrests and 1,715 warnings; driving in the wrong lane, or over the center line, 275 arrests and 1,059 warnings.

Driving while drunk caused 983 arrests as compared with 1,400 in 1941, a drop of nearly 30 per cent. Arrests for careless driving totaled 1,505 as compared with a previous year's total of 1,988.

Campaign Under Way to Halt Fatal Accidents Among Farm Residents

Careless use of motor vehicles and farm machinery causes the deaths of more than 8,000 United States farm residents each year, Dean C. H. Bailey of University Farm pointed out in St. Paul this week as he urged farmers to observe safety precautions.

Dean Bailey's statement was given as the state participated in he opening of a new national wartime anti-accident crusade sponsored by the National Safety Council's War Production Fund to Conserve Manpower.

Chairman of a farm committee for the safety crusade, Dean Bailey asked farmers to study a safety leaflet, thousands of which are being distributed by such organizations as the Creamery Operators Association, Farm Bureau Federation, Rural Electrification Association and the University extension division's rural leaders.

"Unsafe conditions and unsafe practices cause the vast majority of farm mishaps," Dean Bailey said. "We all know what accidents do to farm production. And the nation's food needs just won't stand the loss of production due to these mishaps."

WAR WORKERS DRIVE TO WORK

A survey by federal highway officials show that 73 per cent of war plant employes go to work in automobiles. Ten per cent walk and two per cent use other means, such as bicycles. Eighty per cent of workers live from five to ten miles from plants.

CAMPAIGN OPENS ON VIOLATORS OF U. S. DRAFT LAW

Drive to Round up All Delinquents Slated to Open February 1

The nation-wide program to eliminate all selective service delinquents will have the fullest cooperation in Minnesota, Colonel J. E. Nelson, state director of selective service announced today. February 1 will bring the start of the drive to apprehend all selective service violators.

The delinquency program is designed to locate the following persons for compliance prosecution:

1. Those for whom the selective service system has no record. This includes those who have never registered, and those who have registered but whose registration cards have not reached their proper local boards because of illegible addresses or other defects in the completion of the cards.

2. Those for whom the selective service has a record. This class includes those who have registered but who has not followed some instructions of the local board because of failure to keep the board notified of their whereabouts, as well as those who have kept in touch with their local boards but are deliberate, known violators.

An appeal to the citizens of Minnesota was included in Colonel Nelson's statement. It was requested that anyone having information about suspected delinquents report that information immediately to the local board. If you know who has not registered, or who has not reported any change of status, or who has deliberately falsified his questionnaire, that information should be turned over to the nearest local board at once.

It was pointed out that neither arrest nor prosecution of violators of the selective service act is the function of the selective service system or its agents. The federal bureau of investigation investigates most of the cases, as the department of justice is the authorized enforcement agency. When there is suspected delinquency, the case is referred to the appropriate United States district attorney. Violaters of the act or its regulations are liable under the law to a maximum fine of $10,000, or five years in prison, or both.

In accordance with the delinquency program, it was announced that registrants are required to carry at all times their classification card as well as their registration certificate. This regulation applies to those registrants between the ages of 18 to 38 who have been subject to registration for as long as six months. Registrants in the 45 to 65-year-old group are not affected by the order.

U. S.-China Pact Signed in Washington

A treaty has been signed between the United States and China for the relinquishment of extraterritorial rights in China, and for the regulation of related matters. The treaty was signed in Secretary of State Cordell Hull's office. The Chinese ambassador, Dr. Wei Taoming, is using a brush pen. This is the first time that the language of the Chinese has been used in signing a treaty. Secretary Hull is shown at the right.

Bill Is Introduced for Benefit of State Judges

A bill introduced in the state senate Friday includes a plan sponsored by Senators A. O. Sletvold, Detroit Lakes, Alfred Solstad, Fisher, and K. G. Neumeier, Stillwater, for retirement of aged and disabled judges.

When a supreme court justice or judge of district court reaches 70, or becomes unable to perform his duties, he may apply to the governor for retirement, the bill provides. The governor may then declare the office vacant.

The retired justice or judge would receive full pay for the remainder of the term for which he had been elected, and subject to minimum service limits, half pay for the remainder of his life.

Rep. Hagen Seeks Aid for Missionary in Mongolia

Representative Harold Hagen is enlisting the aid of Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the Chinese generalissimo, in an attempt to send funds to Josefine Olson, widow of a missionary in Mongolia.

K. Z. Wong, secretary to the Chinese embassy informed Hagen that Madame Kai-shek would be contacted as soon as she is physically able to handle her work. She is recuperating in a New York hospital from an operation.

Hagen said Mrs. Olson is without funds and that attempts to send money, donated by Lutherans in Gully and other Minnesota communities, was prevented by a ruling of the state department prohibiting sending of money to individuals in China through the regular channels.

EGG DEALERS WARNED

Office of Price Administration officials have issued warnings to all egg dealers that they must observe price ceilings based on last September 28—October 2 price levels in all transactions except those for drying plants and lend-lease. Checks show ceilings have been violated from ¼ of a cent to two cents a dozen, OPA officials said.

Hoffman Addresses Annual Meeting of General Contractors

As a significant example of how drastically reduced travel and other wartime conditions will affect state highway revenues in Minnesota, Highway Commissioner M. J. Hoffman disclosed to the annual state convention of the Associated General Contractors last week that, even with tax rates remaining at present levels, the state expects receipts from road-user taxes to decline approximately 24½ millions of dollars during the next two years.

Commissioner Hoffman cited comparative figures from the department's biennial budget estimates submitted to the state commissioner of administration for the current fiscal biennium, extending from July 1, 1941 to June 30, 1943, and those recently submitted for the coming fiscal biennium, from July 1 to June 30 of 1945.

The highway department's actual receipts for the biennium to date coupled with anticipated receipts between now and next June 30, as set out in the current biennial budget, average $25,441,000 for each year. Actual and anticipated expenditures for the same period average $24,515,000 a year, including a $1,040,000 departmental reserve for the present fiscal year.

In the budget requests recently submitted to the state commissioner of administration for the next two fiscal years, beginning July 1, state highway revenues were estimated at an average of $13,320,000 a year and budgeted expenditures average $13,506,600.

This estimated drop of $24,224,000 in departmental income from state sources is due principally to the drastic decline in gasoline tax receipts and the anticipated falling off of motor vehicle license fee revenues, under rationing and other wartime restrictions, even though present tax rates are retained.

The estimated cut of $22,017,000 in trunk highway expenditures is not only a necessary consequence of declining revenues, but is also the result of emergency restrictions which have virtually halted major trunk highway improvements by construction for the duration of the war.

Thousands of British-made Lend-Leased barrage balloons now protect the West Coast of the United States.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

LEGISLATURE GOES AHEAD IN SECOND MONTH

NEW BILL WOULD CUT LIQUOR SALE HOURS

Dozen Proposals Introduced to Ease Burden of State Income Taxes

With first month of their session gone, members of the Minnesota Legislature this week found issues accumulating which will provide occasion for debate and produce, if passed, far-reaching repercussions in local communities throughout the state.

Thrown into the legislative hopper this week were two measures, calculated to attract attention throughout the state

A bill was introduced by Representatives S. C. Odenborg, J. E. Therrien and A. J. Powers, three members from rural sections of the state, repealing provisions of the present law which has exempted the first $4,000 of the value of a homestead from state taxes, except for the small amount required for payment of debt which was incurred before passage of the homestead exemption. The state tax for 1942 on this $4,000 of homestead property was 1.61 mills, compared to a state tax of 9 mills on other property.

Senators Harry Wahlstrand and O. J. Finstad introduced a bill which would prohibit the sale of liquor or beer after 10 P. M. and before 11 A. M.

Senators Walstrand and Finstad are basing their plea for earlier closing for liquor and beer sales on the ground that this added protection is needed for young people.

Sharp debates are in prospect over this measure. Nor is this the only bill in the field of liquor control that has shown up, with the elements required to precipitate debate. Another bill just introduced in the House would prohibit the granting of licenses for the sale of either beer or liquor outside the corporate limits of "existing cities and villages." Efforts to eliminate taverns in country communities, waged unsuccessfully in past sessions, apparently are going to be renewed with new force this session.

Though taking away the exemption from the state tax, the homestead bill just introduced does not alter the preference granted owners of homesteads in classification of their property for tax purposes. The first $4,000 of value of homesteads for some years has been assessed at 25% of the full and true value in cities and villages instead of 40% for other property, and at 20% in the country instead of 33 ⅓%, the rate for general property.

Mr. Benson this week announced the following committee chairmanships to be filled by directors during the current year: Roy Oen, budget and membership; H. A. Baumann, roads; W. M. Entire Staff of County Personnel Is Urged to be Present

The first meeting of all Pennington county civilian defense workers, estimated to number more than 1,000, will be conducted in the municipal Auditorium next Wednesday evening, February 10, at 8 o'clock.

The principal speaker, who will be introduced by Supt. Morris Bye, will be Allan Briggs of St. Paul, chief of staff of the state civilian defense organization, who also will confer certificates on all workers with a record of fifty hours or more of service.

Heads of the county setup urged the attendance of all airplane spotters, air raid wardens, auxiliary police and firemen, as well as of the 450 Victory Aides. The public also is invited to be present.

Musical features of the program will include a short concert by the Lincoln high school band, selections by the high school mixed octet, and vocal solos by Tony Helm, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Harold F. Harrison.

One out of every 11 persons in the state, a total of 253,155, are now trained and working in the many important volunteer civilian defense programs in Minnesota, according to figures released last week by Mr. Briggs, in a report submitted to Governor Harold E. Stassen.

"This record is indeed a compliment to the citizens of the state," stated Briggs. "However, we can not and must not rest upon the laurel of this accomplishment; but must ever increase and develop civilian defense in Minnesota so that every citizen is doing some volunteer work."

Breaking down the total figure, the report showed that 105,526 persons were enrolled in the various programs of the U. S. Citizens' Service Corps unit which deals with community war service programs, while 86,361 persons have been mobilized in the U. S. Citizens' Defense Corps.

Lively Discussion Is Feature of PTA Monday

The February meeting of the Parent-Teacher association Monday evening in the Lincoln high school auditorium was featured by a lively discussion of the part the United States should play in the post-war world. While no conclusions were reached, the discussion, as Lloyd Bennes, president of the association, said, served to clarify the picture and give the audience some food for thought.

Speakers included Lincoln Arnold, who talked on the nation's economic situation after the war; H. O. Chommie, who dealt with an international organization with powers to insure a lasting peace; and Rev. S. S. Olafsson, who discussed the religious and moral aspects. G. H. Mayer-Oakes, scheduled to be the fourth speaker, was confined to his home with illness.

Mr. Arnold stated that we must prepare for a planned economy in the post-war world, in which the goal of production must not be profit alone. An economy properly regulated by the government, he said, would provide an adequate living for all citizens.

Mr. Chommie declared that, with the world in a state of anarchy, the time has come when law should be introduced into international relations. He proposed the organization of a super-government based on the plan of the League of Nations, which would have the power to enforce laws governing the behavior of individual nations, and he added that the nations must be prepared to give up some of the rights and privileges they have enjoyed in the past.

Reverend Olafsson, the final speaker, said that an enduring civilization cannot be built on unrighteousness, and that this fact should be borne in mind when the time comes to reestablish peace. We must, he said, be able to look on all citizens of the world as brothers if future wars are to be averted.

Following their talks the speakers were questioned briefly by each other and by members of the audience.

Musical features of the program included two well rendered violin solos by Donald F. Rogers, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Harold F. Harrison, and two selections by the high school brass quartet consisting of Robert Melby, Evangelyn Iverson, Morris Owen and Jean Effinger.

At the close of the evening lunch was served by members of the school faculty.

HANDLE MOTORS CAREFULLY

Because of an acute shortage of electric motors in North Dakota and the difficulty in obtaining copper for rewinding motors make it necessary for owners to exercise care in maintaining them, according to Paul W. Fawcett, acting district manager of the War Production Board. He suggested early checkups to assure the adequacy of the motors and the forestalling of breakdowns requiring extensive repairs.

RATION MEDICAL SERVICES

Medical services probably will have to be rationed for some time after the war, officials of the United States health service say as a result of surveys now being completed. "Luxury" medical services will have to be eliminated, among them going to the hospital for a "rest", having private nurses when they're not needed, and having a hospital diagnosis when the task can be performed in the doctor's office. Calling the doctor instead of going to his office also may have to be eliminated.

DEMONSTRATIONS ON FARM MEAT TO BE GIVEN TUESDAY

Methods of Cutting, Curing and Canning Meats to be Shown

Demonstrations will be given on the farm meats supply program at a meeting to be held in the court room in the court house Tuesday, February 9, County Agent, Ernest Palmer said today.

During the forenoon, a demonstration will be given on the proper cutting of beef, pork, and lamb and on curing pork. During the afternoon session, demonstrations will be given on canning of meats. Indications are that farmers will be particularly interested in the farm meat supply program. Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, states that farmers are not only perfectly free to butcher hogs and other animals for home use but they ought to do their normal amount of home butchering. This year it is more important than ever that farm families produce as much of their own meat as possible to lessen the strain on transportation and on commercial processing plants.

Along with the need for butchering the same number of animals this year goes the need for making that number go further than in the past. This means extra care with curing and extra precautions to use the meat wisely and make it last as long as possible.

Specialists from University Farm, St. Paul, will be present at the demonstrations. The public is invited to attend.

More Details Given on New Point Ration Plan

The rationing of canned fruits and vegetables, to become effective when the point system is inaugurated, is aimed at the conservation of food products and to assure every American of his equal share of food to eat, George W. Werstlein, chairman of the local war price and rationing board, explained today in further commenting on the forthcoming program.

He said, "We cannot afford to waste food at a time like this or give some individuals more than their fair share. That is the reason why canned fruits and vegetables are going to be rationed."

In buying rationed items, he urged the housewife to spend her points as wisely and sparingly as she does her money. Extravagant spending of points can be more disastrous than extravagant spending of money. No matter how much money one has, rationed items cannot be purchased without points.

"If you run out of points you can't tell your grocer to 'charge them'. Points due, are spot 'cash," Mr. Werstlein said.

When point rationing becomes effective, the person doing the buying will use the coupons in War Ration Book Two when purchasing any of the rationed processed foods. Before making a purchase, study the cost of the item in points before purchasing. Should the item you plan to purchase rate a high point value it is suggested that you consider a related commodity of a lower point value as a possible substitute. In this manner points will be conserved and food of which there is a greater supply will be used permitting an equalization between scarce commodities and those more plentiful.

Every rationed item will take points as well as money. When paying the grocer points, tear out the exact amount in the presence of the grocer or delivery boy. The grocer cannot make change in points.

Mr. Werstlein emphasized not to use more stamps than needed to make up the total points due. For example, if the food you buy, calls for 13 points it is better to tear out an 8-point and a 5-point stamp than two 5-point stamps, a two and a one-point stamp. Save the smaller point stamps for items of low point value.

The price of the article will in no way determine its point value and point values of identical items will be the same in all states in the country regardless of any variance in price. The government will establish the different points for each item no matter what the price. Point values will not change because of price changes, but only when warranted by the available supply.

Every person in the household, including children of any age will have 48 points to use in obtaining rationed foods during any one rationing period. All blue stamps marked A, B, and C, will be valid during the first period only. The red stamps in War Ration Book two will be used at a later date for the rationing of meat.

Coffee and sugar will not be rationed under the point plan, but will continue to be rationed under War Ration Book One.

LET'S PLAY THE GAME

Making a little go a long way is a fascinating game. Penney customers had been playing it long before it became a patriotic duty. Penney's has always helped people get what they need for what they have to spend.

Now in addition, you must make what you get last a long time, by repairing anything that can be kept in use.

Then, too, you must consider well before buying, going only to stores where you can depend on value and wearing quality. That's why Penney's is becoming the favorite of more and more thrifty Americans every day.

VICTORY GARDENS MAJOR JOB DURING COMING SUMMER

Big-Scale Program Mapped by U. S. Department of Agriculture

Thumbing thru seed catalogs is more than a pastime as civilians view the possibility of bare grocery shelves next winter and begin serious planting of victory gardens. Goal set by the agriculture department for 1943 is 12,000,000 gardens on city, town and suburban plots and 6,000,000 on farms.

For someone who is raising a garden for the first time, the same old garden rules hold, says E. M. Hunt, extension horticulturist, University Farm, who emphasizes the importance of careful planning ahead and getting information on how to grow things properly. If you have the space, the time and ability, gardening is a paying proposition, he says.

1. Look over available space to see whether it is suitable for a garden or needs fertilizer or other attention. You can't grow a garden worth the effort on a cinder pile or under shade trees.
2. Check over the crops that will help cut the budget and furnish needed vitamins. Don't end up with a ton of Swiss chard and radishes and nothing to show for your efforts next winter.
3. Watch timing for successful gardening. Ask someone who really knows, or supply yourself with literature informing you of such matters as planting dates and pest control.
4. Get your seed early. Don't get more than you need.

system of classification of property for taxation, with provisions giving special preference to different groups, often has been called unsound by tax authorities, getting it changed is difficult. The present bill is sure to occasion considerable debate.

Though few bills have been passed by the Legislature, introduction of bill and discussion among members has begun to show the course of legislative thinking, and, indirectly, public opinion on many matters. Among them:

State income tax—Fully a dozen bills have been introduced to ease the burden of state income taxes, either by lowering rates or increasing deductions or a combination of the two. Representatives of labor districts in the cities and farm communities alike have joined in presenting bills, indicating the widespread concern over the greatly increased federal income taxes.

Old age assistance— Senator J. V. Weber started it off by presenting a bill raising the maximum allowance from $30 to $35, following Governor Stassen's recommendation for an increase, and some twenty-five men in the two houses now have their names on old age assistance increase bills. All are agreed there will be an increase. Only the amount is in question.

BY SENATOR W. E. DAHLQUIST

St. Paul opened a three day preparedness program Saturday afternoon with an impressive parade. A large number of military motorized and marching units gave it bulk and to me the army's mechanized units were especially interesting. The parade was a little short on music, however. Emmett Wright and Alex Cloutier agree that parades should be heard as well as seen and I think they could have brightened this one up considerably for the 100,000 spectators who lined the streets.

As one who remembers too well the clothing that was issued to soldiers in the last war I marvel at the uniforms our fighting men are now wearing. They are designed to be comfortable and have a made-to-measure appearance that indicates tailors must be employed in the issuing quarters. This probably means higher costs but the added expense certainly is justified by the improved morale.

The young fellows strut around like good soldiers should strut. In the parade some of the marching units had the snap of a West Point graduating class. And incidentally, the soldiers and sailors I see around the cities are orderly and well mannered. The more I see of our men in uniform the more convinced I become that Uncle Sam is doing a swell job of training them. Our country may eventually become degenerate and flabby but that isn't going to happen in our time. To me the preparedness parade was an impressive spectacle.

Appointment of Chester Wilson to succeed William L. Strunk as Commissioner of Conservation is meeting with general approval hereabouts. He has an excellent background of experience to qualify him for the office and those who know him personally agree that he has a knack for getting along with people that will help him over the rough spots. And for the head of this department there always are rough spots.

As long as the memory of man runneth not to the contrary the Conservation Department has been in constant turmoil, most of the difficulties coming out of the Game and Fish branch of the business. Game and Fish is a small part of the Department's responsibility. There are many divisions such as Forestry, Drainage and Waters, State Parks, Lands and Minerals, the Tourist Bureau, the Bureau of Information and Publicity, along with law enforcement agencies, etc. In these other divisions the Commissioner's relations with the public are limited and the relationships are with ordinary people.

Not so in the Division of Game and Fish however. Here the Commissioner serves a hundred thousand experts, no two of whom agree on any one thing. A man doesn't have to shoot a gun or wet a line very often before he becomes an authority on everything out of doors. No matter how reasonable a fellow he may be in other respects, once he has hunted or fished enough to become talkative about it he can be depended upon to become a noisy participant in every argument. That's why I like men who hunt and fish, but I wouldn't care to be the head of the Game and Fish department.

It might interest you hunters and fishers of our territory to know that the Sportsmen's Clubs of Northwestern Minnesota are highly respected by department officials down here. Several of them have spoken to me of the co-operation they receive from that corner of the state. They appreciate the fact that you fellows pin each other's ears back in meetings and that by the time your suggestions or complaints get down here they have received careful consideration by a responsible group. I suspect, too, that they appreciate the fact that the clubs in our corner of the state have not been dominated by politically minded leaders.

Leaders of the State's dairy industries brought a bill into our committee on Dairy Products and Live Stock last week that caused more controversy than I thought necessary. The bill would give to the Commissioner of Agriculture the right to establish the standards for milk and milk products during the emergency. The Federal government has lowered some of the fat content standards and this bill would enable the Commissioner to make whatever changes might be necessary in state standards to conform to the national program without specific legislative approval.

Ice cream was cited as one of the dairy products that may be adversely affected if standards are not changed. The present fat content of ice cream, established by state law, is 12% and if less than 12% of fat is used the product would have to be labeled "ice milk." Under federal rationing of dairy products, now effective, butterfat available for the manufacture of ice cream has been greatly reduced and manufacturers will either have to reduce production or start marketing ice milk, which can legally contain as little as 2% fat.

Dairy industry leaders are afraid that if ice milk is marketed it will prove popular, as it already has in some states, and the market for ice cream will be permanently injured. They would rather have the ice cream fat content requirements lowered temporarily than to have ice milk gain a foothold on the market, as oleo and other [illegible] foods have done.

Opponents to the idea objected because it would give the Commissioner of Agriculture too much power, a power which he already exercises in the regulation of most food products. I can see no cause for such alarm in this instance and so I probably will go along as one of the authors of the bill. Dairy specialists of our state farm school and such organizations as Land O'Lakes must have a fair idea of what is best for the [illegible] they represent.

A bill that would enable school districts to operate their schools on Saturdays and holidays appealed to members of the Education committee as a sensible emergency measure that would shorten the school year and give students more time for farm work in the rush seasons. You wouldn't think a little idea like that would cause much of an argument but I guess everything is controversial. To some people Saturday is the Sabbath and to them operation of the public schools on that day would be objectionable.

Senator Rockne went home happy one day last week. A young fellow in the Treasurer's office, who handles liquor and beer stamps, requested $30,000 for stamp purchases and salaries. He pointed out that in 1937 $112,000.00 had been paid for stamps alone. This record brought a word of commendation from "The Rock" and when, two days later, he mentioned the incident again, I knew that his approval was sincere. The old man has a memory like an elephant. His years of usefulness are necessarily drawing to a close but from what I have observed of him, and heard about his record, he has been a good man for the State of Minnesota.

Second oldest man on the Finance committee is Senator Bridgeman of Bemidji, retired railroad engineer. Youngsters on the committee, like me, were told to find places at the foot of the table. Rockne and Bridgeman sit at the head. They are a strange combination. Rockne comes from a rich district in Southern Minnesota, a lawyer by profession, who owns farms and a newspaper for diversion. Bridgeman represents the poor north and speaks for organized labor. By the usual standards their interests are diametrically opposed, but they get along swell together. Both are able, experienced and honest. Maybe that's enough to have in common. Certainly they have a profound respect for each other.

I see by the paper that the Prowlers are going great guns again and the Hornets are coming thru consistently. I will be back in town this week-end and hope the schedules will permit me to see both these teams in action. And I'd like to be counted in on that bowling tournament too if it isn't too late to enter. After being gone more than a month, the longest I have been away from town in eighteen years, I really am looking forward to the visit.

One of the reasons I am so anxious to get back home is to find out how the war is coming along. Down here the only information I get is what I dig out of the papers or hear on the radio. I miss those direct-from-the-feed-box contacts that I had in Thief River Falls. There were a half a dozen places along the street that I could drop into and get the real low down on what was going to happen where and when and why. Down here I haven't met a fellow yet who knows when the war is going to end. I'll be seeing you.

SO "HE'S JUST A PRIVATE"

(Montevideo News)

As soon as the important business of the holidays has been tended to, the writer of this piece intends to start a crusade for formation of The National Association to Expunge from American Speech the saying: "Oh, He's Just a Private."

Too many civilians, when giving a soldier's rank say in an apologetic tone, "He's only a private." What are they thinking of, "only". The private is the guy who does most of the dirty work in a war. And that's the kind of work there is most of.

Without the privates how would a commissioned officer look, or a sergeant, moving into a scrap? His shoulder insignia of rank, and his stripes, wouldn't help him. It's the power of the privates that gives authority to the trappings of rank.

Let's quit thinking and saying that the private doesn't amount to much. Remember, he is the main works.

Funny thing, in a war for democracy, how everybody gets class-conscious. With much fuss about rank and awards. Carried to the extent that people get to where they believe the system calls for apologies for being a soldier in the ranks.

All other ex-privates are invited to join us in this crusade.

INCOME TAXES MUST BE PAID

Don't be lulled into any state of false complacency by stories from Washington that indicate a "pay-as-you-go" tax plan may be enacted at this session of congress.

Regardless of what action may be taken, the March 15 income tax payment is going to fall due and MUST be paid. This means that some 43,000,000 taxpayers, fully half of whom never have paid Federal income taxes before, will be required to meet one fourth of their 1942 income levy by that date.

The United States treasury department and high congressional leaders all have made that fact clear.

Randolph E. Paul, general counsel of the treasury department, has branded as "entirely baseless rumors" the reports that any "pay-as-you-go" tax plan "would make it unnecessary for taxpayers to pay their March 15 installments." Senate and house leaders concur.

So, if you haven't already done so, start preparing NOW to meet that tax installment. It's the patriotic wartime duty of every citizen to do so.

PROMISING QUALIFICATIONS

(Grand Rapids Herald-Review)

The appointment of Chester Wilson as conservation commissioner may prove to be a good one.

We do not know that Mr. Wilson claims to be a conservationist. He may, or may not, be acquainted with the characteristics of wild life or know nature as it runs, swims or flies. However, he has two advantages.

One is acquaintance with the law. That is an attribute of no mean importance for a high public official.

The other possession is a reputation for intelligence and integrity. That Chester Wilson has.

No doubt the appointment will meet with general public acceptance. Certainly adverse judgment should be reserved until there are acts and policies which can form the basis of an opinion.

NICE WORK IF YOU CAN GET IT

(Wadena Pioneer-Journal)

The suggestion recently coming out from Washington that farmers might raise for themselves 300 to 500 pounds of fish a year by building a fish pond on their farms, certainly sounds like, step by step, the master minds are going to bring a Utopia to their people. Such a luxury would really be wonderful, if its realization were as easy as the suggestion makes out.

Unfortunately, though, there seems to be something more to raising fish than just the mere planting of them in a back yard pool. Any game and fish authority will tell you that if that were all that is needed, Minnesota's ten thousand lakes would be teeming with fish. However, certain lakebeds are no good for this or that kind of fish. Feeding conditions are very particular to the survival and growth of fish and many other problems involve control in fish management.

Maybe fish could be raised, but what about the freezing to the bottom of an average farm pool in winter. Winter killing is one of the most serious threats to fish life in Minnesota.

Yes sir, it would be nice work if one could get it, and we are sure that the farmer would not find it difficult to get plenty of help from town folk at harvest time.

NOT SO SLOW

Sandy arrived at Euston station in London when noon was striking. He called a taxi, asked the driver to take him to Waterloo station, mentioned that he had a train to catch at three o'clock.

Scenting a greenhorn, the taxi driver made a long detour, and for nearly three hours Sandy sat back enjoying the sights of London.

At two-fifty the taxi drew up at Waterloo, the driver all smiles. Sandy hopped out and darted up to a policeman.

"What is the taxi fare from Euston to Waterloo?" he asked.

The policeman told him. Sandy handed him the money.

"Would you mind paying my fare, officer?" he said. "I've a train to catch." Then he dived into the station.

Answer

I bought a dozen eggs one day
Each one contained a chick
I went back to the grocer, and
Put up an awful kick;

The grocer tried to smooth it out
Said he, "If you prefer
To have your eggs quite free from chicks
Just try our goose eggs, sir."

"I often wonder who those fellows are that loaf around watching a new building going up."

"Easy! They are men who start out in the morning to look for work and compromise by looking at it."

Woof! Woof!

In order to defend himself he licked the dog. Just then the owner appeared and yelled:

"Hey, stop licking that dog. He ain't mad."

"Mad!" said the stranger angrily, "of course he ain't—what in thunder has he got to be mad about? It's me that's mad."

Flea Story

Smith—Is that dog of yours smart?

Brown (proudly)—Smart? Well, I should say so! I was going out with him yesterday, and I stopped and said "Towser, we have forgotten something!" And he sat down and scratched his head to see if he could think what it was!

Jap Marine Flag

Looking Backward

1933—TEN YEARS AGO

The municipal Audit rium and all its contents, together with the adjoining Northern Chevrolet Co. garage and 12 of the 16 cars and trucks housed in it, were completely destroyed in a disastrous fire February 7. 1923—TWENTY YEARS AGO

The February term of district court here was postponed because of the illness of Judge Andrew Grindeland.—A section of the old Knox school purchased from School District 18 by St. Bernard's school went thru the ice as contractors were moving it across Red Lake River just south of the Soo depot.—H. Status of Danzig

A thousand years ago Danzig was a peaceful Polish fishing village, Gyddanizc, at the mouth of the Vistula river. Pomeranian dukes captured and fortified the city in 1150; it was returned to Polish domination in 1252.

Teutonic knights seized the city in 1308, but their rule lasted only until 1466 when the territory was returned to Poland. In 1772, when Poland was partitioned for the first time, Germany absorbed the hinterland but left the city more or less free. But in the second Polish partition in 1793, Germany absorbed the city as well.

Napoleon restored Danzig to free city status for the seventh change. In 1814 it was returned to Germany and remained a part of the German empire until World war treaties made it Poland's outlet to the sea.

Distillation Points

Distillation range tests provide an indication of the volatility of a gasoline. Volatility should be such that the engine will start easily, warm up quickly, accelerate satisfactorily, operate without crankcase dilution and be free from vapor lock.

The 10 per cent point in the distillation test is the point at which the temperature shown has evaporated 10 per cent of the gasoline. This point is used in determining the ease of starting the engine. Low temperatures at this point indicate quick starting.

This 10 per cent point is also used together with the vapor pressure, to estimate the tendency to vapor lock. A low temperature combined with a high vapor pressure, may cause vapor lock, particularly in warm weather.

Savoy Popular Name

The popularity of "Savoy" as a name for motion picture houses in the United States traces back to the Duchy of Savoy in France, though it comes indirectly through the theater of that name in London's Strand, says a National Geographic society bulletin. England's Henry III in 1236 had married a niece of Peter of Savoy, to whom the English king gave a palace on the banks of the Thames. It later was the site of the Savoy hospital. A theater built in this vicinity was given the name "Savoy," and was long the scene of the Gilbert and Sullivan light operas.

Sheet Test for Jelly

To make the sheet test for jelly take up a small amount of juice in a spoon, allow it to drop from the side; when the drops flow together and form a sheet or film from the spoon, the jelly is done.

The Word 'Sabotage'

The original act of sabotage is said to have been the slipping of the wooden shoe or "sabot" of a workman into a loom, in the early days of machine production, in order to lessen the output. This explains satisfactorily the origin of the French noun "sabotage" which has been taken over into English. Webster's New International Dictionary, however, associates the word with the French verb "saboter" meaning "to work hastily and carelessly" from "sabot" a clumsy wooden shoe.

A Man's Mummy

A man's best friend is his mummy, Lyman Chatfield indicated, but only so long as he can support it in the style to which it has become accustomed. Indicating he no longer is in a position to give it the proper care, Chatfield has offered the mummy for sale. He obtained it 25 years ago in Peru and it is believed to be the only reclining, privately owned mummy in the country. It dates from the Twelfth century and is believed to be that of a pre-Inca child.

An Accident

Tikitiki

Thousands and thousands of Orientals suffered appallingly for generations from a polyneuritis they called beriberi. It was discovered this was cured by eating unpolished rice or by taking as a medicine an extract of the rice polishings. No, it wasn't called vitamin B, but vitamin B it was, under the nom de plume of tikitiki.

Tones System

Milk contains thiamine (vitamin B) which combats nervousness, irritability and fatigue; as well as riboflavin (vitamin B2) which is essential to the maintenance of positive and buoyant health. Milk also helps maintain the normal alkalinity of the blood.

Uncle Sam Thinks Four-Leaf Clovers Are Lucky

You may have wondered why if you find one four-leaf clover you will soon find another nearby, as likely as not. If these leaves were traced back to their creeping stems they would be found usually to originate in one plant. But here is another odd point: if the whole plant, tremendous roots and all, were unearthed and separated from other plants it would probably reveal some leaves divided into three, some into four, and some into five, six, or even seven leaflets.

A public exhibit in the patio of the U. S. Department of Agriculture building in Washington will set forth these findings.

But the gospel of clover for luck, beginning ages ago, has long been preached by our agricultural experts. For instance, in 1931 clover-and-prosperity meetings were held in 114 Missouri counties. In that year in Alabama more than 8,000,000 pounds of clover and other winter-legume seeds were planted.

The benefits to the farmer include enriching the soil for subsequent crops when the clover, roots and stubble, or "green manure" is turned under the sod, and providing excellent pasture for livestock. In Virginia the regular turning under of one variety of clover for five years increased the annual corn yield from a maximum of 18 bushels per acre to 59 bushels. Similar results in various states prove that the farmer who plants clover can grow his own luck.

$200,000 Worth of Worms From Maine Clam Flats

Harvesting of these species which are sold as an A-1 bait mostly for sports fishermen in metropolitan areas was originally limited to clam flats between [illegible] and [illegible] Harbor. Now it has extended to the easternmost boundaries and on every clam flat groups of men are making a living digging worms.

ST. HILAIRE BOWS FRIDAY NIGHT TO RED LAKE FALLS

Winners Rally in the Final Period to Take Game 25 to 17

A rangy Red Lake Falls team, which indicated that it would be a district title threat, out-finished St. Hilaire, scoring nine points in the final period, to defeat the Saints, 25 to 17, in a game played on the St. Hilaire floor Friday night. The game, which was featured by the strong defensive play of both teams, was a nip-and-tuck struggle with St. Hilaire knotting the score several times during the contest.

ROSEAU JUNIORS TAKE HOCKEY TILT FROM LOCALS 5-2

Visiting Team Reinforced by Several Warroad Players

In an exciting hockey game played here Sunday afternoon, and which was enlivened by a free-for-all in the final period, the Roseau Juniors, reinforced by several Warroad players, defeated the Arena Juniors, 5 to 2.

The locals picked up a one-goal advantage in the first period when Bob Baker's shot, from a sharp angle, found the nets, and they held the lead until the second period when Wold and Stoskoph counted goals for Roseau. Wold gave Roseau a 3 to 1 lead with a goal mid-way in the final period, but Mouse Efteland, taking a pass from Baker, went in to beat Ken Austin and slice the Roseau margin.

Prowlers Nose Out EGF; Bemidji Coming Friday

The Prowlers, playing "cold" basketball, were very nearly upset by East Grand Forks Thursday squeezing out a nervous 32 to 28 win in a game played on the Green Wave floor. Friday night, on the local floor, coach Hanna's team will attempt to halt the 13-game winning streak of Glenn Barnum's Bemidji Lumberjacks. The game, which is expected to be one of the season's features, will find the Prowlers seeking to reverse the 47 to 32 lacing handed the locals by the Lumberjacks in a December game.

East Grand Forks, strengthened by the return of Harold Johnson and Clyde Babcock to the line-up, went into an early lead in Friday's contest, with Luverne Nustad marking up a field goal and Lowell Kelly notching a pair of free throws. Don Berg looped in a free throw for the first Prowler point, and then pivoted in for a field goal. Milt Relerson's free throw knotted the score. Al Moen, the game's high point man, then tossed in the first of a series of remarkable heaves, an overhand hook shot from the corner of the court and which found the net. Relerson sliced in for two field goals, and McKechnie shoved in a field goal and then followed with a free throw, and the Prowlers held an 11 to 6 first period lead.

Al Moen, making a pair of sensational one-handed tosses, connected for two field goals, and when "Red" Johnson hoisted in a field goal, East Grand Forks took over a 12 to 11 lead in the early minutes of the second period. Relerson and Bob Abbott tallied Prowler field goals, and coach Hanna's charges eased into a lead they held the balance of the game. Jack Melby, who played a superb defensive game, recovering rebounds and blocking numerous Green Wave basket tries, drove in for a field goal to give the Prowlers an 18 to 15 edge at the half.

Moen's field goal opened the second half scoring, and it peeled the locals lead to one point; but Berg netted two field goals, and after Johnson and Moen had marked up free throws, Berg and McKechnie added another pair of Prowler goals. East Grand Forks trailed by a 27 to 19 score as the final period opened, but on Moen's two field goals and free throws by Kelly and Moen, the Green Wave had whittled the Prowler lead to two points, 27 to 25. Bill Bye and McKechnie flipped in field goals to boost the locals margin to six points, but Nustad's free throw and Moen's seventh field goal, again brought the East Siders into a threatening position. Jack Melby was forced out of the game on personals with two minutes of play remaining, and the Prowlers, with their defensive ace off the floor, went into a semi-stall to protect their lead. Bill McKechnie, who shared scoring honors for the locals with 9 points, marked up the game's final point when he tossed in a free throw.

ANTI-FREEZE PRICES CUT

New price ceilings of 35 to 65 cents a gallon for substitutes for anti-freeze solutions have been ordered by the OPA for these products, now banned by the War Production Board because they damage automobile motors. Substitutes made from calcium chloride, formerly sold for $2.65 a gallon, were dropped to 75 and 85 cents a gallon. Those made from kerosene and naptha were cut from $1.50 a gallon to 35 and 45 cents.

Frank Kobliska's 564 total and Honey Dempster's 492 score, were the high individual totals posted.

A large number of bowlers have made reservations to bowl on Saturday and Sunday, with several of last week's bowlers also planning on re-entering the tournament.

The program included the presentation of four reels of war movies by H. A. Baumann, assisted by Rudy Larson; and songs by Kenton Mullen, accompanied on the piano by Harold F. Harrison.

A resolution was adopted in favor of a statewide fox bounty. The club also voted the sum of $10 to the Red Cross chapter to aid in financing service kits for men entering the army.

Accepted subject to audit was the treasurer's report submitted by E. O. Peterson. It revealed that $1,308.06 was handled during 1942, and that the year opened with cash on hand of $220.58.

A Treat Coming Up

Arrangements are being completed which will bring the Winnipeg Winter Club, one of the finest skating organizations in Canada, here for an exhibition at the Arena on Saturday, Feb. 27th. The Winter Club will make only one appearance in the states this season, and Thief River Falls is being given the privilege of being hosts for that appearance.

That Bemidji Game

Most of the fans, and most of the Prowlers, too, are primed for tomorrow night's game with Bemidji, and rightly, for it is one of the two "big" games remaining on the schedule, the other being the contest with the Crookston Pirates on the local floor on the 26th.

The Bemidji team that trots out on the floor tomorrow night will be an imposing outfit, and they will bring along an imposing record, too. Glenn Barnum's rangy squad boasts a 13-game winning streak, and included in that streak are such teams as Brainerd, Crosby-Ironton, St. Cloud Tech, Cass Lake, Bagley, and Little Falls. Not forgetting that the Prowlers, too, are in that Bemidji winning streak, having dropped a 47 to 32 decision to the Lumberjacks early in the season.

The Lumberjacks starting five—forwards Tommy Corrigan and Harlan Grover, center Phil Feir, and guards Jack Robbins and Clarence Crosby—will have inches in height and pounds in weight over the Prowlers. Feir towers 6 feet 4 inches, Grover is 6 feet 2 inches tall, and Corrigan and Crosby are six-footers. Only Robbins is in the medium-sized class, and he has grown considerably since he appeared here the last time.

But the Prowlers have come a long way since they lost that 47 to 32 game, and if speed and fight and ball-handling can overcome Bemidji's physical advantages, well, the Prowlers may make it interesting for the Lumberjacks.

Incidentally, the preliminary game should be worth noting too, for it brings the St. Hilaire team here as opposition for the Prowler 'B' team.

Hockey Night

Saturday night will be hockey night at the Arena and a tip-top game is on the schedule for the local fans. Oscar Almquist's Roseau high school team tangles with the Hornets and that means that coach Connie Stanbridge's boys will have to play at their sharpest to come out the victors, for Roseau always gets "up" for their games against Thief River.

How the Mighty Fell

Homer Matheson, the Pete Hunt of the senior class basketball team, barely had finished telling the world, or that part of it that would listen, about the undefeated record of his team in the high school intramural league, and how they were going to take the Juniors into camp. And here's what happened: on Tuesday afternoon, by a 26 to 20 score, Porky Weflen's Juniors upset the Seniors!

They Passed One Crisis

One of the crucial series in the Business League popped up last Friday night when the Thief River Pharmacy and the Eagles met in a three-game match, with the league lead at stake. The Pharmacy team had a "cold" 757 total in the first game, while the Eagles came through with an 862 total, counting their 28-pin handicap. Frank Kobliska's 204 score, the only 200 game bowled during the series, piloted the Pharmacy to a 24-pin win in the second game; and in the third game of the match, the Pharmacy pulled out a 22-pin victory, 837 to 815. Harold Olson, pilot for the Eagles bumped into a streak of bad luck in the final game, running into five splits.

That Would be Something

It is rumored that Bob Petersen is going to select an all-star broom-ball hockey team and that these all-stars will play the River Valley team in a match. Having seen those River Valley boys play hockey last year, I have an idea that the local all-stars are in for a busy evening.

HORNETS, HALLOCK PLAY 4 TO 4 TIE IN OVERTIME TILT

Hallock Sextet Leads 4 to 1 at Finish of Second Period

The Hornets were held to a 4 to 4 tie by a fast skating Hallock high school team in a bitterly-contested overtime game played at Hallock Tuesday night. On Saturday night, Feb. 6th, on the arena ice, the Hornets will play the Roseau high school sextet.

The Hornets' 'kid' line, with Wes Hovie getting the counter, marked up the first goal in Tuesday night's game, but Hallock's strong-skating first line, knotted the count just before the period's end. And coming out for the second period Hallock tallied three rapid-fire goals to assume a 4 to 1 lead.

The final period found the sobered Hornets sniping away at the Hallock lead and finally tying the score. Johnny Efteland beat the Hallock goalie to tally the Hornets second goal, and Marlyn Dorn, on a solo, shoved in a score from close in. Lloyd "Sonny" Johnson, with Les Vignes getting the assist, flipped in the game-tying goal. Neither team was able to dent the laces in the overtime period.

He was the only grammar school youth out of 7,000 who have tried the test. The test is failed by more than 50 per cent of high school graduates and many college trained men.

LOCAL AVIATOR ON FLYING FORTRESS IN NORTH AFRICA

Ship Lost for Hours on Way Back to Britain from Casablanca

The pilot of a Flying Fortress who flew a high ranking United States officer from Great Britain to the "unconditional surrender" conference at Casablanca and back to Britain disclosed Friday that on the return trip his big bomber was lost for hours in fog and bad weather over the Atlantic before it made an emergency landing in Northern Ireland.

After an almost "zero" ceiling had forced him to fly for several hundred miles only 150 feet above the ocean, the pilot, Capt. Clifton Pyle of Makhall, Tex., said he sighted unfamiliar land which he and his crew finally determined was Eire.

Press dispatches stated that Vernon D. Myrin of Thief River Falls served as top turret gunner on the bomber. A brother of Clifford Myrin of this city, Vernon has been in the service since August, 1941, and went overseas last October.

Pyle said he was haunted by the fear he might be forced to land in neutral country with his high-ranking passenger and be interned there for the duration of the war. He made his gas "stretch" by thinning it with more than usual amount of oxygen and finally reached an airport in northern Ireland with his tanks nearly empty.

The crew refueled the plane and it again took off for England, only to run into more bad weather. Pyle decided to land at once when he sighted a balloon barrage.

Limit Placed on Home Stocks when Rationing of Canned Goods Begins

Five cans of foodstuffs is the maximum each person may have without penalty when canned goods rationing starts some three or four weeks from now, the OPA announced this week.

Individuals having more than five cans apiece when the rationing books are issued will be penalized by the loss of an 8-point stamp for each excess can, OPA said.

Home canned goods, canned baby foods, and cans containing less than eight ounces each will not be counted in the total.

The public will get the new ration books at registration places by displaying the No. 1 ration book containing sugar and coffee stamps. Each can purchased under the rationing program will have a point value. A can of peas, for example, might be worth 10 points and a can of corn seven point.

AN ICE SKATER AT THE RIPE OLD AGE OF 73

Chaska.—About 40 years ago John L. Schmidt learned to skate and he has never forgotten the thrill of gliding over the smooth ice on a pair of skates. During the intervening years he has had little time to keep up the sport but recently decided to again get his "daily dozen" on the ice. When he purchased a new pair of skates he wondered whether he would get the same big thrill. He did! Now, any morning Mr. Schmidt, age 73, may be seen enjoying his skating and strongly recommends the pastime to any who want to retain their youth.

NEW SOURCES OF CREDIT PROVIDED FOR STATE FARMS

Secretary Wickard Moves to Increase Agricultural Production

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard today announced a broadening of the Department of Agriculture's program to help farmers increase production in 1943. He made available through the Food Production Administration a new source of credit at the county level for the production of essential war-time food and fiber. Between $200,000,000 and $225,000,000 of additional funds become immediately available.

Under the new program loans will be made to producers upon approval of a Department of Agriculture county loan representative, and the chairman of the county USDA War Boards. Financing will be through the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation of Washington, D. C., a corporation under supervision of the Farm Credit Administration.

Individual loans will be limited only by the amount needed to do the production job. The loans will be for one agricultural season, not to exceed one year, but renewals may be granted under proper circumstances. Interest will be five per cent. Collateral will be first liens on the commodities, livestock or other items being financed.

Secretary Wickard emphasized that farmers will continue to have available all other sources of agricultural credit, including local banks, production credit associations, emergency crop and feed loans, and Farm Security Administration loans.

"The purpose of this program," Secretary Wickard said, "is to provide adequate financing to assure maximum wartime production of needed commodities. These loans will be made only if it will enable the borrower to engage in or increase his production of essential agricultural commodities. For an applicant to qualify for a loan his farming operation should afford every reasonable assurance that the indebtedness will be liquidated.

Theodore Wold, State Hotel Inspector, Lists Past Year's Activities

Splendid cooperation has been received by the state division of hotel inspection from the 22,210 licensed operators of hotels restaurants, resorts, and tourist camps, according to a report submitted to Governor Harold E. Stassen by Theodore T. Wold, director of the division.

Out of a total of 22,957 inspections made this year by the division's nine inspectors, only 881 orders to comply with state sanitation and fire prevention laws were issued. Due to verbal orders given by inspectors, and re-inspections to check compliance, the number of written orders had decreased 64%. Out of the 881 orders written, it was necessary to bring but six of the cases to court in order to affect compliance.

Total deposits for the license fees, arrears, and penalties collected in 1942 amounted to $90,604.22. A total of $40,000, was appropriated for the operation and maintenance of the division, the balance being turned in to the general revenue fund.

Too Much Speed, Lack of Tire Chains Blamed for Skidding Mishaps

Accident reports to the state highway department thus far this winter indicate that, despite aggravated slippery conditions caused by packed snow and ice, the great majority of motorists who have run off the roads in rural areas have come to grief because they were driving faster than the 35-mile-an-hour maximum wartime speed limit, or had neglected to put on tire chains.

Although new snow is slippery and hard to drive through when it reaches any substantial depth, the highway department in its traffic safety bulletin this week emphasized that the greatest peril of accidents from skidding comes with hard packed snow or underlying ice. Minnesota motorists have had an abundance of experience with both conditions this winter.

W. F. Rosenwald, traffic engineer of the department, warned motorists to watch their speeds more carefully than ever during the present season, abide strictly by the 35-mile-an-hour law, drive even slower when road conditions justify it, and also to see that their cars are properly equipped for winter before venturing out on packed snow or icy road surfaces.

"Inadequate traction and obscured vision," he pointed out, "are mainly responsible for traffic tie-ups and winter mishaps which hinder the Nation's war work." He advised drivers to be sure that their lights are adequate, and that their windshield wipers and defrosters are ship-shape during a storm or severe cold.

Trained Army Weathermen Ignore Old Gus Groundhog

Forecasters Rely Mainly on Science, Not Shadowy Superstition.

Whether old Gus Groundhog sees his shadow on February 2 is a matter of complete unconcern to a group of men vitally interested in everything pertaining to weather—the United States air forces.

Gus has been thoroughly discredited as a weather prophet. But the airmen of the army and navy never have depended on such unreliable factors as shadows, aching corns and rheumatism for meteorological information. Rather they look to fully trained scientists for their advance dope.

The painstaking work of the Enid, Okla., army flying school is typical. There are no holidays or vacations on the calendar of the air force weathermen. They are keeping 48 hours ahead of Mother Nature's whims 24 hours a day.

Here's their job, in brief:

They provide an accurate and complete description of the weather the pilot will encounter on his proposed flight.

They provide assistance to the pilot in planning his flight, or recommend change of flight plan if it seems advisable.

They recommend to the clearing authority that the pilot not be cleared for a flight when in the opinion of the forecaster weather conditions will cause the flight to be dangerous.

They recommend an alternate route when necessary, giving their reasons for the change.

Finally, they carefully distinguish between instrument and contact clearances.

A contact clearance is granted a pilot when the ceiling is above 1,000 feet and visibility is above three miles, enabling the pilot to see the ground at all times. A weather clearance is marked "instrument" when the ceiling is less than 1,000 feet and visibility is limited. If instrument conditions are anticipated within 100 miles on either side of the proposed route, the instrument clearance is issued.

The personnel of the EAFS weather office is divided into two groups, the observers and the forecasters. The observers record sky conditions, temperatures, dew point, wind direction, and wind speed, while the forecasters plot the information on maps and graphs.

Two weather observers at the Enid army flying school prepare to release a captive balloon to determine wind direction and speed aloft. Readings are taken every minute up to an altitude of 20,000 feet.

At 10:30 o'clock each morning, the observers send up a captive balloon, to determine wind direction and speed aloft. Readings are taken by radio signal every minute up to an altitude of 20,100 feet.

Other data are obtained from the microbarograph, a barometer which gives a continuous reading on a cylindrical graph. Affected by air pressure, the barometer indicates bad weather when it falls, and satisfactory conditions when it rises.

A wind recorder in the office gives a constant graph reading on wind speed and direction. The instruments which determine this are located on top of post operations building.

Courtesy NOW MEANS MORE THAN EVER ON A PARTY-LINE TELEPHONE

Copper and other materials are needed now for weapons of war . . . and cannot be used to build more telephone lines for civilian use.

This means that existing telephone facilities must be stretched and shared as far as possible to meet war-time needs—and that more and more people will be sharing party lines until Victory.

Since the best party-line service for all depends upon equal sharing of the line, it is doubly important right now that party-line users be courteous and thoughtful in their use of the telephone.

This involves sharing the line with others as you would like them to share it with you . . . being considerate in the number of calls and length of conversations . . . and hanging up carefully if the line is in use.

Women Sophia

Mrs. Kimball and Mrs. Worthington, dressed soberly and wearing their best black gloves, walked along the stony country road back toward Sophia Hardy's farm, to pay their visit of condolence.

"How do you reckon she'll be bearing up?" Mrs. Kimball asked Mrs. Worthington. Both ladies wore their most solemn, funereal expressions.

"A mighty severe blow," Mrs. Worthington said. "Mighty severe. To lose your only son, the mainstay of your declining years. And such a dreadful death, too—to go down with a ship. Mercy!"

"The first of our boys from Hand County to go, too," Mrs. Kimball said, mournfully. "I wouldn't blame Sophia Hardy for feeling right bitter."

"Come in!"

The voice was brisk and cordial. They looked up in surprise. Sophia herself had come to the door. As they followed her into the parlor they exchanged glances, with eyebrows lifted. Sophia was not even in mourning. The parlor shades were not even drawn.

"It's nice of you to come," Sophia said. "Do sit down."

"We came," Mrs. Kimball said almost reprovingly, "to tell you that our hearts are bleeding for you in your great loss."

"We know how lonely you must be out here," Mrs. Worthington said. "With nothing to take your mind off . . . off . . ." She sniffed and reached in her purse for a handkerchief.

"Oh, I keep busy," Sophia said. "I've just finished applying for the Government insurance on Tom's life."

"I want to get it right away," Sophia said. "So I can put it into War Bonds. My boy hasn't finished fighting yet, not by a long shot."

The ladies were so occupied with feeling horrified, at the callous behaviour of a bereaved mother—that neither of them noticed Sophia's hands. Under the folds of her clean print dress, against the seat of her chair, they were tightly clenched.

Woodmen Health & Accident INSURANCE Including Hospitalization See Me for Particulars STEPHEN WARRING Box 1, Thief River Falls

Despite rotary plows, bulldozers and other mechanized equipment which railroads throw into the fight against winter storms, the maintenance worker still meets winter face to face as he battles to keep the tracks open. Freeing switches from snow and ice and similar tasks in below-zero blizzards call for stout hearts and bodies that can "take it".

Fighting Thru

Not for a good many years has Old Man Winter tossed as many punches as he has during the last few weeks.

Almost every mile of railway operated by the Great Northern has been under simultaneous assault by wind, snow and bitter cold for days at a time.

These bouts with the Storm King are nothing new to the men who keep the tracks open and run the trains. They know all his tricks. But generally the battle front is confined to one part of the railroad at a time, with Old Sol shining merrily on the remainder of the right-of-way and giving delayed trains an opportunity to make up lost time.

This winter came the blitzkrieg. From one end of the railroad to another, it was a continuous fight to get the trains through—trains carrying troops, war materials, fuel, food and mail.

Schedules, to be sure, took a bad beating. But the trains kept going through. And behind that simple fact were the maintenance forces, repair men, train and engine crews, and division officials who met every challenge of the heavy snows, the blasting winds and the bitter cold.

Passengers and shippers, for the most part, accepted the fortunes of this battle on the winter front with patience and good nature. And for this friendly consideration, the Great Northern is sincerely grateful.

HUGE FLAX QUOTA SET IN MINNESOTA FOR COMING YEAR

Minimum Price of $2.70 Per Bushel Is Fixed for 1943 Crop

With Minnesota's goal for flax production set at 1,800,000 acres for 1943, an increase of 74,000 acres over 1942, many farmers in the state who plan to grow more flax will be interested in suggestions for improving yield per acre and assuring them of profits.

A $2.70 minimum price per bushel support on flax, announced by the Commodity Credit Corporation, will assure the grower of a stable market for the 1943 crop. According to M. L. Armour, acting extension agronomist at University Farm, however, yield is as important a factor as price and acreage in determining the grower's profits and in supplying the national need for linseed oil.

Flax yields are reduced if weeds grow higher than flax before the flax pods fill, says Armour. Since flax will produce best on clean ground, fields should be carefully studied and flax planted on land where weeds have not been allowed to seed for a period of years. If fields are not selected carefully, working the soil may bring to the surface seeds which have been buried in the earth for years.

Clean seed is another important factor contributing to good yield. Cleaning the seed should be done now, not at planting time, Armour advises. Unless the farm is equipped with a disc or gravity cleaner, flax can usually be commercially cleaned more profitably and more satisfactorily. An average increase in yield of one bushel per acre has been reported in 14 counties in cases where cleaned seed was used instead of seed cleaned by an ordinary fanning mill.

War Production Board Liberalizes Allotment of Farm Machine Steel

Acting on recommendations of the U. S. department of agriculture, the War Production Board has allotted more steel for the manufacture of farm machinery and also has increased the quotas on farm machinery repair parts from 130 to 160 per cent of the 1940 base period, regional WPB officers were informed by Washington today.

The amount of steel for new farm machinery has been increased from 137 to 187,000 tons for the first quarter of 1943, WPB officials said. This will go a long way toward assuring an adequate supply of machinery for spring farm work.

The department of agriculture had asked an increase in the amount of metal allowed for repair parts. WPB officers say that it is expected that every machine on farms that can be used to advantage will be repaired and put into good working order. To accomplish this, more than the ordinary quantities of repair parts are being made available.

Growing With Your Child

Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Think Again!

In the January issue of McCall's magazine is an article that should be even more widely read than it will be. It gives some striking statistics on what a large number of parents consider to be some of their responsibilities to their children. There were among these parents some who felt that it was perfectly all right to leave young babies at home alone, and it is about this that I want to add my few words.

No one blames young parents for wanting to get out for an evening's enjoyment now and then. (One of life's ironic twists is that those who don't care to go out much evenings are the parents whose children are grown up!) But to take that enjoyment at the risk of terrible, tragic consequences is another thing. Are these young parents who take such risks so thoughtless and heedless that they don't even read about unexpected and sudden occurences that sometimes put such a tragic end to the lives of children who are left without adult supervision?

"But my two year old never wakes, once I put him to bed," remonstrates one mother, eager to reassure herself that nothing can happen while she slips out to a neighborhood movie. Maybe he hasn't wakened in the past, but there's always a first time possible—a time of panic screaming because mother doesn't answer, an attempt to "fix the fire," perhaps, or even just the temptation to play with it while mother is away.

This is not meant to frighten parents, because fear may not be constructive. It is meant rather as causation, a warning against taking chances that may have results that can never be wiped out.

What to do? One thing is to find other parents situated as you are, who need relaxation quite as much, who'll be willing to trade off with you, on a more or less regular basis. Don't be afraid to ask your neighbor; maybe they're in the plight, but have hesitated to ask you. Be friendly, take the first step!

Another very good possibility is to get some older boy to come in and stay with the baby or children. I say boy advisedly, because a boy doesn't have to be taken home, as a girl does. That last-half hour added on to your husband's evening, while he escorts some neighbors daughter home, may take the edge off his evening's enjoyment.

Whether you get a boy or girl be considerate of them, so they'll want to come again. Don't expect the parents of a 14 year old girl to be anything but cold to your second request if you keep the youngster up till 2 or 3, without warning. If your working hours are such that getting home early is out of the question, plan to have the high school boy or girl stay over night. Their parents will be much readier to let them come again if you show that you appreciate their services. If you are too far away from neighbors to rely on having some one come in to stay, take the baby along! While movies or parties or any other evening affairs are not recommended for young children, it is far better for them to go without a little sleep once a week than for their parents to get sunk in a morass of selfpity because they never get out and have any fun. Mothers will be much better mothers if they have something to think about besides their narrow round of everyday duties. But let them think twice, or five, or even ten times, before putting their momentary pleasure against their children's absolute safety!

John Merth, Miss LaVerne Morrissette the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alcid Morrissette became the bride of Staff Sergeant Chester A. Gauper the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gauper of Duluth.

The bride wore a gown of ivory duchess satin, with fitted bodice, bouffant skirt, long sleeves and sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil fell from a coronet of braided ivory satin. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and white sweet peas, and the only jewelry she wore a single strand of small matched pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Her bridesmaid was her cousin, Miss Joyce Pahlen, who wore a gown of aqua-marine faille taffeta with fitted bodice, bouffant skirt and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a necklace of pearls and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow acacia with a matching headdress of yellow acacia.

The bridegroom was attended by his [illegible], Morris Gauper of Duluth. The brides mother wore a brown crepe dress and wore a corsage of sweet peas and acacia.

The groom is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. Until joining the Air Corps in July, he was an instructor in the Greeway High School at Coleraine. The bride also taught three years in Bovey and Coleraine.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the brides parents to the immediate relatives and friends. Covers were laid for twenty-four. At the bridal table the centerpiece was a beautiful four tier wedding cake, decorated with pink roses and at the other table a bouquet of sweet peas formed the centerpiece.

From four to five a reception was held at the Alcid Morrissette home for approximately fifty guests.

She was united in marriage to Gust Ekman of Newfolden Dec. 27, 1891, and resided on a farm near Newfolden since that time.

NEWFOLDEN HIGH SCHOOL WINS TWO GAMES

The high school basketball team played Strandquist there last Friday evening and beat them by a score of 31 to 23. The game was not very old before Newfolden led 16 to 2 after which coach Mueller used his substitutes freely. Strandquist who has just recently started basketball this season had played only one game and defeating Middle River. When they get more practice and play a few games they will be a scrappy team to beat.

On Tuesday evening Newfolden played Middle River here and came out with a 50 to 11 win. Coach Mueller also used his subs freely in this game. LeRoy Lokken was called by the Navy to take his physical examination Feb. 4th so the team will probably lose their best guard. Lokken did not start the game at Strandquist as coach Mueller is trying to train a player to take his place.

State Highway Department Building up Post-war Reserve Fund

Through an unprecedented chain of official state actions prompted by an extraordinary financial situation, $13,500,000 of state highway funds not immediately required for trunk highway purposes were put to work this week to help finance the war and at the same time earn a healthy interest return which in turn will finance additional state highway improvements in the future.

Announcement of the investment of $3,500,000 of state highway sinking fund money and $10,000,000 of trunk highway fund reserves and balances in short term federal war securities was officially made by State Treasurer Julius Schmahl, as a member of both the state board of highway allotments and the state investment board. The action represented prompt exercise of a newly established authority granted by the legislature in the third bill to be enacted into law during the present session.

The $3,500,000 in securities purchased from the sinking fund mature in 91 days and will then be used for payment of state highway and refunding bonds and interest. The $10,000,000 from the trunk highway fund were invested in Series C, U. S. treasury tax notes, in denominations of $1,000,000 which pay an increasing rate of interest at the termination of each six months period for a maximum of three years.

When the $3,901,475 in principal and interest on state highway and refunding bonds is paid from the highway sinking fund, on or before July 15, the state's trunk highway bonded indebtedness will be reduced to $25,220,000.

In addition, however, a balance of $997,000 in county highway reimbursement bonds for which the state has assumed full obligation, still remain to be paid. Most of these, in the sum of $[illegible]000, will be paid out of funds to be allocated at the Allotment Board's next meeting, and at the [illegible] of the current allotment board year, on March 31, 1944, only $[illegible]000 of reimbursement bonds will remain outstanding, out of original issues totalling $31,782,[illegible].

Head of Family Exemption

A single person, or a married person not living with husband or wife is entitled to a personal exemption of $1200 for the year if he can qualify as head of a family. A head of family is "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more individuals who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation."

Examples of head of family status would be a widower or widow who maintained a home for a dependent child, or a son who supported and maintained a household for a dependent father or mother. In order to meet the test of actual support and maintenance as head of a family, the benefactor must furnish more than one-half of the support and maintenance.

The term "in one household" ordinarily means under one roof, but if a father is absent on business or a child or other dependent is away at school, or on a visit, the common home being still maintained, the head of the family exemption would still apply. Where a parent [illegible] to maintain [illegible] dependent [illegible] the additional exemption may still apply. If, however, [illegible] the dependent [illegible] his benefactor is not the head of a family irrespective of the question of support.

The term "closely connected by blood relationship" applies to a person's progenitors and lineal descendants, to his brothers or sisters, whether by the whole or half blood, and to his uncles, aunts, [illegible] of [illegible] taxpayer [illegible] dependent relatives [illegible] the individuals [illegible] to head of family exemption.

A taxpayer is considered to be "closely connected by marriage" with his stepsisters and stepbrothers, but whether his right to exercise family control and provide for the individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation must be decided upon the facts in the particular case. The same considerations apply to the status of a taxpayer because of support furnished to his father-in-law, mother-in-law, brother-in-law, and sister-in-law. First cousins by blood, and cousins of lesser degree, are not regarded as so "closely connected by blood relationship," as to give rise to a head of family exemption.

A legal guardian who may maintain and support in his home a dependent ward is not entitled to the personal exemption as head of a family if the ward was not connected with him by relationship of blood, marriage, or adoption; nor is a taxpayer entitled to exemption as head of a family by virtue of maintenance and support of a child not legally adopted.

COMMITTEES ADVISE $40 TOP ON OLD AGE AID

Welfare Groups in the State Legislature Propose Increase

WOULD RAISE LIMIT OF PAYMENTS $10 A MONTH

Plan Is Estimated to Cost Counties Additional $471,445

Taking action almost simultaneously, members of the welfare committees of the Minnesota state senate and the house of representatives this past week voted to recommend enactment of a $40 maximum for old age assistance payments instead of the present $30 maximum.

The action reflected a feeling that has been strong in both houses since the session opened that an increase should be granted in recognition of the increased cost of living. Governor Harold E. Stassen recommended an increase in his inaugural address, and a dozen bills have appeared in the two houses providing for increases in varying amounts. Action of the committees gave first indication that the legislators may be inclined to settle on $40 as the amount.

Cost of old age assistance to the state under the contemplated program will be difficult to determine definitely, Bernhard W. LeVander, director of the division of social welfare, explained to the welfare committees. Minnesota's old age assistance program is based on need of the individual, and payments made represent merely the additional amounts needed to supplement the recipient's private income or other means of subsistence where such is available.

Amounts paid are determined in the final analysis by the local welfare boards, it was explained, and it will be difficult to tell in advance how far the welfare boards will go in increasing payments to those below the maximum. Only twenty-two per cent of those on the old age assistance rolls now are receiving the present maximum, the discussion developed.

Statisticians of the welfare division estimate that the increase in the maximum allotment to $40 will cost $1,149,382 additional annually. Of this, the federal government would pay half, or $574,-

FOOD STAMP PLAN TO END IN COUNTY AT AN EARLY DATE

All Stamps Must be Used up by End of March, John Lynskey States

The federal food stamp plan, in effect since June, 1941, for the distribution of commodities to persons receiving government assistance, will come to an end in Pennington county, as well as throut the state, on March 1, it was announced today by John X. Lynskey, executive secretary of the county welfare board.

Mr. Lynskey said, "No food stamps will be sold from the welfare office after February 27, and persons holding stamps must use them up by the end of March, as no merchant will be allowed to accept the stamps after March 31. All merchants should send in stamps not later than May 1 if they wish prompt redemption. Following that date there will be a lengthy delay in payment."

During the period the stamp plan has been in effect in this county, approximately $5,000 worth of orange and blue stamps have been issued each month, testifying to the fact that the project has met locally with a good reception.

Share-Ride Club Maps Campaign to Increase Use of Organization

At a well-attended meeting of the Share-Ride club Sunday afternoon in the Evelyn hotel, means of developing further participation in the club's activities on the part of local traveling salesmen were discussed in view of the prospect of further curtailment of gasoline rations. Also emphasized at the meeting was the importance of observing the 35-miles-per-hour speed limit to avoid being deprived of gas ration books. The next meeting of the club will be held Sunday, March 7, Secretary H. E. Colvin announced.

Dates for "Hip, Hip, Hooray", home talent show to be presented in the municipal Auditorium, were changed this week from February 24 and 25 until sometime in March.

Mrs. Jeanette Wright, director of the production, explained that many local teachers in the cast of the play will be busily engaged during the week of February 22 in conducting the registration for War Ration Book No. 2, and it was to avoid a conflict in dates that the time was changed to the deferred date. A special preview presentation of the show for the benefit of local school children will be given.

That the production is rapidly being whipped into shape was revealed Saturday evening when the second ensemble rehearsal was held. Approximately 80 persons are included in the cast, with an ensemble chorus of 60.

Mrs. Wright stated that Dr. G. A. Penney will officiate as interlocutor in charge of the old-fashioned minstrel show, which will feature the production. Dr. Penney has played similar roles on former occasions with outstanding success, including his performance here at the time of the last World War, when he appeared with Charlie Van, widely known entertainer.

Among other features of "Hip, Hip, Hooray" will be a variety of attractive dance numbers, including a group of eight girls trained by Mrs. Rudy Larson; ten girls in a LaConga number directed by Miss Alice Carter; eight High Hat girls in a tap dance supervised by Jewell Warner; and a Floradora Sextet with male quartet accompaniment.

SCHOOLS WILL REVERT TO OLD HOURS FEB. 22D

Education Board Advances Date of Return to Old Schedule

WAR SAVINGS STAMP SALES IN SCHOOLS UP

Lincoln's Birthday Friday Is Designated as School Holiday

The wartime daylight saving schedule adopted for the local schools November 30, and which was originally slated to continue until April 1, will end Monday, February 22, after which school hours will revert to the former schedule, as a result of action taken by the local board of education at its February session Monday evening.

Receiving notice that after February 26 the WPA will no longer supply cooks to prepare meals under the school lunch program, the board voted to hire four cooks at WPA wages and to continue the program.

Supt. Morris Bye informed the board that approval had been received from the state department of education for a war production course in dairying to be taught by Harold F. Harrison, and explained that the expense of the course will be paid from federal funds. The course will start Tuesday, February 23.

Mr. Bye submitted to the board a detailed report dealing with the recent conference at the University of Minnesota on the interim committee's report on proposed changes in school aids. He also discussed the effect of the economic stabilization act on salaries of school employes, in preparation for the March session of the board, at which salaries for the coming year will come up for consideration.

Mr. Bye reported that sales of war savings stamps in the local schools have now reached a total of $7,802. Sales for the past two weeks passed the $300 mark each week, aggregating respectively $388.53 and $322.10.

The board designated Lincoln's birthday Friday, February 12, as a school holiday instead of Washington's birthday February 22, to avoid a conflict with Ration Book 2 registration, which starts on the latter date.

SHOES ARE LATEST ITEM TO BE PLACED UNDER RATIONING

Program Introduced Sunday Without Any Advance Warning

Without advance warning, the government Sunday added shoes to the list of rationing items. All sales were prohibited Monday, and rationing started the following day.

The ration is three pairs a year for every man, woman and child, but members of the family may pool their coupons so some may buy more if others buy less.

Rationing covers all shoes containing any leather and all rubber-soled shoes, but not slippers, soft-soled baby shoes or storm wear such as rubbers and arctics. Shoe repair work and second-hand shoes are not rationed.

At the same time announcement was made that manufacturers will be ordered to stop making evening slippers, men's patent-leather shoes, two-toned shoes and many types of special sports wear in order to make the best use of the leather supply.

When rationed sales started Tuesday, the No. 17 stamps of sugar-coffee ration books were to be used. Every such stamp will be good for one pair of shoes until June 15, when a new stamp will be designated.

Officials said the nation still has a large stock of shoes, and rationing was instituted to prevent hoarding and provide as liberal a ration as possible.

Boy Scout Troop Scribe Reports on Activities

Boy Scout Troop No. 47 is collecting short stories which can be used as literature and may be read at Council fires while camping next summer, especially books like Ernest Thompson Seton's, on wild animal life.

Arrangements to use the swimming pool at the Crookston agricultural college by the boys in completing their first class swimming requirements for merit badges, are in the making.

Two patrols of Troop No. 47, have window displays during Boy Scout week at Oen's and Bjorkman's. The troop members and Scout master Jones express their appreciation for the co-operation of the merchants.

More and longer hikes are being planned in conformity with the Scout's '43 motto of "Toughen up, buckle down, and carry on to victory."

Troop No. 60 is preparing for a Tenderfoot examination next Monday night leading up to the investiture at the meeting a week later. The Scouters gave them a bean-hole luncheon at their last session. The boys are glad to have the support of such an active committee.

Save Your Vision . . .

Save YOUR Charm!

An old prejudice has met its Waterloo! No longer are glasses considered a bar to a woman's appearance and her charm. On the contrary—lovely modern eyewear "tailored" to one's features have real cosmetic value. They improve one's good looks . . . and charm. Certainly to be preferred to the frowns and squints and crowsfeet which utterly destroy a woman's good looks, charm and poise!

RED CROSS HOME NURSING CLASSES STARTED AT KNOX

Two Classes Already in Progress; Others Are Being Organized

The latest in a series of Red Cross home nursing classes got under way this week at the Knox school. Miss Ann Sward, county nurse, is the instructor for the teacher training students on Wednesday afternoon, while Mrs. Clara O. Paulson is teaching a class of high school students each Tuesday evening.

A class under the leadership of Mrs. Orrin G. Lynde will open its sessions next Monday, February 15, and other classes will begin in the near future, all being conducted in a well-equipped room in the Knox school.

The committee in charge of arrangements expressed regret that quarters more centrally located were not available, but voiced the hope that those who are interested will be able to make their way to Knox school.

Mrs. V. C. Noper, County AAA Farmer Fieldwoman, Attends St. Paul Session

Mrs. V. C. Noper, county farmer fieldwoman, attended a special meeting for the county committeemen and the county fieldwomen which was held in St. Paul February 5th and 6th to discuss changes which had been made in the 1943 program.

Mrs. W. A. Bennett, state fieldwoman, outlined the work to the fieldwomen and urged the great importance of keeping the farm and city women well informed on the why and how of rationing or sharing of foods and food production so that our boys will be well fed and clothed, also all the allied countries so much in need of American food.

"This means we farm women have a big part in the 1943 production," said Mrs. Noper. "Let us try to make it a higher and better Foods for Freedom year than in 1942. Our boys are depending on us. We are the soldiers of the soil."

Funeral Services Held Friday, Feb. 5th, for Mrs. Anna S. Johnson

Funeral services were conducted at the Swedish Lutheran church in Strandquist Friday, February 5, for Mrs. Anna Severine Johnson, who passed away Monday, Feb. 1, at the age of 76 years. Rev. P. M. Brattlie of Viking, assisted by Rev. F. Duerre also of Viking and Rev. Runholm of Newfolden, conducted the rites which were held at one o'clock in the home and at 2 o'clock in the church. Burial was made in the Lutheran cemetery at Strandquist.

The deceased was born June 15, 1866, at Christiansand, Norway. She came to America in the summer of 1889 and was united in marriage to Emil Johnson, July 1, 1889, at Holton, Mich. In 1903 they moved to Red Wing and in 1913 to Strandquist where they made their permanent home.

DR. BILLINGS GIVES ADVICE TO TURKEY MEN IN CROOKSTON

Noted Authority Urges Producers to Do Good Job This Year

Urging Red River Valley farmers now engaged in raising turkeys to stay in the game this year and to do an extra fine job of managing present flocks rather than crowding equipment to increase the number of birds, Dr. W. A. Billings, turkey specialist, pointed out at Friday's poultry sessions held in connection with the Winter Shows at Crookston that the outlook for next fall's turkey market is good.

"Rather than try to increase numbers of turkeys at the expense of crowding existing equipment, growers should make every effort to reduce losses and thereby increase total output," Billings said. "Turkey eggs," he added, "are very hard to get and poult producers are practically sold out even at this early date."

He advised beginners not to try [illegible] ... gradually with one or two brooder [illegible] ... to avoid serious [illegible].

"The Red River Valley can and should raise more turkeys," Billings stated, but added that it is a specialty crop and not every farmer is cut out to be a turkey grower.

There is little likelihood that too many birds will be raised this year in view of the continued brisk demand and low storage holdings from last fall's release.

Crop Awards Announced at Valley Winter Shows

T. M. Butler of East Grand Forks received the Red River Valley Development association cup this year for the best sample of corn in the northern section exhibited at the Winter Shows at Crookston. Property Taxes for State Highways Reveal Steady Decline, Survey Shows

Motor vehicle taxes made up 63.4 per cent of state, county and township road revenues in Minnesota in 1941 and 65.9 per cent in 1942, according to data compiled by the Highway Planning Survey. In 1921, first year motor vehicles paid more than a nominal road tax, the percentage was 19.9; in 1926, first full year of gas taxes, it was 47.1 per cent.

Total road revenues in 1921 were $25,248,730, made up of $5,616,114 motor vehicle taxes, $2,842,089 federal aid and $19,790,527 state, county and township road tax levies, the latter the highest on record. There were 332,652 motor vehicles registered, making the average registration fee $16.88 and the average total tax $84.92. In 1942 there were 890,175 vehicles registered and motor vehicle imposts, now including both registration and gas taxes, averaged $52.27 per vehicle, but total road revenues had dropped to $49,01[illegible], or little more than half the 1921 average.

Gas rationing and absence of new cars will greatly reduce both total and average motor vehicle taxes in 1943 and succeeding years while the war lasts. Incomplete returns also indicate that county and township road taxes levied in 1942 and payable in 1943 will be greatly reduced. The state 1-mill road and bridge levy was repealed in 1941.

CARVING HOBBY PAYS DIVIDENDS

Rochester.—Working three or four evenings a week with a jackknife and soft pine board, 32-year-old Edwin Wiebold has turned out scores of wood carvings including Canadian geese in various stages of flight, eight evenly matched, fully harnessed draught horses hitched to a wagon, saddle horses, mules, dogs, black bear, a lone wolf, caribou and a peacock. While Mr. Wiebold has never made any effort to sell any of his carvings, sales have come his way and one sale brought him $50,000.

FARMERS TOLD TO USE CARE IN FLAX SEED SELECTION

N. W. Experiment Station Man Talks at Valley Winter Shows

Northwest farmers were urged to obtain as rust resistant flax varieties as possible for this year's planting to avoid the possibility of another rust epidemic in an address made by R. S. Dunham, crop agronomist, Northwest Station, at the Crops Day session, during the Valley Winter Shows.

Dunham reported the results of a flax survey made in fourteen counties in the Valley to determine the availability of planting stock for 1943. The survey was completed with the cooperation of county agents and members of the Red River Valley Crops and Soils association. To facilitate buyer and seller relationships a list of flax growers having seed available has been prepared. Dunham urged farmers who have seed available but who have not as yet reported to get in contact with the Northwest Station.

Varieties available and recommended in this area include Redwing, Buda, Biwing all more or less rust resistant) and the Golden varieties and Walsh which are very rust resistant. Fairly good stocks of all except Biwing are indicated.

In recommending flax varieties, Dunham made the comparison of recommending a man for a public office. He stated that by recognizing faults and shortcomings and then providing the best conditions such as clean land and early planting, in the case of flax varieties, most favorable results can be obtained.

SIGNUP SESSIONS PLANNED BY AAA FOR NEAR FUTURE

County Committeemen Make Plans at Meeting Held Wednesday

The county AAA committeemen and farm fieldwomen attended a state conference at St. Paul February 5th and 6th where they received instructions relative to changes in the 1943 war production program.

The meeting was followed up by a county meeting Wednesday which was attended by all community committeemen in the district court room. As soon as the county office has completed the necessary work on forms, the community committeemen will hold sign-up meetings at which time farmers and committeemen will establish war crop goals for each individual farm.

Incentive payments will be offered to farmers to encourage maximum production on six of the war crops, soybeans for beans, flax, dry beans, dry peas, grain sorgums, and Irish potatoes.

Each incentive payment is to be earned individually without substitution of other acreage. Deduction will be made for failure to meet 90% of the total farm war crop goal. The payment rate set for each goal will apply to the acreage of the crop grown in excess of 90% of the farm goal but not to exceed 110% of the goal.

The minimum acreage required to establish a war crop farm goal will be three acres. The conclusion of the conference was that farmers were not only asked to raise and produce more but are requested to strain every effort at their command to raise more food in 1943.

Ottertail County Girl Valley Spelling Champ

The 1943 Red River Valley spelling champion is twelve-year-old Marcia Eide of Fergus Falls, Ottertail county. Marcia competed against six other girls and one boy in the annual rural spelling contest held in connection with the Red River Valley Winter Shows.

The contest was exceptionally close with Mildred Lorentson of Strathcona, Roseau county, tieing Marcia in the first round with 97 points even. In the play-off Marcia was declared the winner spelling such words as "irretrievable" without batting an eye.

As winner of the 1943 contest, Marcia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Halvor M. Eide, Route No. 2, Fergus Falls, receives the plaque awarded each year by the Red River Valley Development association.

STATE LEGISLATURE COMMITTEES ADVISE RISE IN OLD-AGE AID

691. The state would pay one-third, or $383,127, and the counties would have to dig up one-sixth, or $191,563 a year more.

This is not the only increase in costs that will face the state, however. Budget allowances for persons on old age assistance are being scaled upward gradually throughout the state, it was explained, due to rising living costs. Wholly apart from the question of whether the maximum allowance is increased, an additional sum of $1,679,292 will be needed during the next twelve months to meet these increased living costs, the welfare division statisticians estimated. This would mean $839,646 more for the federal government, $559,764 more for the state and $279,882 more for the counties to pay.

Putting the two computations together, the welfare division statisticians concluded that, so far as it can be estimated, $2,828,674 additional funds will be needed to raise the maximum to $40 and pay the increased living costs for all recipients during the next twelve months. That means $1,414,337 more for the federal government, $842,891 more for the state and $471,445 more for the counties to pay.

SHEEP SHEARING SCHOOL PLANNED BY COUNTY AGENT

Will be Organized if There are Enough Applicants for Project

Will there be a serious shortage of sheep shearers in Pennington county this spring? In some communities army recruiting and defense industries have taken some of the men who have the skill and equipment to harvest the important 1943 wool crop.

The agricultural extension service is ready to hold sheep shearing schools for men wishing to learn the trade, County Agent Ernest Palmer announced today. There are two requirements for entry into such a school. The prospective trainee must register at the county extension office at once and agree to do some custom shearing besides shearing the home flock.

If there are enough applicants, arrangements will be made for a one-day school either in this county or nearby. Sheep shearing offers an opportunity to make extra money in season, says Mr. Palmer. Equipment is still available for purchase.

Winter Shows Dates for 1944 Tentatively Fixed

The 1943 Red River Valley Winter Shows came to a successful close Friday with the auction of nearly a hundred purebred registered cattle and educational meetings for poultrymen and homemakers. While crowds attending the five-day session failed to break previous records, the attendance at educational meetings and the interest evidenced compared with the best in the history in the shows.

T. M. McCall, president, stated that the greatest interest was shown in the sales of poultry and pure seed. Stating that the board of managers were very well pleased with the outcome of the shows, Mr. McCall added that if conditions warrant, the 1944 Winter Shows will begin January 31 and continue through February 4.

BY SENATOR W. E. DAHLQUIST

After spending a couple of days at home I am glad to be back in St. Paul for a much needed rest. From the time I arrived at Crookston Wednesday morning to the time I left Thief River Falls Sunday noon it seemed to me that I was continuously on the run, and talking almost incessantly. Down here I get little opportunity to exercise my vocal chords but up there it seemed to me I was chattering all the time. One of the nice things about being up there is that wherever I go I meet people I know. Down here they are all strangers.

One of the most interesting reunions I had was with Donald Knutson at the Winter Shows. When I ran across him he was giving his heifer an end curl, getting her ready for the open-class competition after having won the grand championship in the 4-H class. I was just as proud of Donald as he was of his heifer when I pointed him out to other members of the Legislature's delegation as a young farmer of my community. I remember that when I took a picture of Donald and his heifer at the fair he thought I was an awful dumb cluck because I called her a steer. He didn't say anything but I could tell by the look in his eye that he felt sorry for me.

The Winter Shows were very much the usual thing, even the weather cooperating to create the atmosphere of normalcy. Exhibits were well up to expectations, especially in the livestock classes, and the management was pleased with the general results. Pennington County did exceptionally well, Lloyd Johnson as well as Donald Knutson, bringing home a grand championship.

Back in Thief River I did everything I wanted to do except bowl in the tournament and I especially regret missing this event because I was paired with Fran Williamson. That made me practically a sure winner but the 40 & 8ers had to take that time to plan their skating show and that's that.

Another deal you won't want to miss is the Minstrel Show that is in the making. I saw a pre-vue of a part of it Saturday night and personally interviewed Doc Penney who confided to me that this positively is his last tour. The records show that Doc is an old hand at interlocutoring and with him in the center of the half-circle the show will not drag. There is scads of other good material in the cast and chorus and if the show isn't a wow I'll put in with you.

Speaking of shows, a good showing in Thief River Falls that deserves a round of cheers is the increased volume of butterfat being produced. Red Berglund told me the creamery's volume increased 12,000 pounds in January over a year ago. Not more patrons nor more cows but better feeding is the way Red accounted for the increase. I guess our farmers must be doing their bit in the food-will-win-the-war drive. Our creamery is one thing I like to mention when talking to our southern Minnesota friends. There aren't many million pound creameries in the state and our million and a quarter pound volume commands respect.

Members of our County Fair board, at a meeting which I attended Saturday, served notice on me that if I didn't do something by gosh to kill the so-called daylight saving law I needn't ever come back to town. Well the something I can do about this is very limited, this being a Federal law, but I have taken steps to do what little I can. The Attorney General's office has prepared a resolution for me in which are set forth some of the reason's for our dissatisfaction and asking Congress to repeal the act. This will be introduced forthwith and, I hope, passed. In the meantime I suggest that you people start a letter writing campaign to Washington—not to St. Paul. If you want to help the idea along. Now, you guys on the fair board, is it alright for me to come home again?

In Finance committee today the Commissioner of Securities told us we might expect another wave of get-rich-quick schemes such as that which followed the last war when, he said, Pandolfo alone took the people of the state for a ride to the tune of eight million dollars. Gold mines and oil wells are easy to sell when people have idle cash and the gold brick salesmen will soon be on the march. Good time to revive that ancient adage: before you invest, investigate.

I have tried to keep up with my correspondence and answer all letters promptly but I have received so many copies of a form letter requesting my support of certain legislation that I will answer them here. These letters read as follows:

"With the constantly increasing cost of living urge and request you to support in this present session of the legislature the following legislation.

1. $40.00 maximum grant for old age assistance.
2. Repeal of the state lien law.
3. A resolution memoralizing the United States Congress to enact into law at it's present session the Townsend National Recovery plan."

I am in favor of increasing the limit on old age assistance to cover the increased cost of living. The Governor has recommended that the limit be increased to $35 a month and I am confident that it will be extended to at least that amount.

I am not in favor of repealing the state lien law. As I understand it the present law does not affect adversely the interests of the recipients of old age assistance and the interests of deserving heirs are amply protected through the broad powers delegated to local welfare boards. I will be glad to get any suggestions for needed changes in the present law but I am in full accord with its general purposes.

Because I believe the Townsend National Recovery Plan is economically unsound and would in fact retard recovery rather than promote it I cannot join in any resolution that would encourage its adoption.

Much more could be said in explanation of my views on these questions but I have tried to answer them briefly and without equivocation in order that there will be no question as to what might be expected of me. Incidentally it isn't pleasant to say "no" to requests that come from sincere people with whom you disagree and no group is more deserving of a respectful hearing than the aged.

Had lunch this noon with George Jones of the Rural Credit Department, at which time the problems of the department were discussed. The big job of selling farms is now nearly completed and Mr. Jones is resigning from his office as Conservator. How to handle the assets from now on is the question. It is likely that they will be turned over to some other department of the government to reduce administration costs but definite plans have not been worked out as yet.

I received my first experience today in passing a bill, one introduced in the House by Walter Day enabling Clearwater County to fund some floating obligations. Such local bills ordinarily require only a brief explanation of their purposes so it was a good one to start on. Proper procedure is the important thing and I am beginning to understand it. The routine that first appealed to me as being needlessly involved is gradually justifying itself. The system that is the result of hundreds of years of parliamentary experience sometimes appears to retard progress unnecessarily but actually it assures orderly progress along with ample time for consideration and debate. I am not going to ask for ammendments to the manual.

So Lawyer Chommie is the choice of the attorneys for the municipal judgeship. That is too bad. Chommie was one of the few remaining Democrats with whom I could disagree with pleasure, postmaster Anderson having professed that because his job is now under civil service (he believes this to be true) he cannot express political opinions. I could still argue with Hans Chommie but I am smart enough not to argue with a Judge Chommie and it is going to be very difficult to enjoy his company from now on. He will make a good judge however in spite of his peculiar slant on politics.

THOSE ROSE-COLORED GLASSES

(By Cpl. Arnold Bakken, Camp Roberts, Calif.)

"The Russians will defeat Hitler this winter. The Nazis can't take another Russian winter. All we'll have to do next summer is to deliver the knockout blow in Europe and Africa. It will be a cinch. Italy will fold up and there will be a revolution there. German morale is shot. The Japs are plenty tough but they have lost so many ships, planes and men that their punch is gone. They can't replace them, either. They are on the defensive now. They will collapse suddenly when the real pressure is on. Wait and see. The war will be over this year. I'll bet you 10 bucks on it."

Talk like this—with many variations—can be heard echoing hopefully wherever soldiers still in training gather. In one sense it represents nothing more than the individual soldier's attempt to boost his own morale. Perhaps, at the moment, he has to believe that victory is just around the corner. He is, probably, very tired and homesick; he has a bad cold, and he seriously doubts that he will ever become a real soldier, or see action, or do anything in this war in which he could take real pride in later years. Then, as a reaction, comes the bounding optimism. Then he is a sucker for thought processes that would be no credit to a 10-year-old. In his misery, he dons rose-colored glasses. The stern reality of the world fades. He convinces himself and many of his fellow soldiers that victory will come soon and easily and that they, themselves, may as well relax.

Needless to say, this has a bad effect, and then later, when another reaction sets in and sanity is restored, the one-time optimist is attacked by fits of depression in which he visualizes a 10-year war as a result. Fighting spirit, morale, general efficiency, suffer greatly. These fluctuations of spirit, natural enough when men are under strain, nevertheless do constitute a threat to the will-to-win which is essential. It is a fact, too, that soldiers who have fought in this war, the American men who have returned from Guadalcanal, or New Guinea or North Africa, have no illusions whatever about a quick or easy victory. They know what we are up against. They all, to a man, believe we shall win. Their spirit is steady, sane, courageous.

FLYING PRESIDENTS

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

President Roosevelt's flight to North Africa raises some questions as to the risks which it is proper for a President to take during war. As has been observed, Mr. Roosevelt broke precedent by visiting a battlefield on foreign soil during war, by leaving the country during war, and by flying to get there. The customs and conventions that are round the office of President are in many cases the products of particular times and conditions. This is especially true of those having to do with the travel of the President. The precedents were all established before there were fast, long range and reliable airplanes. It is therefore natural that past Presidents rarely took long trips from Washington, almost never left the country, and certainly not during war. President Roosevelt is not only breaking old precedents but establishing new ones. It is possible today for him to visit a battlefield in North Africa in almost as little time as it took Lincoln to visit one on American soil in the Civil War. To have gone to North Africa in Lincoln's time would have taken him away from Washington for many weeks, or months. Therefore it would have been out of the question. It is not out of the question for Mr. Roosevelt.

SURGICAL DRESSINGS

(By Mrs. Ella Peterson, Warren, Minn.)

Just because we've made thousands and thousands,
Don't think we've made plenty enough.
May as well get that out of our notion,
For a boat will hold plenty of stuff,
So let's work! Keep ahead of the Axis,
We still have thousands to make,
For some we have made
May some day be laid
It's the least we can do,
It's a sacrifice small,
As in safety and comfort we work,
When we think of the boys
Braving shrapnel and shot
Over there—they are giving their all,
While we're just folding gauze,
Yet it's for a great cause,
So be helpful—the need is pressing.
It may be your boy—it may be mine
That lies wounded and bleeding
On the firing line,
And needs that very dressing.

If tire and gasoline rationing increases in severity, the New Guinea natives who shied at their first horse recently may be like today's small children when they see an automobile after the war.—Christian Science Monitor.

To a Mother Bereaved by War

I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom.

FOUR-H CLUB WEEK BEING OBSERVED HERE FEB. 6-14TH

Pennington Co. to Complete Signing up of Victory Pledges

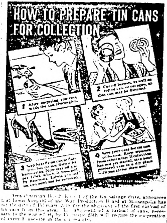
Recognizing the importance of 4-H club boys and girls in the effort to increase food production, Governor Harold E. Stassen has issued a proclamation setting aside February 6 to 14 as 4-H Mobilization Week in Minnesota. County Club Agent Ernest Palmer says that Pennington county plans to complete its signing of 4-H Victory pledges during Mobilization Week. The governor's proclamation follows:

Whereas, Minnesota looks to her boys and girls this year for extra power to make it possible for Minnesota to meet her full obligations of food production for the war, and

Whereas, this year Minnesota 4-H members have set a victory goal of helping their parents and neighbors meet the production required by war in addition to carrying forward the 4-H banner of citizenship, conservation and farm and home training,

Now, therefore, I, Harold E. Stassen, governor of the state of Minnesota, do hereby proclaim February 6 to 14, 1943, as 4-H Mobilization Week in Minnesota so that all boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 living in rural communities may participate in this truly American victory effort by contracting the county extension agents or local volunteer 4-H leaders and joining in this greatest of all 4-H efforts.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Minnesota to be affixed at the state capitol in Saint Paul the 23rd day of January, 1943.



HOW TO PREPARE TIN CANS FOR COLLECTION
2 Cut off bottom, as well as top of can, or cut open, so that can may be flattened.
3 Step heavily on can to flatten—but do not flatten by hammering. Now tear off paper label, which if loosened [illegible] Labels [illegible] on can need not be removed.
4 Save your cans for the can collection. Keep separate from other waste. If collection has not yet started, save your prepared cans in a dry place [illegible]

Area Chairman [illegible] of the tin salvage drive, announces that Lewis [illegible] of the War Production Board at Minneapolis has set the date of February 25th for the shipment of the first carload of tin cans from this area. The shipment of a carload of cans, necessary to the war effort, by February 25th will require the cooperation of every housewife in the community.

It is predicted that unless we get [illegible] behind this program there is very likely to be a movement to the effect that in order to purchase any canned goods, one will have to bring an empty can, properly cleaned and pressed, with them.

Rail transportation charges are taken out of the proceeds of the sale of tin cans, after which the remaining proceeds are turned over to the American Red Cross.

It's fortunate that such an indispensable commodity as salt isn't on the ration list.

Railroads Handle Big Increase in Volume of Freight Hauling in '42

The railroads in 1942 performed an amount of freight transportation more than double the annual average in the ten year period preceding Pearl Harbor. An amount of passenger service about two and one-half times as great as the annual average in the preceding ten years also was performed.

The remarkable performance of the railroads in handling this volume of traffic, without congestion or car-shortage, is in a large measure credited to the shippers who have shown a splendid spirit of cooperation, especially in the matter of loading and unloading cars promptly.

It is not claimed that the managements of the roads foresaw the war and prepared for the demand on their equipment; on the contrary, the railroads were ready for the expanded business of war because it has always been their policy to keep equipment up 100% so that no unforeseen event would find them unprepared to handle any traffic that might present itself.

"There are some cases of delayed freight shipments and a few passengers are inconvenienced," said Helmer Carlson, local agent of the Soo Line, but, he explained, "these are usually due to special shipments and movements incidental to the war effort."

LIBRARY NOTES

"Remember that ideas are the most powerful creation of man. We hear talk of the might of armies in khaki, armies in blue, armies in gray. But the mightiest army in the world is clothed in buckram. Its divisions stand row on row in the library stacks, its weapons never rust; its truth goes marching on."—Stanley J. Kunitz.

Most of the recent books, pamphlets and magazine articles have some bearing either directly or indirectly upon the war, and naturally, people are reading them. Such books as the following are holding their attention: Wolfert, "Battle of the Solomons"; Tregaskis, "Guadalcanal Diary"; Porter, "Alaska Under Arms"; Tunis, "The Raft"; Close, "Behind the Face of Japan"; Packard, "Balcony Empire" (Italy); Seversky, "Victory Through Air Power"; St. John, "From the Land of the Silent People"; Brown, "Suez to Singapore"; Churchill, "Unrelenting Struggle"; Hargrove, "See Here Private Hargrove"; Romulo, "I Saw the Fall of the Philippines"; Mitchell, "India Without Fable"; Ludwig, "The Mediterranean"; White, "They Were Expendable"; Shirer, "Berlin Diary"; Smith, "Last Train from Berlin"; Reynolds, "The Last Time I Saw Paris".

Cook books have an important part to play in the conservation program. Hester, "300 Sugar Saving Recipes"; White, "Sweets without Sugar"; Maddox, "Eat Well for Less Money"; White, "Diet without Despair"; Schloss, "Shortcuts and Left Overs"; Rombauer, "The Joy of Cooking" and many others might be suggested.

The ideal way to select reading material is to browse among the books and magazines but if this is not possible you may be served over the telephone or through the help of some friend.

SIMPLIFIED FORM MAKES IT EASY TO FIGURE INCOME TAX

Persons Whose 1942 Income Was under $3,000 May Use Form 1040A

The federal treasury is offering again this year to people whose 1942 income was $3,000 or less, a simplified income tax form which may be filled out in five minutes or less. This is known as Form 1040-A. It may be used by any taxpayer whose $3,000-or-less income came wholly from wages or salary, dividends, interest or annuities.

Last year when this time-saver was first introduced, over 10,000,000 individual income tax returns were filed on it. People who had previously spent hours working over the regular report-form were enthusiastic about the ease and speed with which they could now complete their annual income tax chore.

This year, with an estimated twelve million new taxpayers filing for the first time, the bureau of internal revenue confidently expects that nearly twenty million taxpayers will benefit from this short-cut way, saving in the aggregate millions of hours of time and innumerable headaches.

Incidentally, this simplified Form 1040-A is also a boon to the internal revenue bureau, for it greatly reduces the amount of time previously spent with so many millions of taxpayers in answering questions and helping them make out their returns.

There are only 6 things for Mr. and Mrs. Taxpayer to do; write down their names, address and occupation, the names of their dependents, the amount of income received during the year, the amount of deduction allowed on account of dependents; check the square that shows their family status whether married or single, etc. Then they simply read from the form exactly what their tax is, and write it down on the return.

That's all there is to it, and it is over in a few short minutes. Then the taxpayer just signs, makes his payment, and the job is done. This year the return does not even have to be notarized, Congress having decided in its tax-streamlining program that people should be spared that bother and expense.

This form has no entries for deductions, since average deductions, including the earned income credit, have been allowed for in figuring the taxes in the table. It is to be noted that people whose legal deductions are unusually large would probably pay less tax by using the longer Form 1040. But for most people in the $3,000-and-under bracket, Form 1040-A is not only a time saver, but a money saver, too.

Deadline for filing returns is March 15, 1943, and returns coming in late subject the tardy filer to a penalty. So on every count, it's smart to file early and avoid the rush.

HORNETS DEFEAT ROSEAU; TO PLAY HALLOCK TONIGHT

Delmore, Guarding Nets for Roseau, Holds Down Local Score

Some fine net-minding by Roseau's young goalie, Mike Delmore, held the Hornets to a 1 to 0 win over the Roseau high school sextet in a game played here Saturday night. The Hornets have a busy schedule this week, playing the strong Hallock team tonight, and then facing a first-rate Warroad team on Saturday night, with both games being played on the Arena ice. Hallock held the Hornets to a 4 to 4 tie in a game played at Hallock last week, the locals barely coming through with a tie by scoring three goals in the final period, and Warroad, with Dick Roberts featuring their attack, has taken the measure of Roseau twice this season.

Prowler Quint Yields to Bemidji Team 47-34

In one of the fastest games ever played on the local floor, the Bemidji Lumberjacks, with a spurt in the final six minutes of play, pulled away from the Prowlers to win a 47 to 34 decision Friday night. The Prowlers had played the highly-touted Bemidji team on even terms for twenty-six minutes of the game, holding a 20 to 19 advantage at half-time, and trailing by only three points, 37 to 34, when Tommy Corrigan, Phil Feir, and Harlan Grover poured in five baskets to "break" the game. The Prowlers travel to Warren tomorrow night for a district game with the Ponies.

Bemidji's sharpshooting captain, Tom Corrigan, accounted for nine of the ten points the Lumberjacks piled up in the first period of Friday night's ding-dong contest, Bakke's free throw being the other counter. The Prowlers, meanwhile, starting slowly and missing several close-in shots, had six points, on field goals by Don Berg, Milt Helerson, and Bill McKechnie.

The second period, which was the speediest of the game, found the Prowler offense clicking, and after Feir had missed a Bemidji free throw, Berg, taking a pass from McKechnie, popped in a close shot; and McKechnie, a few minutes later, on an out-of-bounds play, received a pass from Berg and flipped in a goal to tie the score. Corrigan, from the north side-line, poked a one-handed shot into the west goal; but Berg, pivoting away from his guard, pushed in a shot, and McKechnie looped in a one-handed try, giving the Prowlers a 14 to 12 lead. Jack Robbins dribbled into the lane and scored on a push-up shot, knotting the count; but lanky Jack Melby, when fouled by Crosby, marked up two points on free throws. Robbins made a Bemidji gift toss.

Melby's shot from out on the court increased the Prowler lead to three points. Feir, Bemidji's six-four four-inch center, scored on a close shot. McKechnie drove in and scored on a dribble and push-up shot to give the Prowlers a 20 to 17 lead, but Crosby sliced that margin by two points when he came in for a set-up, the half ending with the locals holding a 20 to 19 lead.

Big Phil Feir took over the Bemidji scoring duties as the second half opened, counting two baskets, on close shots, while Berg marked up a Prowler field goal and Melby a free throw, the score being tied at 23 all. Field goals by Grover, Crosby, and two by Corrigan, gave the Lumberjacks an 8-point lead, but field goals by Berg and Melby and a free throw by Rye, while Feir was notching a two pointer, cut Bemidji's lead to 33 to 28 as the final period opened.

The Prowlers picked up two points on the Lumberjacks in the first few minutes of the period, with Helerson counting two field goals and Rye a field goal, while Feir and Grover were ringing up baskets for Bemidji, the score being 37 to 34. Grover took a pass from Feir for a short shot; Feir pushed in a one-hander; Corrigan jumped in a long shot; and Feir closed out the scoring with a pair of shots from close in, the final count being 47 to 34.

In an exciting preliminary game St. Hilaire's Harlan Olson booted in a long shot just as the final buzzer sounded, to give St. Hilaire a 23 to 22 triumph over the Prowler "B" team. Virgil Evenstad earned the high point honors with 10 points, while Wally Swanson, with 8 points, and Bob Janda, with 9 points, were the high scorers for coach Harold Rud's team.

Lions vs. Eagles.
Jr. C. of C. vs. Civic & Commerce.

The results of last week's matches scrambled the standings in the broomball hockey league, with the Lions and the Eagles deadlocked for the lead, and the Jr. C. of C. and Civic & Commerce only one point away from the leaders.

In last Wednesday night's rough tussle the Lions, with Vern Williams spearheading the attack, trounced the Civic & Commerce, 3 to 0. After a scoreless first period, Ed Haug, on a pass from Williams, shoved in the Lions first tally in the second period. Jon Parkins banged home a rebound for the Lions second goal, and Williams, on a solo rush, added the third goal in the final period.

Last Thursday night, in a clean and well-played game, Walt Larson's Jr. C. of C. team upset the high-scoring Eagles, handing the erstwhile league leaders a 2 to 1 set-back. Merle Lindberg and Stan Larson, on a neat combination play, accounted for the first goal, with Merle receiving a pass from Stan and then punching the ball in the net. Manager Helmer Ness pounded home a rebound late in the first stanza, to give the Eagles their lone marker and knot the score. With but a few minutes of play remaining, Merle Lindberg marked up the game-winning goal with a hard drive from a sharp angle.

.... With BUCK OLSON

No Disgrace

The Prowlers certainly weren't disgraced by last Friday's 47 to 34 defeat at the hands of the Bemidji Lumberjacks. In fact, that game, as far as the locals are concerned, can be called a "promising" defeat, for coach Hanna's team revealed that they can play ball right along with the Lumberjacks, and when you can do that you're playing basketball. It will take some "doing" to beat Barnum's class outfit, but it can be done and, with a few alterations in defensive tactics, the Prowlers may be one of the teams to do that job.

Bemidji depends upon the play of two players for the bulk of their points, Tom Corrigan and Phil Feir, with Feir being the "key" man in the Lumberjacks' play. Feir, a husky six-foot, four-inch, 16-year old junior, hangs around the free throw lanes, picks off passes and then either pops a one-handed shot at the net or feeds the ball to Corrigan or Grover. Ham-string Feir and you disrupt the Bemidji offense.

Jack Melby Stars

While Feir and Corrigan were the hot-shots in Friday night's game, getting 16 and 17 points, respectively, the finest all-round player on the floor was the Prowlers' Jack Melby. As referee Glenn Jarrett said: "That Melby shows marked improvement every time I see him play."

The Prowlers engage in a game tomorrow night that can be troublesome. Playing the Warren Ponies at Warren is always a task, for the Ponies, regardless of their record, can be dangerous in that hand-box gym of their's.

Bill's Treat

Bill LaFave, one of the more persistent players on the Lions broomball hockey team, was so pleased with the club's win over the C & C last Wednesday night that he threw a party for the team, at his home, after the game.

Dick Roberts

Hockey fans who attend the game here Saturday night will see one of the border's most promising prep hockey players in action. The border teams have produced some top-rate players, for example, Williams' Clarence Schmidt, Roseau's Rudy Meyer, and Baudette's Keith Corrigan and Bill Zippel; but Warroad's coach, Armando Paghurini, insists that black-haired Dick Roberts is as much of a whiz as any of those stars. Roberts is reported to have developed a "kick" shot that is a dandy. Well, we'll see Saturday.

Should Have Been by Himself

Lanky George Williamson, the man in the brown suit, "bowled" in the war stamp doubles tournament last week. George carries a 160-pin average in league competition, but in the doubles tourney he rolled games of 135-105-101 for a 341-pin total, or an average of 114. It is rumored that George's partner has petitioned the tournament committee for a refund.

Around and Around

That was the way in which the boys handled the high total score in the bowling tournament the past two weeks. Frank Kobliska rolled a 561 total during the first week's bowling to go into the lead, then on Saturday afternoon, Cal Colvin racked up a 567 total to take over first place. On Sunday the lead changed hands in a hurry; Wally DuChamp came up with a 575 total, but wasn't able to take the lead, as Ed. Carlson, bowling on the same shift with Wally, tallied a 601 score, and that held the lead for about ten minutes, or until Cal Colvin finished rolling on alleys 1 and 2, for Cal chalked up a big 629 total. The score remained the top.

Mrs. Jack Dempster had the women's high total score all to herself. In the first week's bowling Honey had a [illegible] total, which held first place, but on Sunday she improved that mark by [illegible] pins, getting a 499 total.

They'll be Here Sunday

The River Valley team will be here for a broomball hockey match against a team selected from the local broomball hockey league. It's at the Arena at 2 o'clock Sunday.

Narverud Cleaners, Champions

The Women's City Bowling League, playing a divided season schedule, concluded the first half last week and Martha Narverud's team, the Narverud Cleaners, with a [illegible] percentage of .745, won the championship. Members of the team are Martha Narverud, Borghild Holden, Jane Buen, Marie Hallstrom, and Min Ruane.

Roseau Juniors Take 5 to 2 Decision from Arena Juniors Sunday

A five-goal first period scoring splurge, with big Rudy Meyers tallying three of the goals, gave the Roseau Juniors a 5 to 2 decision over the Arena Juniors in a game played at Roseau Sunday afternoon. Bernard Kobetsky and Mouse Efteland beat Roseau's Ken Austin in the final period to mark up the locals two scores.

Spring Again

When the farmers and their farmerettes spend these cold stormy wintry nights after chores sitting up to the reliable old kitchen table with the baby chick folders and the seed catalogues strewn on that table before them, that means spring is coming! There's a lively discussion as to whether it should be the 4-AAAA pullets or some of those Austri White chicks—or should we have those new Jubilee tomatoes, or the Firested, or Bison? Should we phosphate the garden? Let's have a few turkey poults, and so on into the night! These little discussions are the straightest and quickest path to gay spring!

TO SURRENDER HIS MONEY OR HIS LIFE.

Willmar.— A few moments of real fear ran through J. W. Homme, manager of the Kerkhoven Farmers Elevator one night recently as he entered his office after midnight. Mr. Homme had attended a church function during the evening sponsored by a group of which his wife holds the position of treasurer. Funds from the affair were the responsibility of the treasurer and for safe keeping he thought it best to deposit them in the office vault. As he entered the room a voice boomed, "Well, here I am." His hair literally stood on end, he didn't know whether to surrender the money or his life. What a relief it was after looking around the room to find that the word, "Well, here I am," had come from an innocent little radio which someone had neglected to turn off.

Even Valentine Cards —Reflect Wartime Spirit

The war, which has left its imprint on almost everything in our daily life, has not missed leaving its mark on the Valentine and greeting cards for 1943.

Greeting cards for the coming year haven't overlooked a single phase of wartime living—it's the language of the headlines that puts the sentiment across in the new cards.

In "dim-out" terminology it's "All Clear for a Happy Birthday," or "No Blackout on My Valentine Wishes."

"Priorities" and "rationing," the "tax problem" and "conservation," as well as "for the duration," have all been made to "rhyme" with "best wishes" on greeting cards for all the momentous occasions from birthdays and births to wartime marriages and hurry-up-and-get-well-quick messages.

One birthday card that includes practically all of our necessary adjustments to the war reads:

They can ration tea and sugar
They can limit things we use

They can take the cuffs off trousers
And the rubber heels off shoes

They can ration tubes for toothpaste
Gas and Oil for Autos, too . . .

As long as they don't limit
The Joys I wish for You!

Roses are Red
Violets are Blue
Sugar is precious
And so are you!

PROGRAM MAPPED FOR FILLING JOBS ON STATE FARMS

County War Boards and U. S. Employment Offices to Aid in Project

The U. S. department of agriculture has recently completed arrangements to help farmers obtain reliable farm operators and laborers. Working in close cooperation with county war boards, the U. S. employment service and the Farm Security administration will share the difficult and important assignment of recruiting available farm workers and transporting them to farms where and when they are most needed.

This program has been carefully planned by the department of agriculture and the U. S. employment service with the approval of the War Manpower Commission; and has already become effective throughout the state.

County war boards will assume the responsibility of determining the labor requirements of each county; U. S. employment service and Farm Security offices will handle the recruiting and placement of all known available farm workers. The Farm Security Administration is prepared to supervise and finance the transportation of these workers from recruiting points to placement farms, whenever such assistance is required and is approved by the county war board or U. S. employment service.

If all farmers will report their labor requirements to their county war boards or an office of the U. S. employment service or Farm Security administration; and all single or married men who are available as farm operators or farm workers will inform their nearest U. S. employment or Farm Security administration offices as to the type of farm work for which they are qualified, the work of filling farm labor requests will be greatly expedited and it will be much easier for the department of agriculture to effectively assist in relieving the present serious farm labor situation.

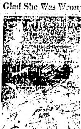
Glad She Was Wrong



Mrs. Dennis Mullane, 51, of New York, missed a question on a radio quiz, so the director suggested that the radio audience send her a penny for her mistake to invest in war bonds for her son, Harold, 17, in the U. S. marines. The radio audience responded quickly and Mrs. Mullane was soon $11,000 richer with more money coming in. She is shown here opening some of the letters.

Peter Schirrick of Red Lake Co. Is State Wheat Champion Second Year

The state "wheat king crown" rests lightly on the head of Peter Schirrick of Red Lake Falls, according to his friends who say that he considers growing the best wheat in the state "no chore at all."

For the second time in two years, Schirrick has grown the best wheat in the state as judged at the state seed show at University Farm during Farm and Home Week at the University of Minnesota.

In winning state honors with his grain, Schirrick took the second annual Philip W. Pillsbury state award, established by the Minneapolis flour milling executive to further encourage the production of better wheat in Minnesota, and is now eligible to compete for national honors with his grain.

Schirrick's winning wheat was of the Renown variety. He last year took top honors with grain of the same name. The sample he exhibited this year weighed more than sixty-four and a half pounds per bushel, being the same weight as the wheat with which he won first prize last year.

LIVESTOCK SALE AT WINTER SHOWS GROSSES $25,000

C. E. Kiewel of Crookston Pays $510 for Top Hereford Heifer

Hundreds of Red River Valley farmers were on hand Friday to bid for purebred registered cattle consigned to the 33rd annual sale sponsored by the Valley livestock association during the Winter Shows at Crookston. Following Thursday's sale of bred gilts and ewes when top prices of $135 and $80 took the best in the lot, bidding for high quality bulls and heifers in all classes got off to a brisk start. Thursday's sale grossed over $8,000 for sixty head.

Aside from the spirited bidding at the sale, highlight of the occasion was the fact that one-third of the sellers took all proceeds in war bonds, another took 50 per cent, with the remaining sellers taking at least one $18.75 bond.

Top heifer, a Hereford sold by Eddie Gronseth, went to Charles E. Kiewel of Crookston for $510.00. The top of $550.00 was paid for the Hereford bull consigned by Olson Bros., Argusville, North Dakota. Top bull went to Parup Ranch, Park River, North Dakota.

The sale of more than eighty purebred registered cattle brought over $16,200, which together with Thursday's sale of bred gilts and ewes grossed nearly $25,000 for the two day sale, considerably more than last year's figure of $15,974.

Average prices paid for high quality bulls and heifers are as follows: Holsteins: bulls, $163.50; heifers $130 Guernseys: bulls, $83.33; milking Shorthorns: bulls, $200.00; Aberdeen Angus: heifers, $203; bulls $206 beef Shorthorn: heifers, $212.50; bulls, $206.67; Herefords: heifers, $280.50; bulls, $217.50; bulls, $288.

YOUR INCOME TAX

By Bureau of Internal Revenue

Who Must File a Return

Every single person must file a Federal income tax return whose gross income for the year from all sources was $500 or more; that is as much as $9.62 per week. Widows, widowers, divorcees, and married persons separated by mutual consent, are classed as single persons.

Every married person, living with husband or wife throughout the year, must file a return if his or her gross income, together with any income of the spouse, was as much as $1200 for the year; that is, as much as $23.08 per week. If husband and wife both have income, they must both make a return. Each return may be made separately, or, if they are both citizens or residents, they may make a joint return. A joint return may be made by husband and wife even though one has no income, and a joint return is advisable in the case of persons, one of whom has no income, who marry during the year, since the personal exemption attributable to each spouse during the period of premarital status is allowable in a joint return.

A joint return must be signed by both husband and wife and verified by a written declaration that it is made under the penalties of perjury.

Where separate returns are filed by husband and wife on Form 1040, the joint personal exemption allowable ($1200 where the married status has existed throughout the year) may be taken by either, or divided between them in any proportion agreed upon. If separate returns are filed one may not report income which belongs to the other, but must report only the income which belongs to him (or her).

No person is exempt from filing a return if his gross income is equal to or greater than the amount specified above for his classification. Neither the President of the United States, nor the Vice President, nor Federal Judges, nor Members of Congress, are exempt from filing returns.

Moreover, all income from whatever source, unless specifically excluded by statute, must be reported in the return. The types of income specifically exempt are listed in the instructions accompanying the return form.

A person whose gross income does not exceed $3,000, and consists wholly of salary, wages, dividends, interest, or annuities, may make a Simplified Return on Form 1040A, in which the tax due may be readily ascertained by reference to a table contained on the form.

A husband and wife living together on July 1 of the taxable year may file separate Simplified Returns if the gross income of each is from the prescribed sources and does not exceed $3,000, or they may file a single joint return on that form if their combined income is from the prescribed sources and does not exceed $3,000. A taxpayer may not, however, file a [illegible] Return if the [illegible].

NEW EDUCATION BILL PROPOSED IN LEGISLATURE

Calls for Reorganizing of State Department of Education

PROVIDES FOR BOARD OF NINE MEMBERS

Another Bill Would Bar Beer Taverns in the Rural Areas of State

Presentation of plan for reorganization of the state department of education and the state teacher's college board, two of the major units directing Minnesota's widespread educational system, under a single, new board, highlighted proceedings before the Minnesota legislature this past week.

A bill was introduced in the house, sponsored by Representatives F. P. Memmer, R. F. Lee, R. T. Hart, and C. C. Baker, providing for selection of a "board of regents of education" of nine members by the legislature from nominations made by the governor to replace and take over duties of the present board of education and the teachers' college board. The bill was to be introduced in the Senate this week.

Under the plan proposed, the governor would be required to nominate from each congressional district "three outstanding, reputable qualified citizens who have broad vision and interest in public education" for consideration of the legislature. The legislature would elect one of the three submitted in each district, or, failing to do this, could ask the governor for submission of other nominations.

Terms of the members of the new board would be arranged so that one would expire each year from 1944 to 1952 and after that all would serve for nine years so that normally nine years would be required for a complete change on the board after the new plan of rotation is fully established.

The new board would select the state commissioner of administration and would advise with the commissioner, but would not be bound by the board and would carry out duties of his office free of interference by the board in administrative matters. The commissioner selected must be "an outstanding educator, qualified and proficient in educational administration," the bill provides, selected without political considerations. Salary for the position would be $6,500.

The commissioner of education would nominate three qualified persons when there is a vacancy in the office of president of one of the teachers' colleges, and the new board would have power to select one as president.

Introduction of new bills touched a variety of subjects during the past week. Senators Alfred Solstad, S. W. Dennison and H. C. Stiening introduced a bill which would give the state liquor control commissioner some power of supervision over beer taverns. It provides that no beer or liquor license shall be effective until the applicant has secured a permit from the liquor commissioner. This license could be revoked after notice and a hearing for "unlawful acts or disorderly or unlawful conduct occuring on the premises."

Another bill presented in the senate by Senators O. J. Finstad, H. L. Wahlstrand and G. C. Butler would prohibit beer taverns in rural communities and confine beer and liquor places to "existing cities and villages."

Senator W. B. Richardson added a new measure to the many pending bills calling for a reduction in the state income tax. He introduced a bill providing that the state income tax on 1943 and 1944 income shall be cut in half.

RATIONING CHIEF WARNS OF CANNED GOODS SALES HALT

Sales of Rationed Foods to be Frozen February 21 to the 28th

George W. Werstlein, chairman of the local war price and rationing board, pointed out today that the threat of hardship to consumers during the "freeze" period on retail sales of canned or bottled processed rationed food has been obviated by sufficient notice OPA had given the public of the sales suspension period. The allowance of five cans per person will be sufficient supply to carry them through until rationing starts on Monday, March 1.

The retail sale of these rationed foods will be "frozen" at midnight February 20 until midnight February 28. During the interim the registration for War Ration Book two will be conducted.

Mr. Werstlein called for the cooperation of the public and urged that the housewife take an inventory of her rationed foods prior to the day she registers for her family. He suggested that she may find it convenient to make this count on Sunday, February 21, by spreading her pantry supplies on the kitchen table. The smaller cans containing less than eight ounces, should be put back on the shelf. By counting out five cans for each member of the family from the remainder and restoring them to the shelves, she will have left the exact number of containers that she must declare on the consumer declaration sheet.

The further simplify matters, OPA is not requiring the use of official copies of the declaration and local board have been instructed to accept the reproduction of the sheet that appears in the Times.

WAR MANPOWER COMMISSION SAYS FARM JOBS VITAL

Regional Director Declares Farm Work Is Classed as Essential

Work on farm is one of Minnesota's most essential war activities and men who are classified in nondeferrable occupations will make a very worthwhile contribution to the war effort if they switch to farm jobs. So says Frank M. Rarig, Jr., regional director of the War Manpower Commission, whose offices are in Minneapolis.

Rarig made this announcement in connection with a statement to workers generally that they should not move about in pursuit of a war job. Instead, he advised them to consult any U. S. employment service office frequently.

"If you are in the group that, under a recent WMC order, must find a war job by May 1 or face loss of dependency deferment under selective service, there are many things that you can do that rate as essential, besides working in a munitions plant," Rarig said.

Every USES office has a list of the 35 industries considered essential to the war effort. Men are advised to consult this list when they register for work. People who shift to any of these 35 essential industries will retain a 3-A status, Rarig explained.

TO THE
STARS
in our Service Flag

To you 3433 in the Armed Forces—our 3433 soldiers, sailors and marines—the J. C. Penney Company sends its tribute on the birthday of George Washington, our first soldier.

You come from every corner of America carrying the might of our democracy to the far reaches of the globe, bearing arms so that freedom may ring and decency reign.

Today your tools of peace are beaten into bayonets. Today you operate the weapons of war, not the machines of commerce and industry. Today you calculate not goods bought and sold but the speed and altitude of on-rushing enemy planes.

So, hats off and hats off again to you, our game and gallant 3433!

YOU'RE ALL STILL PART OF PENNEY'S!

Every one of you is still a part of the Penney Company and of the store from which you came. And you and your store and your job are vital to the America That Is To Be as well as to the America That Was.

For the Penney stores from which you came are part and parcel of the nation . . . as American as town meetings, as ham and eggs, hot dogs and ice cream sodas! They are as national as the Eagle and as local as the town pump. Penney stores and Penney people are products of all sections—of every state—and of hundreds of American communities.

HERE ARE THREE—TYPICAL OF OUR 3433!

Out of one of our Portland, Oregon stores a Penney man flies with Doolittle to bomb Tokio—but he, like his store, is still as Northwest as the big trees.

From his job as buyer in New York another Penney man finds himself adrift in the Mediterranean, his ship torpedoed from under him—but his heart's still with the Dodgers and the hot stove league.

And yet another, from Lindsay, California is shot down in the Solomons; washed up on a desert island; rescued to fight again—but he takes with him wherever he goes love of his native state and his own home town.

WE THINK OF ALL OF YOU WITH CONFIDENCE AND DEVOTION!

And we hope you think of us with trust and understanding—when the victory is won and the flags are furled we'll be proud and happy to welcome you back to your family, your friends and your Penney store.

MANY B AND C GAS RATION BOOKS EXPIRE MARCH 1ST

Holders Requested to Make Applications for Renewal at Once

The expiration date of many B and C gasoline ration books is March 1, A. J. Rau, specialist of the gasoline ration board, stated.

This week all holders are requested by him to make a renewal application immediately, in person, at the rationing board located in the Northern State bank building, by signing the renewal portion of their former application. This will avoid a rush and possible delay in receiving gasoline coupons for the second quarter of 1943.

Anyone who may have coupons that were not used in this first period are requested to return them and they will not be penalized for doing so. Due to the weather and road conditions it is probable that the number of miles alloted for this period were not used. Therefore, in the next three months the ration will not be reduced by that amount at the time of renewal. The car owner should be proud to return to the local rationing board a portion of their original ration, Mr. Rau stated.

Mr. Rau added that applicants must also present their tire inspection reports in seeking renewal of their coupon books.

CANNED MEAT AND FISH SALE HALTED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Sales Are Suspended by OPA for an Indefinite Period

The office of price administration Wednesday night suspended the sale of canned fish and canned meat.

The ban on public sale of these products—canned salmon, shrimp, meat spreads and many others—is indefinite, OPA said, however, that sales probably will be permitted again when meat rationing begins. Meat rationing is expected March 28.

The action was taken at the request of Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, food administrator. He said large purchases by consumers in recent weeks have threatened to leave little or no cans of fish and meat for consumption later this year.

Sale is prohibited on such canned items as salmon, tuna fish, shrimp, lobster, meat spreads, tongue and potted meats.

The order does not apply to products sold in frozen form, such as quick freeze lobster, nor to canned products that are not sealed or sterilized by the use of heat. Pickled pigs feet and dried beef are examples of the latter.

REGISTRATION FOR CANNED GOODS RATION PROGRAM NEXT WEEK

declare any commercially canned olives, canned meat or fish, pickles, relish, jellies, jams, preserves, spaghetti, macaroni or noodles.

The next entry on the consumer declaration sheet will be the number of pounds of coffee the family had on November 28, when coffee rationing went into effect.

The housewife then will write down the names of all members of her family and opposite each the number of that person's War Ration Book No. 1—the book obtained last May. The last entry will be her signature and address.

Bring Ration Book 1

(2) The next move is to go to her nearest school house to register for War Ration Book No. 2. With her she must take the Consumer Declaration sheet and the War Ration Book No. 1 for each member of the family. This is necessary for identification in the issuance of Book No. 2.

If the family does not have War Ration Book No. 1, it cannot obtain War Ration Book No. 2. In such cases, the family must wait until two weeks after the registration—March 13—to apply for both books.

When the housewife appears before the registration board and her declaration shows she had no containers of rationed foods to declare, she will get her family's No. 2 books without any stamps removed. The registration board will remove 8 points in stamps from the book for each container of 8 ounces or more over the allotted five for each member of the family. In the case of the housewife with five in her family and 13 cans to declare, the registration board will remove a total of 104 points from the books, 20 points in stamps from each of four of the books and 24 points from the fifth.

If there was more than one pound of coffee for each member of her family 15 years or older on November 28, the registration board will remove one stamp for each pound from the appropriate War Ration Book No. 1.

Call Halt in Sales

(3) During the week of registration, none of the rationed commodities can be sold. Grocery stores will stop their sales at midnight or the close of business on February 20. None of these commodities can be sold again until March 1, when appropriate stamps from War Ration Book No. 2 must be turned over to the grocer for every purchase of the rationed foods. Notice of the stoppage is given so that housewives can obtain enough supplies to tide them over next week. However, anything bought in excess of five cans for each member of the family must be declared and equivalent stamps deducted.

(4) The War Ration Book No. 2 contains eight pages of 24 stamps each. Four pages contain blue stamps and four, red. The stamps to be used in the first point rationing program are the BLUE. Each stamp has on its face both a letter and a number. Going across the page there are six stamps lettered A, B, C, D, and so on. The numbers are 1, 2, 5, and 8. The lowest line across the page carries the number 1; the second line, 2; the third line, 5 and the top line, 8. These are the points that the housewife removes when she makes purchases. During the first period she will use only the "A", "B" and "C" stamps.

Point System Explained

The number of points for each rationed commodity will not be fixed. The government will set the number of points for each kind and size depending upon the supply. The grocer is required to post prominently the number of points for each commodity, so no housewife need become bewildered over the points she will have to give up for her purchases.

The price of a commodity will have nothing to do with the number of points.

In making her purchases, whether at a store or from a vendor, the housewife should take the right number of stamps out of her book in front of the grocer or delivery man and hand them to him. The housewife should use no more than the smallest number of stamps for the points called for. If a food calls for 13 rationing points, she should take out of the book an 8 and a 5 point stamp, rather than taking out an 8-point, two 2-point and one 1-point stamps. Stamps from more than one book belonging to a household can be removed to make the correct amount, if necessary.

Every person in the household will have a total of 48 points to use for all the processed foods for one ration period. During the first period half the first page of blue stamps will be "spent." This means that the housewife with five members in her family can "spend" 240 points during the rationing period, whether it is two weeks, a month or two months. The OPA has not yet announced the length of time for the first rationing period.

BY SENATOR W. E. DAHLQUIST

Last week I commented on the large number of form letters I was receiving urging that more of the public's money be spent for certain purposes. This week a large part of my mail consists of post card appeals urging me to support legislation that will reduce state property and income taxes and abolish the tax on moneys and credits. This must be what someone has called, "the irrepressible conflict between opposing and enduring forces."

I wish I knew how these conflicting interests could be reconciled, but I don't. The state performs many services for individuals and communities and all of them are expensive. I don't see how we can increase the number of these services without increasing the cost of government. On the other hand I don't see how we can materially reduce the cost of government unless we dispense with some of the services that the state is now performing.

Our income tax receipts are dedicated to school aid and at the present time the tax is producing considerably more than is being distributed for this purpose. The balance is piling up in a reserve fund. There might be some question as to whether or not this reserve fund is justified but I am inclined to believe it is. The receipts from this source are abnormally high now because of the abnormal conditions. I believe we have ahead of us a period of abnormally low receipts from this tax source when we will need these reserves to maintain school aids on their present levels.

Nobody groans more about the state income tax than I do. I believe that in its present form it is an unwise tax because, being higher than most states, it discourages industrial development. And I believe that in its present form it is an unfair tax because, with its drastic graduations it is in effect a leveling tax, a field of taxation that definitely should be limited to the federal government. But before we can materially reduce it or eliminate it altogether we must decide what taxes shall replace it. And that opens a new argument.

One thing there shouldn't be any disagreement on and that is the need at all times for economy and efficiency in government, and I can report that I have observed no tendency toward wasteful spending in state government merely because there are some cash balances. Wages of state employes have been increased 5% and $5 a month up to a maximum of $15 a month to offset in part the increased cost of living. On the other hand departments have been ordered to reduce their personnel by as much as 20%, and many of the state employees who have entered the armed services or who have taken better paying jobs have not been replaced on the state's payrolls. The salary increases have not been applied to department executives.

Don't get the idea that I am defending all of Minnesota's spending. There are differences of opinion as to the need and the value of many of the services the state is performing for individuals and communities. The other night I spent a pleasant two hours at a coffee counter listening to an economist point out what is wrong with Minnesota and I suspect that he was at least three fourths right in half the things he complained about.

His main gripe was that in too many things we live beyond our means. We accept the standards of the wealthy industrial states as a mark to be surpassed. He thought we would be sensible if we set our table more according to the standards of North Dakota, admitting that after all we are just another farming community. Bernie Bierman, he said, had done the state an irreparable injury by winning a national football championship, throwing us more off balance than we were before. His general impression was that we are wasting our substance in a vain attempt to "keep up with the Joneses", trying to live like a rich man on a poor man's income. Now don't start throwing ripe cabbages at me. These were his ideas, not mine. I merely remarked that I thought his ideas were interesting.

Shall the bear be taken off the list of protected game animals? There is persistent demand for such action from farmers of various sections of Northern Minnesota who not only want the bear added to the list of public enemies but also request that a bounty be offered to encourage his prompt extermination. But the bear has friends too, some realistic, who consider him a colorful addition to the stage setting for tourist entertainment; others sentimental, who look upon him as an especially intelligent and interesting fellow who likes peanuts more than he fears civilization.

The answer probably will be a compromise, and all compromises, slightly unsatisfactory to all concerned. From the opinions I have heard expressed it is not likely that a bounty will be authorized or that the bear will be taken off the protected list except in certain areas where he definitely is not wanted, these areas to be determined by the director of the Division of Game and Fish. This much will have to be done, it seems to me, or the state will have to start paying claims for sheep killed and honey destroyed.

While on the subject of bear bounties I mentioned that our sportsmen's club had resoluted in favor of fox bounties and did I ever get my ears pinned back. I was asked if our sportsmen thought they should be paid for hunting ducks and deer and so on and so forth. I gathered from the unkind remarks that were directed toward me that requests for bounties should come from farmers and not from sportsmen. For the information of those interested in the subject, however, I can report that there isn't much sentiment in favor of state paid fox bounties at the present time for two reasons: first, because there apparently hasn't been much complaint about fox depredations and, second, because fox skins are now bringing a pretty fair price on the market.

Out of Public Welfare committee last week came approval of a bill that would increase the maximum payments of old age assistance from $30 to $40 a month, $5 a month more than the $35 limit recommended by the Governor. From the floor of the Senate the bill was referred to the Finance Committee where its increased costs to the state and communities will no doubt be given more careful consideration.

The purpose of the increase is to permit adjustments to the increased cost of living and justification for the $40 limit comes largely from the cities where living costs are considerably higher than they are in the rural areas. The average monthly grant in the state for the year ending last June 30th was $21.69. The average for Pennington County was $21.17 while Hennepin County averaged $25.67, or nearly $4 higher than the state average. This means that in the cities a much larger percentage of the recipients of this aid are now receiving the maximum.

In considering this problem of extending the limits it is important to get this point straight. The increase would not automatically raise the amount now paid to each individual by either $5 or $10 a month. The amount of the allowance to each individual would still be determined by local boards, based on actual need. In many cases there probably would be no increase in these individual allowances.

There is much talk about redistricting and several plans are being considered but it is safe to predict that if any changes are made they will consist largely of minor adjustments. Our district would be changed in all the plans I have heard discussed. One of these plans that would reduce the Senate from 67 to 44 members would make one district of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties. Another more modified plan that would reduce the number of districts by only four would group Kittson, Roseau and Lake of the Woods together while Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake would be one district. Marshall would elect a representative and Pennington and Red Lake would elect a representative together and all three counties would elect a senator. Clearwater would be joined to Beltrami under this plan. The large cities want more representation in the legislature but it isn't likely that their wishes will be gratified.

Most cheerful news I saw in last week's paper was the announcement of that $15,000 cut in the county's debt. Let's give the brothers a hand. Maybe they will double the amount this year. It is easier to pay debts now than it will be in 1953.

Bank Debits in January Above Year Ago in City

The January 1943 volume of bank debits in Thief River Falls shows a three per cent increase when compared with the first month of 1942. These bank debit figures which are released each month by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis, are representative of the checks drawn by depositors against their bank accounts, and indicate that payments are being made for goods, services, debts, etc. Debit totals are considered a good indicator of local trade volume.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Pursuant to adjournment the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on Thursday, February 11, 1943. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with Aldermen Gribstein, Petersen, Hunt, Rinkel present and Alderman Stenberg absent.

Minutes of the meetings of January 12th and February 9th were read and the same were declared as approved.

Monthly reports of the City Clerk, Treasurer, Municipal Judge, Weighmaster, Dairy Inspector, Manager of Sports Arena and Recreation Committee and Park Board were presented. A report showing condition of funds of Pennington County Relief Council was also presented by E. M. Bennes, Secretary. The reports were examined and ordered filed.

The resignation of Harry Severson, due to removal from the city, Alderman at Large, was presented. Motion was made by Alderman Petersen, seconded by Rinkel and carried that the same be accepted. The Council then proceeded to ballot on the appointment of alderman to fill such vacancy. The result of the ballot indicated a vote of four for Jack McKechnie who took his seat at the Council table after having duly qualified for the office.

Mayor Kinghorn advised the Council by letter that he was dispensing with the services of a secretary effective as of February 1st and suggested that a Contingent Fund be set up for emergency expenses. Lincoln Arnold presented a copy of a letter addressed to the Governor tendering his resignation from such office effective as of midnight, February 11, 1943 due to his removal from the city to take an appointment with the Office of Price Administration at Washington, D. C.

A notice of injury and claim of damages was presented and read, such claim being entered by Myrtle Senne of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, by her Attorneys Houghton & Houghton and alleging that she was injured by reason of a fall on the walk in front of the Falls Theatre on December 23, 1942, due to icy condition of such walk and demanding compensation in the sum of $1,000.00 or such further sum as may compensate her if such remains still from such injury. Such claim had been filed with the Clerk on January 22, 1943 and had been duly referred to the City Attorney as of that date.

Alfred Langren and Helmer Johnson officials of the Township of North, appeared before the Council with regard to a possible arrangement with the City whereby fire protection and services of fire department could be furnished to their township by the city. The City Clerk was directed to communicate with various cities as to methods in use by them for such services outside their corporate limits and the matter was laid over for the securing of such information.

H. G. Oldfield of the Division of Sanitation of the State Department of Health appeared before the Council and spoke at length on the matter of requiring the pasteurization of all milk and cream sold and consumed within the City. Various dealers were present and were all heard in the matter. The Council decided to take the matter under advisement.

An application was presented by Ed. Hill for the position of City Assessor in case there is an appointment made for this year and the same was read and filed.

An application was presented by Pete Roberge for a reduction in the assessed valuation of Personal Property and on motion of Alderman Rinkel, seconded by Petersen and carried the same was laid over for consideration by the Tax Committee.

Applications for license renewals to engage in the sale of cigarettes were presented by the following: H. B. Newell, H. P. O. E. No. 1308, A. M. Magnuson, Ralph Heller, Art Hamilton, George Peter & Son and Hotel Evelyn. A motion was made by Alderman Petersen that the Clerk be instructed and directed to issue licenses to such applicants. The motion was seconded by Alderman Rinkel and adopted by unanimous vote.

BY SENATOR W. E. DAHLQUIST

Last week I commented on the large number of form letters I was receiving urging that more of the public's money be spent for certain purposes. This week a large part of my mail consists of post card appeals urging me to support legislation that will reduce state property and income taxes and abolish the tax on moneys and credits. This must be what someone has called, "the irrepressible conflict between opposing and enduring forces."

I wish I knew how these conflicting interests could be reconciled, but I don't. The state performs many services for individuals and communities and all of them are expensive. I don't see how we can increase the number of these services without increasing the cost of government. On the other hand I don't see how we can materially reduce the cost of government unless we dispense with some of the services that the state is now performing.

Our income tax receipts are dedicated to school aid and at the present time the tax is producing considerably more than is being distributed for this purpose. The balance is piling up in a reserve fund. There might be some question as to whether or not this reserve fund is justified but I am inclined to believe it is. The receipts from this source are abnormally high now because of the abnormal conditions. I believe we have ahead of us a period of abnormally low receipts from this tax source when we will need these reserves to maintain school aids on their present levels.

Nobody groans more about the state income tax than I do. I believe that in its present form it is an unwise tax because, being higher than most states, it discourages industrial development. And I believe that in its present form it is an unfair tax because, with its drastic graduations it is in effect a leveling tax, a field of taxation that definitely should be limited to the federal government. But before we can materially reduce it or eliminate it altogether we must decide what taxes shall replace it. And that opens a new argument.

One thing there shouldn't be any disagreement on and that is the need at all times for economy and efficiency in government, and I can report that I have observed no tendency toward wasteful spending in state government merely because there are some cash balances. Wages of state employes have been increased 5% and $5 a month up to a maximum of $15 a month to offset in part the increased cost of living. On the other hand departments have been ordered to reduce their personnel by as much as 20%, and many of the state employees who have entered the armed services or who have taken better paying jobs have not been replaced on the state's payrolls. The salary increases have not been applied to department executives.

Don't get the idea that I am defending all of Minnesota's spending. There are differences of opinion as to the need and the value of many of the services the state is performing for individuals and communities. The other night I spent a pleasant two hours at a coffee counter listening to an economist point out what is wrong with Minnesota and I suspect that he was at least three fourths right on half the things he complained about.

His main gripe was that in too many things we live beyond our means. We accept the standards of the wealthy industrial states as a mark to be surpassed. He thought we would be sensible if we set our table more according to the standards of North Dakota, admitting that after all we are just another farming community. Bernie Bierman, he said, had done the state an irreparable injury by winning a national football championship, throwing us more off balance than we were before. His general impression was that we are wasting our substance in a vain attempt to "keep up with the Jones", trying to live like a rich man on a poor man's income. Now don't start throwing ripe cabbages at me. These were his ideas, not mine. I merely remarked that I thought his ideas were interesting.

Shall the bear be taken off the list of protected game animals? There is persistent demand for such action from farmers of various sections of Northern Minnesota who not only want the bear added to the list of public enemies but also request that a bounty be offered to encourage his prompt extermination. But the bear has friends too, some realistic, who consider him a colorful addition to the stage setting for tourist entertainment; others sentimental, who look upon him as an especially intelligent and interesting fellow who likes peanuts more than he fears civilization.

The answer probably will be a compromise, and all compromises, slightly unsatisfactory to all concerned. From the opinions I have heard expressed it is not likely that a bounty will be authorized or that the bear will be taken off the protected list except in certain areas where he definitely is not wanted, these areas to be determined by the director of the Division of Game and Fish. This much will have to be done, it seems to me, or the state will have to start paying claims for sheep killed and honey destroyed.

While on the subject of bear bounties I mentioned that our sportsmen's club had resolved in favor of fox bounties and did I ever get my ears pinned back. I was asked if our sportsmen thought they should be paid for hunting ducks and deer and so on and so forth. I gathered from the unkind remarks that were directed toward me that requests for bounties should come from farmers and not from sportsmen. For the information of those interested in the subject, however, I can report that there isn't much sentiment in favor of state paid fox bounties at the present time for two reasons: first, because there apparently hasn't been much complaint about fox depredations and, second, because fox skins are now bringing a pretty fair price on the market.

Out of Public Welfare committee last week came approval of a bill that would increase the maximum payments of old age assistance from $30 to $40 a month, $5 a month more than the $35 limit recommended by the Governor. From the floor of the Senate the bill was referred to the Finance Committee where its increased costs to the state and communities will no doubt be given more careful consideration.

The purpose of the increase is to permit adjustments to the increased cost of living and justification for the $40 limit comes largely from the cities where living costs are considerably higher than they are in the rural areas. The average monthly grant in the state for the year ending last June 30th was $21.89. The average for Pennington County was $21.17 while Hennepin County averaged $25.67, or nearly $4 higher than the state average. This means that in the cities a much larger percentage of the recipients of this aid are now receiving the maximum.

In considering this problem of extending the limits it is important to get this point straight. The increases would not automatically raise the amount now paid to each individual by either $5 or $10 a month. The amount of the allowance to each individual would still be determined by local boards, based on actual need. In many cases there probably would be no increase in these individual allowances.

There is much talk about redistricting and several plans are being considered but it is safe to predict that if any changes are made they will consist largely of minor adjustments. Our district would be changed in all the plans I have heard discussed. One of these plans that would reduce the Senate from 67 to 41 members would make one district of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties. Another more modified plan that would reduce the number of districts by only four would group Kittson, Roseau and Lake of the Woods together while Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake would be one district. Marshall would elect a representative and Pennington and Red Lake would elect a representative together and all three counties would elect a senator. Clearwater would be joined to Beltrami under this plan. The large cities want more representation in the legislature but it isn't likely that their wishes will be gratified.

Most cheerful news I saw in last week's paper was the announcement of that $48,000 cut in the county's debt. Let's give the brothers a hand. Maybe they will double the amount this year. It is easier to pay debts now than it will be in 1951.

The January 1943 volume of bank debits in Thief River Falls shows a three per cent increase when compared with the first month of 1942. These bank debit figures which are released each month by the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis, are representative of the checks drawn by depositors against their bank accounts, and indicate that payments are being made for goods, services, debts, etc. Debit totals are considered a good indicator of local trade volume.

HORNETS LOSE TO HALLOCK SEXTET IN OVERTIME TILT

Locals Win from Warroad 4 to 2; Enter Tourney Slated at Crookston

The Hornets marked up a win and a loss in two crowd-pleasing games played here last week, losing their first game of the season when a fine Hallock team, sparked by right-wing Leonard Lander, outscored the Hornets, 6 to 4, in an overtime contest Thursday night; and then bouncing back from that defeat to hand Warroad a 4 to 2 setback on Saturday night. This week-end the locals will participate in the 40 & 8 Junior hockey tournament which will be held in Crookston's Winter Sports building on Friday and Saturday.

Hallock's black-haired Len Lander proved to be the Hornets' nemesis Thursday night, for the sharpshooting wing accounted for four goals and assisted on the fifth tally. After Hallock had taken an early two-goal lead the Hornets, on scores by Lloyd Johnson and Bob Baker, with Baker getting two markers, held a 3 to 2 advantage as the teams left the ice at the end of the first period. And the locals continued to hold the lead until the final 28 seconds of play when Lander, taking a pass from Leo Schulte, punched home the tying goal. Fifty seconds into the overtime period, Schulte, with Lander getting the assist, netted the game-winning goal. In the final seconds of the overtime Johnny Baker, getting a clean break, drove in on the Hallock goalie, but he could not control the rolling puck and his shot was blocked.

In a bruising contest on Saturday night the Hornets came back from their Hallock defeat to administer a 4 to 2 setback to the Warroad high school team. Dick Roberts, with a shot from the blue-line, opened the scoring, and the Warroad sextet held the lead until late in the second period when Johnny Efteland, after some nifty stick-handling, slipped in a goal from close in. Bob Baker's two solo goals in the third period, and Les Vignes' long shot goal, gave the Hornets their 4 to 2 margin, with Gordy Christian tallying the second goal for Warroad.

The Hornets will face the Williams high school sextet at 2:00 P. M. Friday afternoon in the Crookston Winter Sport building in their first-round game in the 40 & 8 Northwest Junior hockey tournament. If they defeat the Williams team the Hornets will be pitted against the winner of the Roseau vs. Crookston Central game. Twelve teams have entered the hockey tourney, including the defending champion Eveleth Rangers.

Playing at Crookston Tuesday evening the Hornets were held to 3-all deadlock by the Crookston Cathedral "Blue Wave." Cathedral, on two first-period goals, held an early lead, but the Hornets, with Bob Baker counting two tallies and Johnny Efteland scoring a single, tied the game and forced the contest into overtime.

Thieves Are Victorious in Arena Contest Sunday Afternoon

In a game that was featured by a couple of fistic flare-ups in the final period, the "Thieves" defeated the River Valley team, 6 to 1, in a broomball hockey game played here Sunday afternoon.

First period goals by Roy Oen, Doc Elstad, Vern Williams, and Merle Lindberg, gave the locals a 4 to 1 lead, with Casimir Radniecki collecting the River Valley score. The "Thieves" added a goal in the second period, by Roy Oen, and another in the final stanza, also by Oen.

The final period found several of the players pairing off and engaging in impromptu set-to's. Stan Radniecki and Doc Elstad opened the festivities, and Jack Radniecki and Vern Williams added a fillip or two. Referee Helmer Ness sent the boys to the penalty box to "cool" off.

Northern Baseball Loop Suspends for Duration

The Class C Northern baseball league has suspended all operations for the duration. Action was taken at a meeting of the seven remaining clubs in the circuit at Minneapolis Saturday. The final vote was unanimous although there was a lengthy discussion on the possibility of continuing.

The Prowlers won a costly victory last Friday night, for in defeating the Warren Ponies, 46 to 32, in a game played at Warren, the locals lost the services of their captain, Jack Melby, for at least a week or more. Melby, during the final seconds of the game, made a dive for a loose ball and while prone on the floor Warren's Clyde Culver, who had also made a try for the ball, accidentally rammed into Melby, inflicting a painful kidney injury. The Prowlers, with a re-vamped lineup, will face the eighth region's basketball champions, the Bagley Flyers, here Saturday night.

Coach Glenn Hanna inserted three of his reserves into the Prowlers' starting lineup at Warren on Friday and the Ponies took advantage of that "break" to pile up a 10 to 3 first-period lead. Maynard Ranstrom garnered three baskets during the period, while the locals' points were marked up by Bill McKechnie, with a field goal and a free throw.

The Prowlers, with Bill Bye and McKechnie doing the bulk of the scoring, pecked at the Warren lead and midway in the second period the Prowlers tied the count with McKechnie getting the game-tying goal. Bob Abbott, who played a fine game on offense, looped in a field goal and a free throw to give the Prowlers a 19 to 17 lead at the half-time.

Dean Faulks' long shot knotted the score in the opening minutes of the third period; but Don Berg, who, with Melby, had just entered the game, boosted in a close shot. Vern Henrikson tallied a Warren free throw. Jack Melby bounced in for a field goal. Jim Nicholls connected with a field goal, and when Ranstrom notched a long shot, Warren took over the lead, 24 to 23. Milt Reierson broke up a Pony play and went in for a set-up, and Bye added a free throw. Nicholls and Henrikson rang up field goals, and again Warren held a lead, 28 to 26. Berg's goal made the score even-stephen, and Bye's two-pointer gave the Prowlers a 30 to 28 margin going into the final period.

Ranstrom's hoist gave Warren the first points, and brought the game into a tie; but McKechnie drove in for a neat shot, Reierson collected a free throw, Abbott, continuing his fine play, hoisted in two field goals, followed by Reierson's field goal, and the Prowlers moved away from the Ponies.

In the preliminary game the Prowlers 'B' team easily subdued the Warren 'B' team, marking up a 35 to 7 win. Virg Evenstad, with 9 field goals and 2 free throws, was the game's high-point man. Herb Claffy, Prowler 'B' team forward, suffered a fracture in the right foot during the game.

Use American-born Japs on Farms, Hagen Urges

Use of American-born Japanese from detention camps, reform school and prison inmates under an honor system, and of conscientious objectors, to relieve labor shortages was recommended Saturday by Representative Harold C. Hagen, Crookston.

Hagen sent his recommendations which he said had come to him from his congressional district, to Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard and to D. S. Meyer, head of the war relocation authority.

In his letters to Wickard and Meyer, Hagen reported his office to be flooded with mail sounding the labor [illegible]

A Rough Week

Last week was quite rough for several of the high school athletes. First, the Prowlers' captain, Jack Melby, gets a knee jammed into his back during the Warren game and as a result he will be forced to "rest" for a couple of weeks; then the Hornets hockey team lost their goalie and captain, Johnny Robarge, and spares Tim Conners, Bobby Olson, and Ronnie Weflen through ineligibility; and finally, Herb Claffy breaks a small bone in his foot in the preliminary game at Warren, and he'll be hobbling around on crutches for several weeks.

The Prowlers loss of Melby, and the Hornets losing Robarge, with the Northwest hockey tournament on the schedule this week, were the two blows which made the week rough. Jack Melby was just reaching peak form, becoming accustomed to the guard position, and developing aggressiveness on the attack—but now he'll have to recess for a week or two. And Johnny Robarge has long been rated as one of the northwest finest prep goalies.

Coach Glenn Hanna has been digging into his reserves for a replacement for Melby, and it appears that Bud Eide or Virg Evenstad will be given a try at the guard position against the Bagley Flyers Saturday night. Hockey coach Connie Stanbridge has put the pads on Bernard Kobetsky in an effort to block the Hornet goal and Bernie was in the nets in the games against Crookston Cathedral and Roseau this week.

It's Wide Open

With Eveleth, Thief River Falls, Warroad, and Hallock, among others, slated to play in the 40 & 8 Junior Hockey tournament at Crookston this week-end, hockey fans in that vicinity should prepare themselves for some first-rate entertainment. Cliff Thompson's Eveleth team, as the defending junior hockey champions, are entitled to be ranked as the favorites; but Warroad, Hallock, and Thief River Falls, judged on their records, are capable of winning the championship. Warroad and Thief River, because of their sturdier players, perhaps have a slight advantage over the lighter, faster-skating Hallock team in tournament play. And Eveleth will have a decided advantage in reserves over both Warroad and the Hornets.

Take It Easy, Boys

There were a couple of other blows which added to the week's roughness, but they were landed during the River Valley vs. Thieves broomball game last Sunday. Referee Helmer Ness, especially during the third period, was kept plenty busy in trying to keep the boys from committing mayhem on each other. Every time there was a collision Helmer would hurry over and advise the boys to "Take it easy. Take it easy." But in spite of Helmer's efforts there were two or three "explosions." Doc Elstad and Stan Radniecki mixed for a few moments at the south end of the rink, with Doc getting a major penalty for his part in the fray; and a few minutes later, Vern Williams and Jack Radniecki tangled, and Jack cracked Vern over the head with a broom-stick, breaking the handle in two. The boys exchanged a few blows before referee Helmer was able to get over there and make his "Take it easy" speech.

Watch This

If the Eveleth high school hockey team can secure transportation to the tournament at Crookston, and their entry has been received, an effort will be made to have the Rangers come here for a game against the Hornets on the Arena ice Sunday afternoon. Eveleth and Thief River divided in the two games played between the clubs last year, the Hornets defeating the Rangers in the state high school tourney at Roseau, and Eveleth defeating the locals in the finals in the 40 & 8 tournament held here in March.

Miscellany

Doug Snelling, captain of the Hornets hockey team last year, who is employed in the shipyards at Duluth, is a member of the AFL Local 416 hockey team. Nearly two hundred candidates tried out for the team, including a number of semi-pro's, so Doug did well in being chosen for the team—Jimmy Laurent, captain of the Crookston Pirates basketball team, has quit school and is awaiting his call to the marines; Jim's loss will make quite a difference in coach Lysaker's team. He was a fine guard and a neat long shot.

Pigs Free to Roam

In the Sixteenth century, Scottish law gave the freedom of city streets to pigs, chickens and other domestic animals, and anyone caught disturbing them was fined for causing them aggravation.

SURVEY REVEALS $15,000,000 GAIN IN STATE REVENUE

Receipts for 1942 Take Huge Jump, Research Group Points out

Tracing revenues and expenditures of the state over a period of ten years, the Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research in a new bulletin made public this week reported a gain of $15,414,000 in state revenue for the 1942 fiscal year over 1941 and pointed out that surpluses have accumulated in various funds which place the state treasury in the best position in many years.

The state income tax school fund will have a surplus of more than $7,000,000 at the end of the present fiscal year on June 30th, the report said. The general revenue fund will have a surplus of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, and the state highway fund, more than $10,000,000.

What should be done in the face of these surpluses? Should taxes be reduced or should tax rates be retained at present levels and the surpluses maintained or increased to meet the days of reduced revenue to follow? The report does not answer the question, but presents an imposing array of facts affecting the problem for the Minnesota legislature to consider in making the decision.

Total revenue for the year ending June 30, 1942, was $120,126,000, the report showed, compared to $104,712,000 for the previous year and $52,033,000 for the 1933 fiscal year. Big factors in the gain over 1941 have been an increase in federal aids, and the improvement in business conditions. Funds received by the state in federal aids have increased from $5,365,231 in 1933 to fully $20,768,799 in 1942, the report showed.

Two different analyses on expenditures were presented. One showed expenditures from current revenue and borrowed funds for current operations: $68,111,000 in the 1933 fiscal year, $105,665,000 at the peak in 1938, $94,140,000 in 1941 and $101,916,000 for 1942.

Another tabulation, based on costs appearing currently in taxes, left out expenditures from borrowed funds and included payments on old debts. Payments made on debts covering expenditures of prior years, amounted to $17,177,000 in 1942, or nearly $5,000,000 more than in the previous year. This tabulation showed expenditures of $113,381,000 in 1942, compared to $100,488,000 in 1941, with $102,983,000 at the previous peak in 1939 and $57,070,000 in 1933.

Major factors contributing to the increase in the cost of current operations in 1942 over 1941 were an added expenditure of $5,467,000 for highways, $1,177,000 more for education and increased welfare payments.

BILLS PROPOSE SLASH IN STATE PROPERTY LEVY

Minnesota Taxpayers Association Reports on Measures

State taxes on real and personal property would be slashed by several mills under a proposal now before the Minnesota legislature. The proposal would cut the present 9 mills to 7¼ mills the first year, and would reduce the state levy to 5 mills the following year, 1944, which would reduce property levies by nearly $5,000,000 for the biennium, according to a statement by the Minnesota Taxpayers association.

Figures just compiled reveal that only 8.6 per cent of the taxes collected by the state now come from direct levies on general property. Local units raise nearly all their money by such taxes, but in addition receive state aids for schools, welfare, roads, etc.

"The goal of county and state taxpayer groups for many years has been to eliminate state taxes on real and personal property. The state should be able to do this eventually, since it has a number of other tax sources. Ultimate elimination of the state property levy would improve the tax base in Minnesota because it would allow local government to use this source exclusively to care for local costs," according to James P. McDonnell, president of the state association.

Last year the state's share of property taxes amounted to $9,402,347. Should the state release its use of property taxes as a base, the practice of "matching funds" might be eased up somewhat and home communities would become less dependent on state "handouts."

Rural Travel Drops 48% in Newly Rationed Area

Motor vehicle traffic on rural highways throughout the vast area in which gasoline rationing became effective December 1 dropped off 48 per cent during the first month of rationing as compared to traffic volume in December of the previous year. The reduction in travel in the newly rationed area which included Minnesota was only one per cent less than in the eastern states where gasoline rationing had been effective for several months, according to traffic count statistics announced by the United States public roads administration in Washington. The 48 per cent traffic decline in the newly rationed area for December compares with an average decline of about 23 per cent in the months previous to rationing.

WE'RE CONSERVING MATERIALS TO HELP "Pass the Ammunition"

Conservation of materials is not new in the telephone business. We have been doing it for years because it helps in carrying out our policy of providing the best telephone service at the lowest cost.

Now, as everyone knows, there's another reason for conserving—to help win the war. We are being extra careful to save every scrap of wire, rubber and other critical war materials. With the help of the Bell System research and manufacturing organizations, ways have been found to use substitutes for many critical materials.

In every part of the job of providing telephone service, our first aim is to be of maximum service in helping to win the war.

Idle Commercial Motor Vehicles to be Reported to U. S. Office in Fargo

All idle commercial motor vehicles must be reported to the district office of the Office of Defense Transportation not later than the fifth of every month, William H. Thompson, district manager of the motor transport division of ODT in Fargo, warned today.

This regulation applies to all commercial motor vehicles, both on and off the highway types, and regardless of whether or not a certificate of war necessity has been issued. Equipment which becomes idle for any reason must be reported, Mr. Thompson said. This includes equipment idle because of breakdown, labor shortage, lack of traffic, etc.

An idle truck is defined as one that was not in operation for the two weeks preceding the close of the month. On these, reports should be made on form CWN-3 which may be obtained through local county farm transportation committees or the ODT office in Minneapolis. The idle equipment reports should be submitted to the ODT district office between March 1 and March 5 for equipment idle between February 15 and 28 inclusive.

Production Loans

Since January, 1927—sixteen years, this agricultural credit company has been loaning money to farmers in Northwestern Minnesota, not only in good times like now when money is about the cheapest commodity on the market, but all through the hard times from 1927 on, when a livestock loan was next to impossible to get, and creditors in many cases were demanding full payment of notes.

We are as able now as before to furnish funds for necessary production of crops or livestock or for the liquidation of present incumbrance.

See or write us for 4½% money if you have use for it.

There's NO PLACE LIKE HOME

Stephen Foster, who wrote the immortal words of "Home, Sweet Home" never had a home . . . Most of us are more fortunate, and just now a great deal more appreciative of our homes, be they 'ever so humble'. Beyond the protection and comfort they offer, are the serenity, good cheer and hospitality which they provide after the day's hard war-winning work is over.

Cool, refreshing beer, brewed from nutritive grains and served in your own home, can be proud of its part in fostering necessary sobriety during wartime. In the quantity you would serve as a gracious gesture to your friends and neighbors, beer is not intoxicating. It is mildly stimulating, aids relaxation, and thus helps relieve fatigue and wartime tension.

That Extra Something!
. . .You can spot it every time

Andre Kostelanetz, in "The Pause That Refreshes On The Air", broadcast every Sunday afternoon for Coca-Cola, brings you music with distinction. His listening audience is counted in millions. It's the extra touch Andre Kostelanetz gives to music that gives this program a character all its own. Coca-Cola, too, won distinction by giving folks something extra in refreshment.

Raise a frosty bottle of Coca-Cola to your lips. Where else than in Coca-Cola itself will you find this unique taste? It more than quenches thirst. It adds refreshment . . . refreshment that goes into energy.

Fifty-seven years of experience and skill, with choicest ingredients—create a quality in Coca-Cola that never loses the freshness of its appeal.

• • •

Wartime limits the supply of Coca-Cola. Those times when you cannot get it, remember: Coke, being first choice, sells out first. Ask for it each time.

Intermission for musicians means a trek to the Coca-Cola cooler. These artists look to the pause that refreshes for quick energy, complete relaxation. Ask your musician friend what drink he prefers!

'Hope It's A Sherbet"

THE War Effort needs cream—lots of milk and cream for butter, cheese and other dairy products. That's why your dealer is going to have less ice cream to sell. But it isn't necessary that you give up your refreshing soda fountain snack, that children give up their cones, or the family their frozen dinner dessert.

★ ★ ★ ★

To those of you who haven't been enjoying sherbets, there's a delicious new taste thrill coming when you say "Make mine a sherbet", or when you order "half and half"—half ice cream and half sherbet.

★ ★ ★ ★

We're frankly asking for your co-operation—asking that you, for the duration, order and enjoy sherbets separately or in combination with ice cream.

★ ★ ★ ★

Available in popular flavors such as Pineapple, Lemon and Orange, they are delightfully good—pleasing to the taste and healthful energy-building foods. Other flavors will be added from time to time.

LEGISLATIVE MILL GRINDING AWAY SLOWLY

Two Teacher Tenure Proposals Revived in House This Week

COMMITTEE AMENDS BILL ON WAR POWERS

Bill Introduced to Relieve Many from Paying Moneys, Credit Tax

Two teacher tenure bills, defeated last week, were revived in the legislature Tuesday, with the result that one was modified and given final approval by the house while the other was referred to the house education committee for further study and amendment.

The measure amended and passed, 94 to 6, after the house agreed to reconsider, extends the tenure act provisions to include librarians and councilors. The original bill, however, provided for inclusion of administrative assistants and would have changed use of the word "qualified" to "certified" in referring to teachers covered by the act.

Heated debate marked revival of the other measure, which established the principle of seniority for teachers, but it was routed in a different direction than the principal author, Rep. L. E. Brophey, wanted it sent. Rep. Edward Chilgren, Littlefork, threw a monkey wrench into Brophey's plan to send the bill to the committee on cities of the first class when he submitted an amendment to have it referred to the educational committee. Chilgren's motion carried.

Gov. Harold Stassen's war powers bill, changed and rewritten by the house committee on civil administration, came back into the house as a new measure and bearing the blessings of the committee.

Another measure introduced provides for $1,000 exemption for every person of moneys and credits and also ends publication of moneys and credits risks. The bill also would allow a credit of the money and credits taxes paid toward a person's income tax payment. Failure to make a return is made a gross misdemeanor.

Rep. Carl M. Iverson, Ashby, introduced a bill on behalf of the committee on co-operative associations "may buy and hold stock in other corporations organized for a similar general purpose."

The senate tax committee went on record as favoring in principle a bill which it was estimated would save individual income tax. The measure would return to the Themeasure would return to the federal system of computation—that is subtracting exemptions from gross income in place of the present system of figuring the tax and then subtracting certain credits.

PROCLAMATION BY MAYOR KINGHORN

Whereas, the men of our armed forces are fighting and living on the far flung battlefronts of the world . . . from the steaming jungles of New Guinea to the sun baked sands of Africa, on the sea and in the air, and

Whereas, the success of our forces in preserving a world where men and women may be free depends on the support and inspiration they get from the people back home, and

Whereas, it is the privilege and the duty of every man and woman and child to serve the cause of humanity in every manner possible and to as great extent as possible, and

Whereas, it is the aim of peace loving people of our nation to contribute in sweat and toil and sacrifice—sacrifice of luxuries and comforts to the support of those men and women who are risking and giving their lives for us, and

Whereas, at the same time our home front must be prepared to cope not only with possible attack on our shores but with natural disasters, such as earthquakes, floods, hurricanes, tornados and drouth and epidemics, and

Whereas, the American Red Cross is equipped and ready to cope with these and every such emergency which may arise in our own and every community such indispensable welfare programs as public health nursing, home nursing, first aid water safety and accident prevention and through the schools the junior Red Cross acts as a medium for service by our young people and

Whereas, The American Red Cross is able and ready to render protection and relief in case of the aforementioned disasters.

Therefore, I, H. W. Kinghorn, mayor of Thief River Falls in accord with the President of the United States who has proclaimed March as Red Cross month, do call on all public spirited citizens of this community to make every effort to support the 1943 Red Cross War Fund; and I further proclaim that it is the sense of all of us who are residents of Thief River Falls and community that our gifts must be larger than ever this year in order to enable this great organization of ours to meet whatever demands are made upon it.

MAYOR H. W. KINGHORN.

CANNED GOODS UNDER DRASTIC RATION MARCH 1

Consumers Will be Allowed Less than Half as Much as a Year Ago

POINT VALUES WERE ANNOUNCED SUNDAY

Restrictions on Purchase More Severe than Had Been Expected

The government announced Sunday night how much processed food the new ration books will buy, a drastic scale of point values limiting consumption to less than half of normal.

The 48 ration points allotted to each man, woman and child for March will command two cans of sliced pineapple, or three cans of peas, or 48 cans of baby food.

The 48 points may be spent, of course, on a variety of different foods. Here is what some of them will "cost", in the most popular can sizes:

Peas 16 points, corn 14, tomatoes 16, green beans 14, pears 21, peaches 21, grapefruit juice 23, tomato juice 22, soup 6, baby food 1.

Office of price administration issued a detailed tabulation of nearly 900 different point values which will determine how much canned and frozen fruits and vegetables, dried fruits, canned soups and baby foods may be bought when the rationing starts March 1. Sale of these items is frozen until then.

Point values for dried beans, peas and lentils which were brought under the rationing only Saturday night will be announced later.

Values announced Sunday are expected to remain in effect throughout March, although they could be raised or lowered at any time. At the end of the month OPA will announce values for April, which may be the same or different.

First 48 points provided by the new ration books to be distributed this week are designed to cover purchases for all of March. During the last week of March, however, some of the April ration coupons may be used if necessary.

It had been announced previously the individual allotment for March would be 48 points, but value of these points was a closely kept secret and Sunday's announcement constituted a severe blow to householders who have been relying mostly on canned goods for their tables.

"This means we will be eating less than half as much canned and processed foods as we ate the previous year," commented Prentiss Brown, OPA administrator. "We'll go on this scant ration so that our fighting forces and the fighting forces of our Allies may have the food they need to carry on."

He estimated civilians will have, from March 1 to September, 1944, a total of 254,000,000 cases of canned fruits and vegetables—an average of little more than 12,000,000 cases a month compared with 30,000,000 a month in 1941-42.

Of adult foods, the only thing "cheap" on the table was canned sauerkraut, at 5 points a common can, but very little is on the market. Canned meat and canned fish remain under a sales ban but are due to be rationed along with meat at the end of the month.

Canned milk, butter and other oils probably will join the ration list soon but remain on sale in the meantime. Bread, milk, meat, soaps, fresh fruits and vegetables and other unrationed items remain on sale, too.

The point table will be posted in grocery stores, and cans and shelves will be marked with the point values.

REPORT REVEALS INEQUALITIES IN MONEY, CREDIT TAX

Bills Introduced in Legislature to Abolish or Modify Levy

With bills pending in both houses to abolish or modify the moneys and credits tax, the Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research in a report submitted to the legislature this week showed a widespread variance in assessment of the levy and concluded that the tax is inequitable.

"Tax authorities agree that a tax must be uniformly assessed if it is sound," the report said. "Experience in Minnesota and other states indicates that this cannot be achieved in taxing intangible property."

In only six counties, the report showed, did the moneys and credits tax for the year 1941 exceed $90,000. The counties were Hennepin, Ramsey, St. Louis, Olmsted and Washington. In each of 58 counties, the amount levied was less than $10,000. In the state as a whole, the tax brings in only $2,500,000 a year, or only about two per cent of the total derived from property taxes.

Though assessments now are made against some 150,000 persons, the report brought out, there is widespread evasion of the tax. In most counties, the assessment of moneys and credits are only a small fraction of the total bank deposits in the community, though money in banks is but one of the items taxed under the three-mill money and credits levy. In only 14 counties, were moneys and credits assessments as much as two-thirds of bank deposits in 1940, the report said.

In 82 counties, 60% or more of those filing personal property tax returns did not file a moneys and credits tax return, the report said. Hennepin county has the best record, with but 36% failing.

F-L CONFERENCE IN MINNEAPOLIS DISCUSSES PEACE

Elmer A. Benson Re-elected as Chairman of State Association

Farmer-Labor Association members topped off their mid-winter conference in Radisson hotel Minneapolis, Sunday by airing demands for a people's peace and for national unity in the war effort.

Congressman Jerry Voorhis of California, scheduled to address the meeting Sunday night, telegraphed he would be unable to attend because of pressure of work in Washington.

That left the evening meeting open for general discussion of postwar problems concerned with establishing a lasting peace, with Alderman W. Glenn Wallace, Minneapolis, leading the talk.

During an afternoon discussion of peace objectives, Mrs. Susie Stageberg of Red Wing, suggested "we should find out who is going to sit at the peace table and get next to them, to be sure the workers and farmers are represented."

Mrs. Marion LeSueur of Minneapolis urged the association demand a united war council, to include Russia and China, and insist that President Roosevelt "clean up his own state department because we aren't preparing for peace by liberating a country and then setting up a Vichy government in it," referring to recognition of former Vichy officials in North Africa.

Ferguson, chairman of the association's agriculture committee, asked the views of the members relative to the advisability this spring of arranging a banquet for county 4-H club workers, as has been the custom in recent years. After some discussion, final action on the matter was deferred pending a study of the effects of the food rationing program.

L. W. Bulien, treasurer of the local board of education, discussed details of the report to the legislature made by the interim committee on education, following which the association went on record in favor of the adoption of the report by the legislature in its present form.

BAGLEY QUINTET TRIMS PROWLERS; PIRATES COMING

Crookston Will Appear Here in Important Game Friday

An all-veteran, smooth-passing Bagley team scored a convincing 39 to 23 triumph over the Melbyless Prowlers here Saturday night, and the manner in which they marked up their victory should serve notice to the eighth region that the Flyers will make a determined bid to retain their regional honors next month. Tomorrow night, on the local floor, the Prowlers will engage in an important district conference game, meeting the Crookston Pirates. A win for the locals will clinch first place in the district standings.

The first period of Friday night's game was a cautious and low-scoring quarter, with Bagley, on field goals by Jim Buckley, John Furuseth, and Orland Solum, and free throws by Buckley and Don Beltz, notching 9 points, while the Prowlers were marking up 4 points, on Bob Powell's long shot, and free throws by Milt Reierson and Bob Abbott. Bagley's nifty south-paw forward, Cyril Chapieski, was forced out of the game early in the period when he received a badly bruised left eye when he collided with Bill Bye. Chapieski re-entered the game late in the second period after having his eye bandaged.

Don Berg tossed in a free throw to open the second period and then, getting a pass from Bob Wright, dribbled in to the west goal and connected for a field basket. Milt Prestemon, Bagley captain, recovered a rebound and potted a close shot and after Berg had added a Prowler free throw, Solum and Chapieski drilled in a couple of goals. Milt Reierson's long hoist found the net, but Prestemon drove in for a set-up. Bill McKechnie's try from the edge of the free throw circle was good and the locals trailed by a 17 to 12 score at the half.

Bagley, with some fine ball-handling on the offense and employing a man-to-man defense, and with Solum and Prestemon controlling the rebounds, had a decided advantage in the play during the second half, holding a 28 to 17 lead at the end of the third period. The Flyers added nine points to their lead in the final period before the Prowlers, on McKechnie's shot, could mark up any points. Prestemon's one-handed try made the score 39 to 19 with two minutes to play. Art Forsberg tallied a free throw, Berg connected with a field goal, and then added a free throw, to close out the scoring.

In the preliminary game the Newfolden team, with forward Lowell Anderson accounting for 23 points, outscored the Prowler "B" team, 38 to 29. Virg Evenstad nearly matched Anderson's total, getting 17 points on 7 field goals and 3 free throws.

Games this week:
Lions vs. Civic & Commerce.
Eagles vs. Jr. C. of C.

The results of the week's broomball games left the league standings knotted in a three-way tie for the lead, with the Eagles, Lions, and C. & C. each having six points.

Team captains will meet this week to complete arrangements for the championship play-offs which, if ice conditions permit, are scheduled to get under way next week.

Vern Williams solo rush late in the third period gave the Lions a 1 to 1 tie in their game against the J. C's last Wednesday evening. Randall Noper had marked up a goal for the Juniors early in the period, and it appeared the Lions were about to be set back when Williams flipped in his game-tying goal.

Thursday night's tussle was the season's fastest game, with the Civic & Commerce and Eagles playing to a 2-all deadlock. Bush Hallstrom and Roy Oen, with first period goals, gave the C. & C.'s an early lead; but Helmer Ness' Eagles, with Mouse Efteland in their lineup, picked up a score in the second period, when Mouse counted, and then knotted the score when Doc Elstad and Mouse Efteland combined for a goal in the third period.

Sunday afternoon's game, which should have been termed a "mop-ball" game because of the slush ice, found the C. & C. team taking the measure of the J. C's, 2 to 0. Roy Oen was given credit for the goal when a rebound glanced off Walt Larson, of the J. C's, into the net; and Connie Stanbridge tallied the second goal, punching home a shot from close in.

BY SENATOR W. E. DAHLQUIST

This Monday is Washington's birthday and tonight, here at the hotel, the postmasters of the state will assemble to break bread together and to express their appreciation in various ways for the benefits of citizenship which they have enjoyed. I have tried to rationalize their decision to make Washington's birthday their day of sacrifice. What was there in the life of this great leader that inspires this special recognition by our "new dealers"?

When the brothers wax oratorical at the banquet, what particular virtues of our first President will these present rulers of our country extol? Will they praise him for the vision that prompted him to advise against entangling foreign alliances? Will they applaud him for refusing to accept compensation for his services either as commander-in-chief or as President in the country's hour of need? I do not know, and probably never will know because I will not be among those present.

Maybe it isn't important. I can understand why the word "Washington" has a special charm for them. Washington is a beautiful city on the Potomac, the city from which all blessings flow. Maybe it is the birthday of the city of Washington they will celebrate, and what could be more appropriate. At any rate I hope to renew acquaintances with a few of the brothers before the day is over and so I will hustle along with this chore of grinding out the weekly column. It might develop into a pleasant day. But I will not attend the banquet—not at the prevailing price of admission—unless Andy should invite me in as his guest.

One nice thing about this job is that it provides frequent opportunities of being a guest. During the past week I have bought only one dinner and if this keeps up I am going to come pretty close to breaking even financially on my vacation. To cap the climax of a very inexpensive week, last night I ate South Dakota pheasant at the Dreng Bjornaraa home and not only had a good meal but enjoyed a pleasant evening during which we solved practically all of the problems of the state and nation along with a few of a local nature that are peculiar to the Thief River Falls community. In his wanderings back and forth over the country Dreng has picked up a wealth of experience and on most of the questions we discussed I think I came out on the long end of the trade when we exchanged ideas.

Thinking about that pleasant dinner made me hungry again and I have just returned from the coffee shop where I spent some of my own money for the relief of this, the world's oldest relief problem. The coffee shop was swarming with wealthy Democrats. Another thing that irritated me was that old pork chop fraud of restaurant keepers. The menu specifically stated "pork chops" but when it came out on the plate it was "chop". They have no regard for the fine distinction that exists between singular and plural. If I ever get two chops again at a serving I will consider that singular. I am not beefing about the conservation of pork. It is the misrepresentation of quantity that throws me into a stew. The only pleasant thing about the meal was a printer's error in the menu. It always gives me some satisfaction to know that other printers make mistakes too. That is the easy way to justify our sins.

Tomorrow morning the legislative mill starts grinding again and coming to a vote is a so-called merchant's bill which I will have to oppose. I can see no justification for cluttering up our statutes with more laws that cannot be enforced. One of these days, in a fit of anger, I probably will pledge myself to oppose all new forms of regulation. We are regulated now to a point where we blush when we sing about the "land of the free."

Of course we need regulation and we probably will have to have more of it as we go along. Right now I am very much in favor of a proposed bill that would regulate trade schools. War conditions have brought this problem to a head. In recent years trade schools have become a racket, our young people being preyed upon by a group of leeches who offer high salaried jobs to anyone who will make a down payment on a tuition for a few weeks of special training. Good newspapers have refused to accept advertising from such schools, but high pressure agents have reaped a harvest. The bill which is now being considered will provide certain standards for the operation and advertising of such schools. Those that actually perform a useful service will not be injured by this form of regulation and I believe such legislation is definitely in the best interests of the public.

An interesting bill which we will consider tomorrow in the Committee on Education is a proposal for the reorganization of the Department of Education, providing for a board of regents consisting of nine members, presumably one from each congressional district, to govern the Department of Education and the teachers colleges. Members of this board of regents would be appointed for nine year terms, the terms being staggered so that one member would be named each year.

I have studied the bill but as yet I have not heard the arguments for or against such a plan so I have not formed any definite ideas on it. The general purpose probably is to remove the department a little farther away from politics to give its policies greater stability and avoid, if possible, such squabbles as we have had in recent years. Few will disagree with the desirability of such purposes but there might be some differences as to whether or not the purpose would be accomplished by this method.

Under the pressure of numerous demands for tax reduction I have interested myself this week in the possibilities for such reductions. During the year ending June 30, 1942, the state handled twice as much money as it did ten years ago. The cost of the regular services of the government over this ten year period have varied but little. The big increase has been in the special services, particularly highways, welfare and education. Here are some interesting comparisons.

Expenditures for	Fiscal Year 1932-33	Fiscal Year 1941-42
Health and Sanitation	1,079,385	1,561,279
Development and Conservation	4,397,366	4,642,547
Highways	21,623,723	35,763,614
Public Welfare	6,240,627	35,248,589
Education	18,640,460	27,740,978

These are not all of the totals on state expenditures but they are sufficient to serve as examples of our trend in recent years. If any of you want a complete but condensed report on the state's financial problems I suggest that you send a quarter to the Minnesota Institute of Governmental Research, 613 First National Bank Bldg., St. Paul, requesting their Bulletin No. 12. You will consider it a good investment.

The figures quoted above indicate the type of services that have increased our costs and which, presumably, would have to be curtailed if we are going to decrease our costs. These increased state costs would not be a matter of grave concern if by increasing our state expenditures we would have made possible reductions in the taxes levied by the local communities, but they have not had that effect.

These increased state expenditures have not reduced the local costs of roads or education while for public welfare the local communities are now spending twice as much of their own money, in addition to what is received from the state and federal government, as was spent for these purposes in our community eighteen years ago when we really had a depression. And the end is not yet. I can tell you that down here we are under heavier pressure to spend more money than to spend less. We also have ahead of us the problem of the returning soldier. The soldier's bonus following the last war cost the state $23,000,000 and our present soldiers, twice as many at least as we had in the last war, will have served at least twice as long. On this I will have more to say later on. In the meantime give me your ideas.

On another matter, too, I have joined the ranks of the rebellious. I am opposed to memorializing Congress requesting the federal government to feed our youngsters in school. The school lunch plan is fine and I have no quarrel with the idea but I think Minnesota has enough wholesome milk and nutritious food to provide for our own needs in this respect without seeking further alms in Washington.

Now, while I am still in this frame of mind, I will try to find Andy.

SHOE RATIONING

(Detroit Lakes Record)

While there may be some slight dissatisfaction with the suddenness of the shoe rationing order, we believe it is an improvement over the previous ones which gave hoarders such an excellent opportunity to lay in reserve supplies. Of course a few people got tipped off to the coming order by such damphoolishness as that exhibited by Mayor La Guardia in New York, and 'insiders' at Washington, but on the whole the secrecy was as commendable as the allowance is liberal.

Few sensible adults need more than three pairs of shoes annually, and the pooling of the family coupons will amply care for the children—if the shoe industry will develop a more durable child's shoe, especially for the teen-age boys who kick and scuff ordinary leather as if it were but paper. A return of the brass-toed footwear may not be amiss at this time.

And then, too, we believe even the womenfolks will rejoice at certain phases of the order, especially the elimination of the "non-essential" types of footwear such as have flooded the market in recent years and which beyond question represent the height of non-serviceable shoes—although the price tags were in no wise diminished because of a few vacancies in the toe and sides of the different designs!

ODIOUS COMPARISON

(Hopkins Review)

In castigating strikes over the nation, Wayne L. Morse of the War Labor Board, expressed public opinion when he said that service men who are "fighting and dying that labor in America may remain free," will not accept alibis for wartime work stoppages.

"No combination of words, no rationalized alibis, no pleas of provocation and extenuating circumstances can be, will be, or should be accepted by our fighting forces as justifying work stoppages resulting from disputes between employers and employees or between factions within their ranks."

It should also be said that the people are becoming nauseated with publicity seeking to impress on the public that workers in war industries are occupying "battle stations." By the wildest stretch of imagination there is no comparison between a workman living at home, enjoying family life, and drawing the highest pay on record, and a member of our armed forces who really occupies a "battle station" where bullets fly and men are killed. It is an insult to the boys at the front to even compare home jobs with the soldiers' work.

OLEO MAKING STRONG COMEBACK

(Alexandria Echo)

Oleomargarine is now making real progress in breaking down the heavy barrier which has so far been effectively built against it by butter producers. One has only to watch sales at any retail grocery store to see that many families, even farm families who sell butterfat, are now shifting to oleo as a substitute for butter. Butter is still far from being really high in price, yet many people all at once, are willing to eat oleo because it helps them save a few pennies. The matter of nutrition isn't a consideration with them. There is no law against anyone using oleo if they choose. But in a butter producing area — the heart of the butter country—it is disconcerting to see people resort to a cheap imitation which will in time cut a big swath in butter consumption. True, in eastern states and on the west coast, butter is scarce. That is why oleo is now able to make a comeback despite high taxes against it.

Plastics, wood, and other non-critical materials are now used in the manufacture of bugles and similar instruments. A new type of piano is being developed which would have a metal content less than 10 per cent of its total weight, and drums are designed with less than one-seventh of their previous metal composition.

India produced about one per cent of the world's rubber before the war, but now accounts for 9 per cent of natural rubber available to the United Nations.

Topics of the Times

By N. A. H.

So many reports dealing with various federal projects are coming out of Washington these days that newspapers must watch their step lest they degenerate into mere government bulletin boards.

Easter comes this year on the latest possible date — April 25. Here's hoping that that doesn't presage a late spring.

Have you learned the bad news, or haven't you yet filled out your income tax return?

The recent warnings of government officials to the effect that the American people should prepare for heavy casualties seems to be born out by developments in North Africa.

The climate down at Montevideo, Minn., must be healthful for lawyers. Three of them there have practiced their profession for a total of 178 years.

With so many men likely to be on foreign fronts and too busy to vote next year, it looks as tho the women folks should control the 1944 elections.

Uncle Sam is asking the hens to produce just short of five billion eggs this year. If they achieve that goal, Mr. Rooster will have something to crow about.

Some of our more critical colleagues, we notice, are referring to the peripatetic Mr. Stassen as governor of the United States.

And now clothes hoarders are so busy that retail stores in some towns are publishing appeals for shoppers to stay away.

PUBLIC OPINION

Dear Mr. Dahlquist:

In your letter in the last issue of the Times, you invite "suggestions for needed changes in the present Welfare law."

Aside from the question of the amount, the present law should be raised and also the question of the repeal of the lien on the homes of the aged citizens, there are changes that should be made in administration of the law.

The first change I would make in the law regarding its administration is in regard to the referee appointment where cases are taken beyond the decision of the local Welfare Board. I believe the District Judge should be the one to appoint a referee. The appointee to be a lawyer in the county where the claim arises but not the county attorney. There are two special reasons for this change. The first is that the referee from the state office naturally becomes a part of the state administration and to a greater or less degree, partial to the rules and methods of operation of both state and county boards. The second reason is, the delay in the hearing by the referee. In five cases I appealed from the award of the local board in Nov. 1941, the hearing before the referee eventually took place in Feb., 1942. When the hearing did take place it proved to be a complete farce. I needn't tell you that an old person could be subjected to a lot of worry, hunger and shivering during that period in this locality.

I won't attempt to picture to you in this letter, the miserable features of three of those cases but I will say that one of the parties has died. I believe his death was hastened by reason of lack of the things he should have been granted and by the deep resentment he felt, because of the treatment he received. The results of such a change in the law should be a fairer hearing, a more prompt hearing and the saving of considerable unnecessary expense to the state.

The second change is in regard to cases that should be carried to the court. In reference to the referee feature of the law, I have termed it a farce. In reference to the court procedure, it is an impossibility in 99% of the cases that should be taken to the court. The elderly people who are compelled to apply for O.A.A. have no money with which to hire lawyers and lawyers can not be expected to give their time to preparing law suits and attendance at court free of charge. I have investigated this matter very thoroughly after the decision of the referee was received in the three cases referred to above. The cost of carrying the cases up would amount to at least $75.00 for one case if tried alone and not less than $40.00 each if tried by the same attorney at the same term of court. Not one of the three people, the principals, had one dollar to put into court action.

The Welfare Boards, operating under state regulations based on actual need, see to it that there is not a penny left in the pocket of any O.A.A. recipient to squander in court procedure or in any other way. The law should be changed. The section referring to the court hearing should be stricken from the law and no longer remain as a joke perpetrated on the old people, or provision should be made wherein the state shall stand the expense of the appeal to the court. Such a change would not only insure justice to the elderly citizen but it should and would compel the state board as well as the local boards to give more consideration to the old people and not be so quick in cutting the allowance down to the last or least possible cent. It would, I believe, result in the law being administered somewhat in the way the government and the state law makers intended it should be administered.

The law should provide that on all local boards there would be two members selected by the O.A.A. group. Those members could be O.A.A. recipients or any other people they wished to select as their representatives. One should be a woman. At present the board in this county is made of of five members and that number is sufficient. There is no good reason why this change should not be made. The O.A.A. group are not a foreign foe or a troublesome class, whose voice should not be heard in public business transactions. They are the mothers and fathers of the present active generation who have positively rendered a service to this state and should be recognized as such. The men and women who have cleared the forests, grubbed out the stumps and made all of the improvements in the past generation, that makes of this country the fairest on earth today, should not be subjected, in their last years to a condition of life determined for them by a few young men and women who have never soiled their hands in real labor and who receive from the very fund that is allowed the elderly group, eight or ten times as much to live on as they are willing to allow that group.

From my experience in dealing with this subject in an effort to help, if possible, those whom I believed were not being treated fairly the changes I suggest appear to me to be very important.

Yours truly,
T. J. Welsh.

By Bureau of Internal Revenue

When, Where, and How Taxes are to be Paid

Taxes due on a return filed for the calendar year 1942 may be paid in full at the time for the filing of the return on or before March 15, 1943. The tax may, at the option of the taxpayer, be paid in four equal installments instead of in a single payment, in which case the first installment is to be paid on or before March 15, the second on or before June 15, the third on or before September 15, and the fourth on or before December 15, 1943. If the taxpayer elects to pay his tax in four installments, each of the four installments must be equal in amount, but any installment may be paid, at the election of the taxpayer, prior to the time prescribed for its payment. If an installment is not paid in full on or before the date fixed for its payment, the whole amount of the tax remaining unpaid is required to be paid upon notice and demand from the collector.

The tax must be paid to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer's return is required to be filed—that is, to the collector for the district in which is located the taxpayer's legal residence or principal place of business, or if he has no legal residence or principal place of business in the United States, then to the collector of internal revenue at Baltimore, Maryland.

In the payment of taxes a fractional part of a cent is to be disregarded unless it amounts to one-half cent or more, in which case it shall be increased to one cent.

The tax due, if any, should be paid in cash at the collector's office, or by check or money order payable to "Collector of Internal Revenue." In the case of payment in cash, the taxpayer should in every instance require and the collector should furnish a receipt. In the case of payments made by check or money order, however, the canceled check or the money order receipt is usually a sufficient receipt.

GARDEN and TABLE

By
ERNEST A. PALMER
County Agricultural Agent

Here's some advice you can use when you plan your garden. Choose vegetables that have what it takes to keep the family healthy. There's not only the summer to think of, but next winter, too. A little thought to producing, canning and storing fruits and vegetables at home can change a fair diet to a good one and a good one to an excellent one.

It's a good idea to plant some potatoes in your garden because folks don't tire of them and they store well. Root vegetables like rutabagas, beets, parsnips and onions will give wholesome variety to your meals this summer and will keep well for next winter's use. Legumes like beans, peas and soybeans can be dried and used as meat substitutes next winter. But don't forget to plant tomatoes and salad greens, so valuable for Vitamin C and thiamin. And don't neglect yellow and green vegetables such as carrots, yellow squash, chard, green peas and green beans, all rich in Vitamin A.

Here's a mark for you to shoot at. Prize winning couple of the 1942 Cass county garden contest canned 967 quarts of fruits and vegetables and stored 3000 pounds of vegetables and three bushels of dry beans, all produced on their own land.

When you order your garden seed, buy it from reliable companies. Cheap seed doesn't pay. After all, it's only a small item in total garden expense. For better selection, order seed in bulk thru catalogs. Although seed in small packets is just as good, it is more expensive.

Don't get so enthusiastic about gardening that you plow up your front yard, only to discover the soil is not adapted to a garden. Many a cinder pile is buried under green grass.

Homemakers who plan to do more canning this year will be wondering about available jars and covers. New covers will be limited to the self-sealing type in 1943. Rubber rings will be available for use with glass tops and zinc covers now on hand. Glass jars will continue to be manufactured in quart and pint sizes.

Thawing Spell Comes to Abrupt End Wednesday

Following nearly a week of mild weather, in which the mercury varied from 30 to 40 degrees above zero each day, an abrupt change was recorded late Tuesday, when the temperature fell rapidly until it reached a low point of -20 Wednesday morning. A blanket of several inches of wet snow fell early in the week.

COUPLE WRITES 152 LETTERS TO SOLDIERS

Pine River — Without a doubt Mr. and Mrs. Len Fields have established a record which no other couple can boast of when they wrote 152 letters to soldiers from the Pine River community, now serving in the armed forces all over the world. Firm believers that soldiers appreciate the news from home and never get enough mail the couple worked one Sunday writing the letters.

LOCAL DEBTS ARE SCALED DOWN IN PAST FOUR YEARS

In the past four years, a total of $20,140,780 has been cut from net bonded indebtedness of counties, townships, cities, villages and school districts in Minnesota. Such local indebtedness has been reduced from $211,575,135 in 1937, to $191,434,335 on January 1, 1942 according to a report presented to the state legislature by the Minnesota Taxpayers Association.

These latest available tabulations reveal that local units in 71 Minnesota counties have reduced their net indebtedness, while units in 15 counties have made some increases in their debt load period. Total net increase of units in 15 counties amounted to $3,933,038, but the over-all decrease for the entire state passed the twenty-million dollar mark.

Policy of a number of local units has called for debt retirement in order to compensate for the rising federal debt and to prepare local and state units for post-war deficit financing should it be necessary to take up the unemployment slack later on.

Township debt	3,263,221
City & village	109,762,981
School debt	47,709,763
Total debt	$290,569,787

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and mother, Luverne Royal, who passed away one year ago, Feb. 21.

"Not silent—just passed out of earthly hearing,
To sing Heaven's sweet, new song,
Not lonely — dearly loved, and dearly loving
Amid the white-robed throng.
Oh no, not dead, but past all fear of dying
And with all suffering over
[illegible] that I am dead when Jesus calls me
To live forevermore."

Hornets Win N. W. Jr. Hockey Championship

Ronnie Weflen Turns in Good Job of Goal Tending for Locals

The Arena Juniors "slushed" to a 4 to 0 win over the River Valley team in a hockey game played on the local rink Sunday afternoon. "Mouse" Efteland's rink-length solo goal gave the Juniors their first tally in the opening period, and in the second period, Lloyd Johnson and Noly Ness poked in counters. Walt Leach punched in a rebound in the third period to chalk up the final score.

The River Valley team, reinforced by the addition of Connie Engelstad, Ray and Harry Oen to their lineup, turned in a strong game, and only expert net-minding by Ronnie Weflen kept the maroon-and-gold clad sextet from scoring.

The summary:

The Hornets won the 40 & 8's Northwest Junior hockey tournament Saturday night by defeating the Crookston Cathedral Blue Wave, 3 to 2, in the finals of the tourney which was played at Crookston Friday and Saturday. Enroute to the championship, and the $50.000 first prize merchandise award, the locals defeated Williams, 5 to 2, in a first round game, then subdued Hallock, 3 to 2, in the semi-finals, after the Hallock team had been installed as the tourney favorites as a result of their 6 to 1 win over Warroad. Crookston Cathedral, meanwhile, had taken the measure of Roseau, 5 to 1, in their first round game, and trounced St. Michael's of Grand Forks, 4 to 1, in the semi-finals.

The Hornets and the Blue Wave faced off in the championship final at 9 o'clock Saturday night, following Williams 2 to 0 conquest of Crookston Central in the consolation finals. Both teams played fast hockey in spite of the "heavy" ice conditions. Bob Baker racked up the first goal, getting a break and driving in to beat Cathedral's young goalie at the 7:00 mark in the first period. Cathedral's Jimmy Medved knotted the score late in the period, knifing through the Hornet defense and flipping the puck past Bernie Kobetski.

Wes Hovie, of the Hornets "kid" line, picked up a pass from Marly Dorn, with seconds of play remaining in the second period, and whipped in a tally to give the Hornets a 2 to 1 lead as the teams moved into the final period. Marly Dorn, who with Bob Prutz, proved to be the most effective defensemen in the tournament, broke loose on a nifty solo rush to mark up a goal at the 8:00 mark, giving the Hornets some game "insurance". And the locals needed that margin for the Blue Wave, with Bill Sullivan and Jim Medved leading the attack, came back with a goal at the 13:00 mark, Medved getting the counter on an assist by Sullivan.

Late in the period penalties were meted out to Bob Prutz and Johnny Efteland and, playing with four men on the ice, the Hornets were forced to play tight defensive hockey, and only some spectacular stops by goalie Bernie Kobetski kept the Blue Wave from tying the score.

In the Hornets first round 5 to 2 win over Williams, the locals were sparked by the fine play of Bob Baker and Les "Blond Bomber" Vignes, each of whom counted twice, with Johnny Efteland getting the other Hornet goal. In a hotly-contested semi-final game the Hornets edged out the strong Hallock sextet. The locals jumped into an early lead, with Sonny Johnson lifting the first goal into the net, and Johnny Baker adding a score to give the Hornets a 2 to 0 first period lead. Bob Baker's score in the second period gave the locals a 3 to 0 margin; but Hallock, on goals by Duke Anderson and Leo Schulte, nearly erased that lead in the final period.

.... With BUCK OLSON

Hats Off to the Hornets

The Hornets, coach Connie Stanbridge, team manager Gil Reiersgaard, and others associated with the team, are deserving of some sincere pats on the back for the championship performance of the locals at Crookston Friday and Saturday. The Hornets waded through a field that included some of the finest prep hockey teams in two states, and came out the winner.

"The boys really went to town", is the way Gil phrased it, and I guess that just about sums up the Hornets' play. The Hornets entered the tourney under a heavy handicap, having lost goalies Johnny Robarge and Ronnie Weflen, and defenseman Tim Conners, through ineligibility. Bobby Olson had been ineligible too, but Corn, by some mighty studying, lifted himself on the eligible list. Bernie Kobetski was placed in the net, and Bernie turned in a first-rate net-minding game. The forwards were back-checking, and the defensemen were breaking up plays, and the few times that the opponents did break through, Bernie handled himself like a veteran.

Hallock Whips Warroad

The surprise of the tournament, and it was the consensus of the Hornets, was the 6 to 1 trouncing handed Warroad by Hallock. On the Monday preceding the tourney in a game played at Hallock, Warroad had scored a 4 to 3 win, so that one-sided Hallock triumph was unexpected.

If we have some freezing weather, so that the Arena rink will have fast ice, there's a probability that several hockey games will be played here. Crookston Cathedral, Warroad, and Hallock aren't convinced that the Hornets are the better team and are anxious to cross sticks with the locals. If ice conditions permit, the Hornets will oblige these teams with games.

Plenty of Dust

Emil "Dusty' Dostal certainly created plenty of bowling dust at the Mint alleys last Friday night. Anchoring the Eagles in a match against the Oen's, Emil crashed out a 637 total, having games of 200-241-196, and helped boost the Eagles into first place in the Business league standings. Dusty had only one blow and two splits during the match, piling up 17 strikes and 13 spares. Incidentally, that 637 established a season's record.

Clarence "Bush" Hallstrom stirred up some dust too, for rolling at the pilot spot on the Eagles, Bush racked up games of 224-170-183, for a fine 577 total. Bush had as many strikes as Emil, 17 but he ran into 5 splits and had 3 blows.

Some Smart Playing

Wally DuChamp, playing in a friendly pinochle game with Carl Ryan and Walt Jung, had a 620 score and had taken a set, Carl was at 890 and Walt had a 1290 score. Carl opened, Wally said sixty and got the bid, picked up the "cat", found two aces, and said, "Well, boys, I guess I won a game," and then laid down a "thousand" aces. Wally says you have to be plenty smart to play 'em like that.

Worth Winning

First place in the district standings is at stake in the game between the Pirates and the Prowlers tomorrow night, and first place, with its district tournament position, is worth much this year. Presuming that Climax wins the sub-district tourney held here next week and that Red Lake Falls is runner-up, the first place leader among the "big four" teams will be seeded into the bracket that contains Climax, Oslo, and Warren, and meeting Oslo in a first round game. The second place team will be placed in the lower bracket with East Grand Forks, Red Lake Falls, and St. Hilaire, and in that bracket every game will be a scrap.

The Prowlers, of course, always like to come up the hard way, so they'll perhaps drop the game Friday night in order that they will be placed in the lower, and tougher, bracket.

After their ragged and frantic play against Bagley last Saturday night, it's been a pretty sober bunch of boys that has been working out this week. While captain Jack Melby's injury has healed so rapidly that he is able to attend school, he is definitely out of Friday night's contest, but he is expected to begin light workouts next week and should be in good condition by tournament time. Jack's pretty vital in the Prowlers scheme of things.

CPL. JAS. TRIPP ATTENDS ADVANCED PILOT SCHOOL

From the basic flying training school, Minter Field, Bakersfield, California, Corporal James W. Tripp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tripp of Thief River Falls, has been transferred to the advanced liaison pilot school, Plainview, Texas, for training as a liaison pilot. The duties of a liaison pilot are vital to the armed forces. Flying light airplanes, they do a major part of reconnaissance work.

LOCAL SAILOR ATTENDING DIESEL TRAINING SCHOOL

Be Our Guest at the
FARM COMMANDO TRACTOR SCHOOL
In Charge of Factory-Trained Men
Sat., Mar. 6, Thief River Falls
You are cordially invited to be our guest at the Farm Commando tractor school, dedicated to the boys in the service from this community.
Let's get our farm equipment Ready to Roll and keep it that way. That's the theme of the Farm Commando School. Food is a vital weapon; our boys and their allies on the fighting fronts need every pound we can send them. To do it, we've got to lick the "gremlins," those little snipers that threaten to sabotage overworked farm equipment. Factory-trained men at the Farm Commando School can show you how to head them off, how to get more work out of your A-C tractor and keep it rolling on to Victory.
Everyone interested is welcome. We suggest that you bring several from your neighborhood in your car — save gas and tires. It will be a golden opportunity to get together . . . perhaps locate the help or machine you have been looking for.
We hope you will accept our special invitation to attend. It will be interesting, entertaining and you will enjoy every minute of it!

Highway Patrol Engages Woman Radio Operator

The Minnesota state highway patrol last week wrote another chapter in the rapidly developing story of women taking the places of men who have gone to war.

For the first time, at least in this section of the country, a girl took over the microphone of a large police radio broadcasting station when Miss Helen Dutton, highway department employe for more than six years, stepped in as the radio telephone operator of the patrol's central broadcasting station, WAMV.

The WAMV operator directs patrolmen to scenes of accidents or in pursuit of dangerous traffic law violators, and generally transmits orders and instructions to all officers within the range of the broadcasting station.

Total retail sales in 1942 reached the record total of $56,282,000,000 which was an increase of 4 per cent over 1941. Sales at retail in 1942 were 45 per cent higher than in the 1935-1939 base period.

FARM SECURITY AGENCY SEEKING BOYS FOR FARMS

Youths Take Special Short Course in Practical Farming

Forty Minnesota boys 16 years or older enrolled last week at the West Central School of Agriculture, Morris, for an intensive special short course in practical farming. They were recruited by the Department of Agriculture which has been charged with the job of relieving the farm labor shortage, and is making an effort to recruit all available and potential farm labor to supply the demand for year-around workers for our war food production farms.

Most of these boys were from small farms where all the family labor cannot be profitably used to the end of contributing the maximum to our national victory. They were chosen on the basis of their desire to take a definite part in winning the war. Therefor, in response to the Nation's call for "soldiers of the soil" they have volunteered to become farm workers at the close of the four weeks course and to remain in agricultural pursuits for the duration.

The University furnishes board and lodging on the campus and will give instructions helpful in fitting these boys for jobs on modern farms. The Farm Security Administration furnished the transportation to the school at Morris, will pay tuition and other expenses of the course, and provides a counselor to live with the boys and act as their advisor thru the course and supervise and provide transportation from the school to placement farms when the lads have completed the course.

Recruitment has been made with the full cooperation and approval of the parents as far as possible. Before any boy is sent to a training center, his application is cleared with his selective service board.

At the close of the course, the boys will be placed as advantageously as possible on good farms where they are urgently needed; and will be paid the wages prevailing in the vicinity in which they are employed. Farmers are apparently very much interested in hiring these training course boys, judging by the applications for them on hand in FSA, USES and other USDA offices.

This contingent of boys now beginning their training period at Morris, will be followed by other groups of trainees as sufficient numbers of new applicants are recruited. Those who wish to obtain full information regarding these courses or wishes to apply for enrollment, should contact their local Farm Security Administration office as soon as possible.

Navy Invites Women to Join WAVEs and SPARs

The Recruiting Service of the Navy has opened a drive for women between the ages of 20 and 36 for enlistment in the Waves and Spars. Service will be within the bounds of the United States, and the women enlisted will replace men now filling office jobs who are to be sent to active duty at sea.

Those who qualify will be given the same Navy ratings as are given to men and the rates of pay will be the same as for men. Rates of pay run from $50.00 per month for apprentice seaman to $126.00 per month for Chief Petty Officers. In addition, liberal allowances are granted for board and room, plus clothing allowances up to $200.00.

Any woman who is physically fit, has had at least two years of high school plus practical working experience is eligible to make application. For further information call in person, or write to the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Crookston.

Public Health Unit Asks Campaign Against Rats

"Throwing money down a rat hole—that is what the people of this country are doing in permitting rats to destroy well over two billion dollars worth of food a year", warns this week's news bulletin from the Minnesota Health Association.

The bulletin states that rats are costly not only in the food losses, but that they are a most serious menance to health, as they are potential carriers of at least seven diseases, including typhus and plague.

"The rat, almost entirely dependent on man for the necessities of life, could be eliminated as a food thief and health menace if individuals and communities would join forces in an extermination campaign", says the bulletin. "This is an important wartime measure."

How often do you check your million dollar eyes?
If you had two million dollars invested in some machine, you'd have it checked regularly to make sure everything was always okay.
But folks take their million dollar vision for granted, failing to have it checked for the changes which may occur in eyesight in a few months.
Just as you perhaps see your dentist twice a year for dental check-ups, so should you see your eyesight specialist at least once a year for a vision examination.

NEWFOLDEN

Newfolden 38, T. R. Falls 29

The Newfolden high school basketball team chalked up another win by defeating the Thief River Falls reserves at Thief River Falls Saturday evening. At the halfway period it was 17 to 13 for Newfolden. The next game will be played here with Stephen as opponents. It is expected that the Nordics will have to use everything they have to win this game as Stephen has a fast stepping team. The Nordics won by a small margin when they played them at Stephen at the start of the season. This should be a game well worth seeing as anything may happen. A sub-district tournament is being planned for next week with the first games being played at Karlstad Wednesday, March 3, and here Thursday evening March 4. On account of tire and gasoline shortage it was arranged at the start of the season that the team with the highest average should go to the district tournament. Newfolden still remains undefeated this season. But Strandquist, Karlstad and Middle River also have improved this winter, and anything can happen when these teams meet. Three years ago when the tournament was held at Karlstad, Newfolden led by one point six seconds before the end of the game, when time out was taken. Karlstad got the tip off and made a long shot from the middle of the court to win the game. Last springs tournament was held here and Karlstad also won from Newfolden when they made a free throw on a technical foul in the last few seconds of the game to break up a tie game. But Karlstad lost to Strandquist in the next game when Strandquist won the sub-district championship.

The surgical dressing unit has just received thirty six hundred bandages to be folded. Over four hundred were made by the few ladies who were present Saturday afternoon. This is such a worthy cause that all the ladies who can possibly get away, even for just a short time should come down to the surgical dressing room in the school house. The hours at present are from 8 to 10 Wednesday evenings, and 2 to 5 Saturday afternoons. A special thank you to the faithful workers who come out every time.

3. Find the item in the listing of items in the column to the left.
4. The POINT VALUE of the item appears on the same line as the item and in the column listing the correct weight.
All Point Values must be determined by weight. If no weight is marked on the item, the item must be weighed.
In finding the Point Value of a container where contents are given in fluid ounces, consider the fluid ounces to be the same as the avoirdupois weight ounces. One pint is one pound; one quart is two pounds.

The Point Value of any item weighing over four (4) pounds shall be arrived at by multiplying the number of pounds of that item by the Point Value per pound of that item as given in the "Per Pound" column. Fractions of a pound should be figured in quarter-pounds. Fractions of a quarter-pound should be figured to the next higher quarter-pound. Thus, an item weighing 4 pounds 1 ounce would be considered as weighing 4 pounds 4 ounces for the purpose of getting the Point Value of this item.

Production Loans

Since January, 1927—sixteen years, this agricultural credit company has been loaning money to farmers in Northwestern Minnesota, not only in good times like now when money is about the cheapest commodity on the market, but all through the hard times from 1927 on, when a livestock loan was next to impossible to get, and creditors in many cases were demanding full payment of notes.

We are as able now as before to furnish funds for necessary production of crops or livestock or for the liquidation of present incumbrance.

See or write us for 4½% money if you have use for it.

Farmers Are Urged to Make Use of State Testing Laboratory

Failure to clean and treat farm seeds before planting time is responsible for most of the bad weed infestations that cut down yields on thousands of acres of Minnesota farming land. Seed of known quality and germination is more important now than ever before, according to C. H. Schrader, extension agronomist at University Farm.

While the sale or exchange of farm seed in Minnesota is illegal unless each bag bears an official tag indicating that purity and germination tests have been made, studies show that the greatest danger is the exchange and sale of seeds from lands which were supposed to be weed-free. There is no way, says Schrader, to determine seed quality except by purity and germination tests.

All agricultural seeds, legumes, cereals, grasses should be of adapted varieties, of good germination, and where needed, properly treated for diseases. Cereals for example, should be treated for smuts, he says.

Trying to save a few cents on so-called bargain seeds or by failing to thoroughly clean and treat farm seeds is false economy. With farmers expected to get increased production in wartime, none can afford to take a chance on crop losses that result from using foul seed or unadapted varieties.

The department of agriculture, dairy and food, maintains a state seed laboratory at University Farm, St. Paul, which tests samples of seed free of charge up to five samples. Those who plan to sell farm seeds are urged to avail themselves of this service as soon as possible and also to make arrangements to have the seed properly labeled before it is offered for sale. Detailed information can be obtained from the county extension office.

NURSES SHOULD REGISTER WITH FEDERAL AGENCY

Every graduate nurse in the country is urged to register with the nursing, health and medical committee, office of defense health and welfare services of the Federal Security agency. Fifty per cent have already returned their cards, according to the War Manpower Commission, but the need is urgent because nursing units will be formed on a voluntary basis as fast as possible.

State Wheat King

By producing the best wheat in Minnesota for the second consecutive year, Peter Schirrick of Red Lake Falls retained the State Wheat crown and won the Philip W. Pillsbury award for his grain. Schirrick took top honors at the State Seed Show at the University Farm at the University of Minnesota during Farm and Home week. His winning sample was of the Reward variety and weighed over 64½ pounds per bushel.

J. A. Shaver, Insurance Man Here, Wins Award

By writing more than $200,000 in life insurance in 1942, J. A. Shaver, district manager for the Modern Woodmen of America, has qualified for the organization's "President's Club", it was announced Saturday by Oscar E. Aleshire of Rock Island, Illinois, Modern Woodmen president. Mr. Shaver is one of twenty district managers in the nation to receive such recognition.

PUP WRECKS INSIDE OF CAR

Sturden.—Gasoline rationing for Laurence Ahl is not only an inconvenience but also brought him a complete wreck of the inside of his new Ford automobile. For nearly a week he had let the car sit in his garage and when he went to start it one fine day found a dog on the inside reposing in the midst of torn and tattered upholstery floor mats, wide panels, dome lights, door knobs, etc. Duke, the pup, is a good fellow but nearly a week on the inside of that car had been too much and he had tried every conceivable way to get himself out.

2 NEW TYPES OF CREDIT TO BOOST FARM PRODUCTION

Funds Will be Provided by Regional Farm Credit Corporation

Two new types of credit to stimulate farm production, now available through county war boards with funds provided by the Regional Agricultural Credit Corporation, were described today by George Susens, member of the Minnesota USDA War Board and president of the Production Credit corporation of St. Paul.

"The main objective of this new type credit," Susens said, "is to make sure that no farmer who has the skill, experience and capacity to add to the nation's supply of vital foods, fibres and oils, is kept from doing his bit because credit is lacking.

"Funds will be provided by the Regional Agricultural Credit corporation, but the taking of applications, and the decision as to who gets the money and how much, is in the hands of the county USDA war boards. These funds will be made available in every farming or livestock county in the state, thus putting them within the reach of practically every farmer who is in position to add to our supplies of food and fibre for civilian, war and lend-lease."

Susens pointed out that one type of credit will be made for livestock and general farm production, at 5 per cent, secured by notes and chattel mortgages. He emphasized that it is expected that all such loans will be repaid within one year, and it is not contemplated that loans will be made unless there is reasonable expectation that they will be repaid.

The other type of credit deals with funds for production of a much needed war crop, production of which might not be undertaken if this source of credit were not available.

"These special crop advances may be furnished with only limited liability," Susens said, "under certain conditions. Where a farmer, at the request of the county war board, undertakes to produce a crop because of the urgent need for it, his debt will be marked paid upon application of all the proceeds from the crop even though these proceeds are less than the amount of advance—provided he used the money for producing the specified crop, followed good farming practices, and then did not have enough to repay the advance."

The special crops to which this limited liability may apply under certain conditions are: Soybeans for beans; Irish potatoes where the farm goal is 3 acres or more; flax, hemp, dry beans and peas, and certain truck crops for processing and for sale fresh. The specified truck crops are: Tomatoes, snap beans, lima beans, peas, carrots; and for processing only, cabbage, sweet corn, and table beets.

Destination...

GUADALCANAL!

The train comes to a stop. The platform truck rumbles up. "Howdy, Pete." Cheerfully a milk can is hoisted. Its destination may be Guadalcanal, or Morocco, or Australia—in the form of powdered or condensed milk. Somewhere, out where our troops are fighting a glorious battle, this milk will give nourishment and refreshment.

The dairy industry of the Northwest is one of the most important of this country today, for from it comes the greater portion of the milk which is still needed for the sustenance of our troops both here and abroad, as well as our civilian population.

It is the privilege of the Soo Line to serve this great dairy country. We're bending every effort to see that the supply of milk and every other vital material entrusted to us for shipment arrives at its destination, quickly, safely. The efficient transportation of needed materials and troops is our first consideration. With your cooperation, we are fulfilling every demand made upon us, and at the same time, taking good care of our civilian traffic.

BILLS TO SLASH STATE INCOME TAX ADVANCED

Senate Tax Group Approves Two Measures Offering Relief

WOULD AID TAXPAYER IN LOWER BRACKETS

Opponents Urge Building up Reserve to Tide over Lean Years

Recognizing a demand for relief from the increased income tax burdens which taxpayers face this year, members of the tax committee of the Minnesota state senate this past week recommended for passage two measures making a substantial reduction in the state income taxes.

Advised that a surplus of more than $7,000,000 will be accumulated in the income tax fund by June 30th, the committee concluded that the state can and should reduce its income tax to make more bearable the greatly increased federal levies, needed for the war effort, and sent to the senate two different bills cutting income taxes.

First bill reported out favorably was a measure sponsored by Senator M. J. Galvin. This bill:

1. Abolished the present method of allowances for dependents, in which the tax is computed on the full net income, and $10 deducted from the computed tax for single person, $30 for married person and $5 for each dependent. It proposed instead that the state return to the former method, that used by the federal government, in which a fixed amount is exempted from net income for dependents. Figures agreed upon by the committee were an exemption of $1,000 for a single person, 2,000 for a married person and $500 for each dependent.

The present state deduction plan, put into effect in 1937, increased taxes disproportionately on taxpayers in the lower brackets, penalizing particularly men with large families, the committee was told. Only four other states use it. All the other states have accepted the federal plan as the fairest.

2. Reduced the rate in the graduated scale on each $1,000 of in-

Declaring that the principles of legislative government are now being largely ignored, Mr. Brandt deplored the present tendency toward rule by bureaucracy, and made a plea for a return to constitutional government.

With the Victory Aides
By Mrs. W. R. Ferber
Publicity Chairman

Hugh R. Jackson, chief of operations of National civilian defense recently said: "As we go deeper into this war it becomes clear to the country as a whole that we will win or lose by activities of plain everyday citizens, as much as by the deeds of the armed forces. It will be won by concerted action of our civilian population and that includes the action of individual citizens in conserving food supplies, household equipment and health. The task of bringing information on how to do this, is one of the biggest issues which we face at present."

Salvage

A total of 103 lb. of fur was collected through the efforts of Victory Aides. This fur is being made into jerkins for the Merchant Marines.

Measure Approved in Lower House of Legislature Late Tuesday

The state house of representatives, acting under suspension of rules, late Tuesday passed the civil administration committee's version of Gov. Harold E. Stassen's war powers bill by a vote of 90 to 34.

Action came following consideration of the measure on special orders and explanation of the bill to the house by Representative John Hartle, Owatonna, and Frederick P. Memmer, St. Paul. Hartle is chairman of the civil administration committee.

Hartle said the committee had "tied down" the powers of the governor into a workable bill. Memmer added he did not "want to see the rest of the war handled by emergency proclamations from the governor," and explained the revised bill was a "far cry" from the original measure.

Representative Charles Halstad, Brainerd, attempted three times to amend the measure, most important amendment being one which would permit the governor to delegate powers given him under the act, with the exception of the power to make rules and regulations, to the adjutant general alone.

A second amendment would have given the governor permission to fill vacancies on a local defense council not filled locally, within 30 days rather than "forthwith" as now.

As passed, the bill was changed in committee to prevent the governor from having power "to seize, condemn or appropriate any property" or "to require any person to appear before him by subpena."

The act, effective until 60 days after cessation of hostilities in the present war, creates a division of civilian defense, with the director, who now is Col. Allan Briggs, directly under supervision and control of the governor.

RED CROSS NEWS

By Mrs. Ward Long
Publicity Chairman

In 31 cities the Red Cross is carrying on one of its most dramatic war-time activities: the procurement of 5,300,000 pints of blood for the Army and Navy. Already over 1,500,000 pints have been donated.

Last year the Red Cross won the coveted Army-Navy "E" for high achievement in the collection of one of the most vital supplies for the armed forces—blood.

Donations are being stepped up from 50,000 to 70,000 a week. And out of Pearl Harbor, Bataan and Corregidor; from the Solomon Islands, Australia and North Africa have come factual accounts showing how Red Cross plasma helped save the lives of thousands of wounded American soldiers and sailors.

The service was inaugurated in Feb., 1941 at the request of the Surgeons General of the Army and Navy. At the time of the attack on Pearl Harbor a total of 215,000 pints of blood had been requested, eleven Blood Donor Centers had been opened, total donations amounted to 27,252 pints.

To obtain the 5,300,000 pints of blood now requested, centers are being operated by 31 Red Cross chapters, and total donations are being increased to more than 280,000 pints of blood each month. Each of these centers is, in effect, a miniature hospital, staffed with doctors and nurses, aided by some 17,000 full or part-time Red Cross workers. This includes workers in cooperating chapters in nearby communities. Thirty-nine mobile units make it possible for those in such sections to donate.

SHOULD KEEP ALL DAIRY CATTLE, IS URGED BY THE FSA

Adequate Milk Supply Is No. One Food Problem Now Facing Nation

The No. 1 food problem now confronting the Food Production Administration and the nation is that of an adequate milk supply. To obtain an adequate milk supply, all dairy females must be retained as milk producers and such animals must not be sold for slaughter.

"Our demand for milk products greatly exceeds our present production," says a statement from the Farm Security Administration. "This demand is constantly increasing and will continue to increase until the war is won. It is obvious, therefore, that dairy cattle are now essential to the war effort and that no fairly good dairy animal should be diverted for slaughter.

"Until the war is won we shall need every good dairy female for the production of milk to meet the demands of our civilians, our armed forces and our allies. After the war the United States farmer may be called upon to supply foundation stock for the rehabilitation of the countries now devastated by war.

"It is of utmost importance that all ages of dairy females be retained as producers or for development into dairy cows. The sale of good type dairy heifer calves as veal should be discontinued. These calves are needed to meet the demand for dairy cows in the coming few years."

Farm Security County Supervisors have now been instructed by the War Food Production Administration to round up all surplus dairy females which might be sold for slaughter and arrange for their purchase and distribution to other farmers who have facilities to properly handle them for maximum milk production or for development from calves to dairy cows. This dairy cattle purchasing and distribution program is well under way in some counties of the state. Hundreds of good dairy animals have thus been retained as milk producers.

Farmers in Pennington county who wish to buy or sell dairy females should contact Mr. Rosengren, county FSA supervisor at Thief River Falls.

MEASURES PROPOSED IN LEGISLATURE TO REDUCE INCOME LEVY

come up to and including the sixth $1,000 of income, stepping each down 1 per cent.

Senator Galvin's proposals could not easily be applied to income taxes to be paid this year, the committee decided, for income forms have been distributed and many payments already have been made. It was voted to make the cuts proposed in this bill applicable first on the income tax to be paid next year. Senator W. B. Richardson had introduced another bill, however, which called for a straight 50 per cent cut in the state income tax.

The committee decided to take this at the suggestion of Senator Charles N. Orr, and amended it so as to effect a flat cut of 25% in income taxes of all individuals on taxes to be paid this year. A flat cut could be applied to the current taxes without great difficulty, the committee was advised.

Senator Galvin's bill would make a cut of 60 per cent in income taxes of most individuals, with smaller cuts as the brackets rise. It was pointed out, however, that any relief such as this state can give on income taxes will be but small, when compared to the total combined state and federal income taxes which taxpayers must pay this year. The reductions under the Galvin bill, in fact, would be only 6 or 7 per cent for most taxpayers, less for many.

Opponents of the tax cut argued that the state should continue to build up present surpluses against the lean periods that may follow. Senator Galvin and supporters of the cut argued that the state has no moral right to do this when it does not need the money. With a surplus of $7,000,000 in the income tax school fund and $6,000,000 expected in the general revenue fund June 30th, they said, more than ample funds will be available for all needs.

BY SENATOR W. E. DAHLQUIST

I see by the papers that we passed 53 bills in the Senate last week and that during this same period 105 new bills were introduced by members, bringing the total introduced to date up to 723. How many of this total of 723 have been killed in committees or on the floor I do not know. They tell me we are considerably ahead of other years in the production figures to date but that we will have to speed up still more if we are to avoid the usual last minute jam and that night sessions will soon be called. From what information I can get we are at the half way mark with about one-fourth of the actual work done.

Looking back over the work of the past week and the votes I cast on measures that either were defeated or have become law, I feel as a baseball umpire must feel when the game is out and over. Good umpires, who call them as thy see them, admit the possibility of error, and if some rabid fan were to accuse me of having made a mistake I probably would put up a bold front and try to prove him wrong, as umpires do, but secretly I would harbor the fear that he was right.

After being down here just a few short weeks I am beginning to wonder how anyone could be satisfied with their own work in passing judgment on hundreds of questions about which they know little or nothing. Unless a person has a special interest in some particular bill or it is of sufficient general interest to become an issue, judgment upon its merits must be made quickly. The title of a bill is read and there is a brief explanation of its purposes. It has been recommended to pass by a committee. Occasionally a question is asked and now and then there is some discussion, but most of the time the measure is voted upon without an argument. Thus are new laws made and old ones amended. When I get back home please do not call on me for a report until I have had an opportunity to study the session laws so I will know what we have done.

Of interest to our community is pending Rural Credit Department legislation and this week I attended a conference of committee members with Conservator George Jones and the Governor. The job of putting Rural Credit farms back in the hands of owners is about completed and the next thing to be liquidated is the Department itself. This should be done in the next two years, it was agreed, and a bill will be introduced to that effect, providing for about one more year of operation under the present arrangement. Mr. Jones has resigned as conservator and his successor, whoever that will be, will be paid at a reduced salary of $4,500 a year.

Remaining assets of the department probably will be turned over to other agencies of the state. The few farms that still will be unsold at that time may be given to the Conservation department for final disposition and it is likely that the banking department will be charged with the responsibility of liquidating contracts and mortgages. At the beginning of the year the state still owned 55 farms in Marshall county, 50 in Pennington and 12 in Red Lake. Of these 117 farms only 28 were considered good farms from the standpoint of soil and location, 32 were inferior in one respect or the other, 31 in the doubtful class and 26 definitely submarginal. Sales are being made right along and it is thought that in another year practically all of the good farms will be sold. Incidentally the state has quit paying the equivalent of school taxes on these remaining farms.

In the discussion the question was raised as to whether it would be proper for the state to sell the paper assets of the department to private investors in order to speed the liquidation. This was decided against but it was thought that borrowers should be encouraged to refinance their loans through loaning agencies and pay off the obligations to the state as quickly as possible.

Some time ago, as I recall, there was a question about the propriety of the city of Thief River Falls investing its reserves in government securities. In the committee on Municipal Affairs this week we recommended for passage a bill that would remove any doubt on this question by authorizing counties, cities or villages to make such investments.

Fred Dennis, attorney for the Red Lake Indians, called me this week to give me the information that the Indian Council had approved the proposed Red Lake River project. From what information I have been able to get everything seems to be favorable for the development of the Red Lake and Clearwater channels when the war ends but it is impossible to get specific details of what the final plans will be. One thing we shouldn't forget and that is the likelihood that these projects will not be possible without some local contribution toward their cost. I have heard various figures as to what this local cost is apt to be but as I see it even the largest figure is not unreasonable. It seems to me that it would not be out of order to start considering now how these costs should be distributed among the communities that will be benefited by the developments. We can't talk yet in terms of dollars but we can talk in terms of percentages.

The Tri-State Waters Commission was on the pan in Finance committee this week but survived with a recommended cut of $500 to an annual appropriation of $2,000. The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterway Commission fared worse by being dropped from the list entirely but later the Committee reconsidered and provided $3,000 a year instead of the usual $5,000. I am satisfied that our Tri-State Commission will be able to survive at its slightly reduced allowance and that is the important thing while the war is on.

So many complaints are pouring in on me about the state income tax that I decided I should get myself well organized with facts and figures so as to be able to argue in favor of its repeal. Now that I have the facts I am more up in the air than ever. In the last fiscal year only 270 citizens of Pennington county paid an income tax and their payments totaled $9,735.77. In that same year the state distributed to Pennington County schools from income tax sources a total of $87,524. That looks to me like a gain to Pennington county of more than $78,000 and if I am wrong please set me straight. If you asked me I would say that the main thing wrong with this tax is that not enough people are paying it.

This week I offended organized labor by voting to outlaw strikes by public employees. The bill provided a procedure for the negotiation of disputes for this group of employees, which organized labor wanted, but denied to them the right to strike, which organized labor did not want. No one will question the right of a public employee to quit his job but a strike implies coercion to force the acceptance of demands. When public officials are forced to yield to the demands of special groups by coercion then we no longer have popular government. In this class of labor disputes it seems to me the remedy is the ballot box, not the picket line.

In the hopper are many labor bills, most of them objectionable to labor but supported by farm organizations and, of course, business. Only a few of them involve issues of any consequence and these are intended largely to protect the interests of groups not directly involved in disputes. It is the natural reaction to the extremes to which we have gone in recent years. The thing to guard against now is the danger of going to the opposite extreme. In voting on these measures I will try to keep a middle-of-the-road course and I will make a special effort to keep under control my prejudices against racketeers.

At the request of turkey growers I am introducing a bill that will authorize a state supported program of pullorum eradication in turkey flocks. Such a program is recommended by our good friend Doc. Billings. Minnesota ranks second in the nation in turkey production but there seems to have been little official recognition of the importance of this crop or the problem of the growers.

It now appears that the deer season problem will be solved by authorizing five day seasons both in 1943 and 1944. The bear has definitely been taken off the protected list, subject to the right of the conservation commissioner to protect them in certain areas. The bill does not provide for a bounty and it is not likely that a bounty will be authorized. Prospects for securing a contribution by the state for fox bounties seem more favorable but I would still class it as a doubtful prospect.

Teachers and preachers come and go and ordinarily I am not disturbed by their comings or goings, but this week I sincerely regretted hearing Rev. Frank Doran announce that he would no longer serve as the Senate Chaplain. Only once during the session have I missed his opening prayer because of tardiness and that one time I was tied up in committee. Run-of-the-mill preachers too often spread a one-minute idea into a half-hour sermon. In his opening prayers Rev. Doran packed a half-hour thought into a one-minute lecture. He had a knack for this sort of thing and I will miss him.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO IS A GOOD SYSTEM

The thrifty citizen is saving for his income taxes because with the victory tax, he is paying 24 per cent of his income for federal taxes alone. This is substantially one-fourth of his income. No such tax can be met without planning for it. The careless citizen may assume that he has an income of a certain amount. As a matter of fact his income has suffered a drastic cut.

To help the careless citizen and force him to live within his reduced income, the government is now considering a pay-as-you-go system whereby the tax is not to be paid annually but monthly. The details have not been worked out yet, the stumbling block being how to devise a system that will not require a man to pay two years' taxes the first year the system operates.

For instance, the 1942 tax is not payable until this year. If the requirement is made that the 1943 tax, not payable ordinarily until 1944, is to be collected now on a pay-as-you-go basis, the taxpayer would have to pay two years' tax in 1943, a payment which because it would start out with 48 per cent of the income would be impossible for the average man to pay. The finance experts down in Washington are wrestling with the problem and as soon as they can figure out how the back tax can be paid and the current tax be taken care of also, the system is to be put into effect.

The pay-as-you-go system is the common sense system in view of the high taxes because at the end of each year the tax bill will have been paid and not be a huge hangover liability. The taxpayer will have adjusted his expenses to what income he has after making the monthly payment.

NO SHORT CUT

William M. Jeffers, rubber czar, recently struck hard at "loose and careless" talk about the rubber problem. The rubber problem is not licked; there is a definite rubber shortage; there will be tires for all only if the most stringent measures are applied and received with 100 per cent cooperation on the part of the public. That is the grim truth.

"There is no easy short cut to rubber conservation, or to the production of more rubber. "The facts are," Mr. Jeffers said, "that the Japanese cut off 90 per cent of our supplies and that as a result the United States is compressing into two years the building of a tremendous synthetic rubber industry which ordinarily would take a dozen years to build.

"The greatest reserve supply of rubber we have in this country is in the million tons of rubber in the tires of our passenger cars and trucks. We must stretch that million tons as far as it will possibly go—and maybe a little farther."

A CHANGE ABOUT FACE

(Murray County Herald)

Senator Norris of Nebraska has returned to his home town in McCook, Neb., after 30 years service in the United States Senate and many years prior to that in the House of Congress. Though he is now 81 years of age, the ex-senator has been offered a governmental position by President Roosevelt.

Let's see, now. Wasn't it Mr. Roosevelt who but a few years ago said that when a man had attained the age of 70 years, his mind was not such as to make him efficient as a public servant? Of course that was at a time when the President wanted to pack the Supreme Court.

If every housewife in the United States saved 4 ounces of waste cooking fats in a week, it would produce enough glycerine for the requirements of 13 million pounds of double base powder, used as a high explosive.

Granite Falls—All honors go to Mrs. Herman Rupp, Goodenow Winter and Milton Lundin for knowing their corn kernels. The guesses submitted ranged from 100 to 47,000 but the three people above guessed 1500. The rooster actually ate 1496 kernels.

U. S. Must Contribute Much Food for Military and Lend-Lease Needs

In answer to the question, "where does the extra percentage go when we undergo food rationing?", Mrs V. C. Noper, Pennington county farmerfieldwoman, quoted Charles W. Stickney, state AAA chairman, as saying the following percentages of U. S. food must be diverted from civilian use to meet military and lend-lease requirements: Beef and veal, 20 to 25%; pork, 30 to 40%; lamb and mutton, 10 to 15%; canned and dried fruits and vegetables, about 50%; cheese, 60%; butter, 20 to 25%; dried milk, practically all; and eggs, 25%.

The month of March entered on the scene Monday like the proverbial lion, the mercury reading -20 accompanied by a stiff north wind. In other words, there is as yet no sign of the imminent arrival of spring hereabouts.

Time to start planning your garden in now, when the snow is still knee deep—and do your planning on paper. A rough sketch showing accurately the crops, varieties, arrangement and spacing will save a lot of hours and energy at planting time and will help to produce an efficient garden that will make best use of the land. If you save your sketch and make notations throughout the summer as to results obtained, next spring you'll have a guide that will give you ideas for making further improvements.

Don't buy seed and then decide you haven't the time or the patience to have a garden. Know the condition of your soil, too, before you plant. Better be pretty sure that your garden enthusiasm doesn't melt away when the bugs and the dry hot weather come. There isn't any seed to waste this year.

If you intend to grow your own tomato plants and other plants that must be started indoors, you'll have to get busy. Hotbeds are usually made up between March 1 and April 1, depending on the locality and the plants grown. If you want to know how to make a hotbed, get Extension Bulletin 174 on "Vegetable Gardening." You'll find it indispensable, too, in planning and growing your garden.

Calcium and iron are two of the minerals everybody needs for good health, iron for red blood and strong muscles, calcium to build teeth, bones and blood You can get iron from your garden by planting green leafy vegetables, potatoes, beans and peas. Dark leafy greens like turnip greens, kale, broccoli, chard, dry beans and peas will supply a good amount of calcium. Milk and cheese are, of course, the best sources of calcium.

Are the potatoes and carrots you bring up from the storage cellar wilted and limp? That may be because you haven't provided the proper storage conditions. Right now, while it's still too early to dig your spade into the earth, it would be worth your while to fix up the right storage facilities for next fall. A little labor spent on the storage cellar now will pay dividends next winter in crisp, fresh-looking and fresh-tasting vegetables. You'll want some kind of assurance next fall when you bring in all those vegetables from your garden that they'll be good eating all winter and spring. Extension Bulletin 226 will help you fix up the right storage conditions.

Homemakers who are planning to can meat after butchering may find some useful tips in "Canning Meats at Home," Extension Folder 114.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Asst. Scoutmaster Borchert will take the boys who were in attendance at the last troop meeting on a bird feeding trip next Saturday. A study will be made later of the beaver and other wild life.

Troop No. 47 is learning the compass and directions as indicated by the sun, moon or stars with a watch. A group of the boys are studying Indian lore and bead and leather craft. The patrols expect to go hiking on Saturday to practice tracking, cooking and fire building and the use of the knife and hatchet.

Good turns consisting of ticket sales and errands for the home talent play, were the orders of last Tuesday.

Scientists 'Hunting' For Four-Leaf Clovers

Hunting four-leaf clovers may not be a silly occupation, after all. It is now revealed that scientists with as many as three college degrees have been hunting them and experimenting with them for some time.

If the four-leaf trait in white clover can be "tied up" with greater resistance against prolonged dry spells or with higher clover tonnage per acre, then the farmers they are trying to benefit will be lucky indeed. The four leaves can be seen, while these more practical traits can not, and if these characteristics or other valuable ones can be associated and the plant persuaded to breed true, then the plant geneticists will score another triumph over thin soil.

Up to date, planting seed from such plants has been no guarantee of four-leafed progeny On the other hand, you can get large numbers of plants of the coveted form if you make stem cuttings in the way you make rose cuttings.

First, choose a plant having large numbers of four-leaflet leaves (some have more than others). You may take a piece of the creeping stem having one node (or buried nitrogen storage plant), but it is best to take a cutting with two nodes. Plant it in fertile soil with the proper amount of moisture and these conditions probably will yield more lucky-numbered leaves. Commercial use is already being made of this information.

Crippled Children Are Aided by Modern Surgery

Magic, in the guise of modern surgery and the ancient craft of brace making, is reality to Iowa's crippled and deformed children who have been patients at the University of Iowa Children's hospital.

Here, under the genius of Dr. Arthur Steindler, regarded as prominent in this work, a laboratory has been built that ranks with the nation's best in orthopedic work. Here children who were hopelessly destined to go through life with crippled arms or legs, or a deformed foot, are walking and playing just the same as their more fortunate playmates.

For those who are not, and cannot be completely cured, there is relief or permanent help of a nature that lessens the burden of a physical drawback that might have kept them away from society as a whole.

Dr. Steindler began orthopedic work here even before the children's hospital was built. He commuted to Iowa City from Des Moines twice weekly to see patients and perform operations.

The department was established here in 1919 when the children's hospital—one of four state operated hospitals at the university—was constructed.

Facts About Vinegar

Vinegar has a long and ancient history as a staple condiment to cookery and pickling. And at this time, it assumes prime importance, when pickles and spice, and everything nice, are being canned and packed, and when the directions "bottle and seal" are daily passwords in the kitchen.

In countries of older civilization, where the mild climate favored grape-raising and hence wine-making, vinegar was most easily secured by allowing a natural souring process to wine, with resulting internationally common "wine vinegar." But in more northern countries, where neither grapes nor apples grew in abundance, vinegar was brewed from barley malt, or from the malt of other cereals, and thus gave the cook a darker, more beer-flavored "malt vinegar."

In America today cider vinegar made from cider or apple juice has become a standard household product.

The word range for a certain kind of cook stove was first applied by the Pennsylvania Dutch to the six-plate stove, implying a larger range of space permitted by this particular type of stove than was possible with the four-plate which was previously used.

UPKEEP HIGHER ON LOCAL ROADS

More money was spent for maintenance than for construction on county and township roads and municipal streets in 1940 and 1941 according to an analysis of road costs made by the Highway Planning Survey, joint project of the federal public roads administration and the state highway department. On state highways, however, twice as much was spent for construction as for maintenance in 1940 and 2½ times as much in 1941.

FIELD NARROWS TO FOUR TEAMS IN SUB-DISTRICT

DISTRICT TOURNEY OPENS ON WEDNESDAY

Four Winning Teams Secure Places in District Tournament

In the opening round games of the sub-district basketball tournament in progress here this week Climax rolled up a 64 to 15 win over Goodridge; and Oslo trounced Alvarado, 38 to 11, in Wednesday afternoon games; while Red Lake Falls outscored Plummer 47 to 7, and St. Hilaire, bouncing back from a 9 to 10 deficit at the half, walloped Fisher, 31 to 12, in the evening games.

Friday night's semi-finals game will pit the Climax Vikings against Oslo; and Red Lake Falls against St. Hilaire, the first game being scheduled for 7:45 P. M. The finals will be played Saturday night. As a result of their first round wins, Climax, Oslo, Red Lake Falls, and St. Hilaire earned places in the 31st district tournament which will get under way here next Wednesday afternoon.

Climax, revealing a smooth-passing offense, and with Hilding Hagen garnering 22 points and Duaine Howland marking up 14 points, swamped Goodridge, 64 to 15, in the opening game. Oren Stephenson, Goodridge captain, looped in 6 points for the losers. Climax led all the way, holding a 30 to 5 lead at the half-time intermission.

A veteran Oslo team, led by Dale Nordling and be-spectacled Rube Ristelgen, scoring 12 and 10 points respectively, rolled over the Alvarado team, 38 to 11, in the second game of the tourney. Oslo's lead at the half was 21 to 8.

Paced by the fine play of the two lanky Nisland brothers, Vern and Bob, Red Lake Falls piled up a 47 to 7 win over a scrappy Plummer team. Bob Nieland's 12 points won high point honors for the winners, followed closely by Vern Nieland's 10 points. Arnold Arlt, Plummer center, tallied 4 points for the losers.

In the most exciting game to date, St. Hilaire, after trailing by 1 point at the half, 10 to 9, broke loose with 23 points in the second half while holding Fisher to but 2 points, to roll up a 31 to 12 triumph. Rangy Bill Holmes, as the result of some neat passing by Harlan Olson, was able to shove 5 shots into the net in the second half, and with his 3 points marked up in the first half, was the game's high point man with 13 points. Oliver Gregory proved to be Fisher's most effective player, but he was forced out of the game in the third period on fouls.

The broomball hockey league will reach its climax tonight, and wind up its season's play with a championship game between the Eagles and the Civic & Commerce. The two teams, deadlocked for first place in the team standings, have been re-inforced by the addition of new players, the Eagles having signed Morris Efteland and Lloyd Johnson to their roster, and the C. & C. has been strengthened by the addition of Connie Stanbridge, Ray and Harry Oen.

In a double-header played last Wednesday night the Civic & Commerce, on a last-second goal by Ray Oen, defeated the Lions, 1 to 0; and the Eagles, with Lloyd Johnson pounding in a counter in the overtime period, nosed out the Jr. C. of C., 2 to 1. Mouse Efteland scored the Eagles first goal in the second period, only to have the Jr. C. of C. tie the score with a goal by Harold Hanson in the third period, forcing the contest into overtime.

CROOKSTON WINS FROM PROWLERS FOR SECOND TIME

Locals Ousted from District Lead by Close Margin Friday Night

The red-jerseyed Crookston Pirates shoved the Prowlers down into second place in the district standings by outfinishing the locals to score a 30 to 27 victory in an erratic but exciting game played here Friday night. Coach Hanna's team will engage in their final pre-tournament game tomorrow night when they face Cliff Halmrast's Moorhead Spuds on the Moorhead floor.

After a minute of play Friday night, Don Berg flipped a pass in to Milt Reierson and the Prowlers' blond forward pushed a set-up into the west basket for the game's first points. Howie Casmey found the net with a one-handed hoist from the north side of the court; and Toddie Johnson broke into the lane to loop in a two-pointer, to give the Pirates the lead. Reierson recovered a rebound and dipped a neat two-handed shot into the net. Bill McKechnie made one conversion on a two-shot foul, and Bill Bye connected with a one-handed lift from out on the court. Bye and Bill Reynolds exchanged points on free throws, and the Prowlers held an 8 to 5 first-period lead.

The Prowlers held the edge throughout most of the second period, but captain Jack Melby's absence from the Prowler line-up was noticeable, especially on the recovery of rebounds for the Pirates were marking up easy points by controlling the backboard play. Swarthy Bill Reynolds, the game's high point man, picked up a rebound to score on a close shot, after Reierson had opened the second period scoring with a one-handed shot. Berg broke away on an interception and dribbled in for a push-up shot and the locals led, 12 to 7.

Reynolds potted a one-handed try from the floor and, after Bye had marked up a gift shot, Bob Sellberg tossed in two free throws on a two-shot foul and scored another point on Eide's foul, slicing the Prowlers lead to a point. Berg's free throw and field goal boosted the locals margin to four points; but Reynolds' set-up shot and free throw, and Sellberg's left-handed two-pointer, just before the half ended, gave the Pirates a 17 to 16 edge at the intermission.

The Prowlers took over the lead on McKechnie's long shot, but Reynolds added two Crookston points on free throws. Eide's gift shot knotted the score, at 17-all. Big Dick Sprague took a pass from Casmey and lifted in an easy goal. Reierson pumped a long shot cleanly into the ring, and the two teams were tied, 21 to 21, as the final period opened.

Dick Youngquist, on a one-handed shot, popped the Pirates into the lead but not for long, for Bye's long shot and Reierson's push-up gave the Prowlers a 2-point advantage. Sellberg notched a Pirate free throw. McKechnie missed a gift toss and Reierson failed to convert on two tries, but Berg, taking a pass from McKechnie, drove in for a field goal and a field goal and the Prowlers led, 27 to 24. Reynolds, on an under-the-basket try, counted a field goal, and with a minute and a half to play, Johnson dribbled in to the free throw circle and pushed a one-handed shot into the net, to score the winning points. Johnson, just as the final whistle sounded, swished in another one-handed effort, to give the Pirates their 3-point margin.

In a rough and hotly-contested preliminary game, the Prowler 'B' team defeated the all-veteran Oslo team, 24 to 22. Virg Evenstad led the 'B' team scorers with 12 points.

Contest Played Sunday Goes into Two Overtime Periods

The Crookston Cathedral Blue Wave upset the Hornets here Sunday afternoon by scoring a 2 to 1 triumph in a game which went into two overtime periods. Cathedral's young goalie, Buddy Schraeder, was the chief factor in the Blue Wave's win, for the black-haired youngster kicked out 46 Hornet shots at the Crookston goal.

Marlyn Dorn and Johnny Efteland combined to mark up the first Hornet goal at the 8:45 mark in the opening period. Schraeder had stopped Efteland's shot, but Dorn picked off the rebound and drove the puck into the net. Crookston knotted the count midway in the second period when, after Jimmy Medved had been checked at the Hornet blue-line, Johnny Noah gathered in the loose puck near the penalty shot line and beat Bernie Kobetski with a high shot.

Crookston tallied the game-winning tally at the 2:00 mark in the second overtime period. Johnny Efteland and Marlyn Dorn had made a rush which carried to the Crookston goal-mouth, and only a fumbled pass prevented the Hornets from scoring; but Bill Dowdle recovered the puck and carried the disc up the ice to feed a pass to Crookston left-wing, Bill Sullivan, and the lanky Blue Wave flipped in the goal.

The summaries:

T. R. Falls (1) vs. Crookston C. (2)

Sub-district and District

With the sub-district moving into the semi-finals Friday and the finals Saturday night, and with the district tourney slated to get under way next week, fans are due for a nourishing diet of basketball during the next nine days.

Climax and Red Lake Falls have been installed as the favorites in the sub-district tourney now in progress, and if the Climax team hasn't been "burned out" by too much competition, the Vikings should come out the winners; but the rangy, aggressive Red Lake Falls team is capable of defeating Climax without having the result termed an upset. Red Lake Falls is pretty proud of their team this year and rightly, for the Lafayette team has scored two wins over St. Hilaire this year and barely lost a game to the Crookston Pirates.

The sub-district winner will earn a choice spot in the district tournament seedings, being pitted against the luckless Warren Ponies, while the runner-up will face East Grand Forks in the lower bracket. Crookston and Thief River Falls, as the first and second place winners in the conference stands, will play Oslo and St. Hilaire. Of course, if Oslo defeats Climax, and St. Hilaire trounces Red Lake Falls, the district pairings will have to be re-shuffled.

The Prowlers haven't appeared very impressive in their practice drills this week, and it begins to be evident that their prospects in the district tourney depend largely on captain Jack Melby's condition. Jack has been engaging in some light warm-up sessions, but he will not see action in the game against Moorhead tomorrow night. He hopes, though, and so does everyone else, that he'll be ready next week.

Sgt. George Beverley

Local hockey fans were shocked and grieved this week to learn that Sgt. George Beverley had been killed in the crash of a RCAF plane. The plane, presumably on a patrol flight, is supposed to have crashed into the waters of the Bay of Fundy, bringing death to its four crew members. Beverley's body was washed ashore in the vicinity of Digby, N. S.

It's sure that the States-Dominion hockey league, if it re-appears after the war, will never see the likes of Beverley again. When you had seen Bev make a rink-length solo, stick-handling through the opposition, to carry the puck to the goal and then score or set up the play for a team-mate, you had seen a masterpiece. And not only was George ace-high as a hockey player, but he also rated "tops" as a friend and gentleman.

Broomball Tonight

I don't know if they have provided a trophy for tonight's championship game between Helmer Ness' Eagles and Roy Oen's Civic & Commerce team—perhaps a bundle of broken broomstick handles would be appropriate — but the boys will play to a decision and conclude the season's broomball play.

The league really "ran" away from the boys this year. It was formed primarily as a fun and exercise promoter; but it wasn't long before "importations" began to appear in the line-ups, and the teams began to battle for "keeps". The game then, became much too fast for the ordinary, or street variety, broomball player and the percentage of being injured rose too high. In fact, the only simon-pure team in the circuit was Walt Larson's Junior Chamber of Commerce team. He organized the team from members of the Jaycees, and stuck with that line-up.

Miscellany

Bemidji's Jack McCormick has been reported as missing on a bomber raid over Germany. Jack, who will be remembered as the black-haired guard on the Lumberjacks 1936 state high school champions, was a lieutenant in the air force and the pilot of a Flying Fortress.—Jack's old coach H. M. "Buck" Robbins, who's now a colonel, is stationed in London, being in command of an anti-aircraft unit. Buck, by the way, was Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt's personal escort when she visited in London last year.

Local Bowlers Downed in Match with Warren

In a return match, rolled on the Warren alleys, Warren, with a 2584 total, scored an 82-pin win over a team of local bowlers Sunday afternoon. A weak 745 first game total, while Warren was posting a fine 910-pin score, gave Warren a lead which they held throughout the second and third games. Wally DuChamp, after a 163 first game, piled up the pins with scores of 222 and 236, to mark up a 621 total. Anchor-man Joe Herbranson, with a 575 total, led the Warren bowlers.

GEORGE BEVERLEY, FORMER STAR AT HOCKEY, IS KILLED

Flyer Loses Life in Crash Off Canada East Coast; Here Four Winters

Sergeant George Beverley of Winnipeg, member of the Canadian air force and for four years up to 1941 a mainstay of the Thief River Falls hockey team in the States-Dominion league, lost his life, together with possibly three other airmen, during recent flying operations off the east coast of Canada.

Word of his death was received last week-end in Winnipeg by his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Beverley. The report stated that his body had been recovered and brought ashore, and would be forwarded to Winnipeg for interment.

Sergeant Beverley, during his affiliation with the local hockey team, won wide popularity with followers here, both for his playing proficiency and for his clean sportsmanship. He was a defense man, and served as coach during the 1940-41 season. He enlisted in July, 1941, received training at Brandon and Winnepeg, and received his wings at the Lethbridge training school in September, 1942.

'A' FARM AWARDS TO BE MAILED OUT LATE THIS MONTH

Farmers Excelling in Production to be Honored March 24th

Wednesday, March 24, has been selected as Farm Production "A" Day in Minnesota and, in that connection, service flags and lapel insignia will be distributed through the medium of the state agricultural production awards committee. This was announced at Governor Stassen's office in St. Paul Wednesday. He set the day in a special proclamation that calls for widespread public recognition of the importance of food products in the state's contribution to the nation's war effort.

Plans for presenting awards at specially arranged meetings in 300 or more centers have, in many cases, been cancelled in view of the increasing seriousness of the transportation problem. Many county boards, according to Dis Plast, the Award Program's director, strongly recommended mail distribution. However desirable such meetings would be if conditions were normal, the present rationing of gasoline and tires carries with it an obligation to avoid all but the most necessary travel. Plast pointed out.

Agricultural Production Day will be observed with appropriate ceremonies at the state capitol. Governor Stassen, leaders of the legislature and persons prominent in the state's agricultural circles will participate. The closing feature of the program will be a symbolic presentation to farmers living in the immediate vicinity of the twin cities, to be followed by the mailing of the awards to each farmer in the state whose application has been approved. The program will be carried on the radio.

TIN TEA BOX MAKES 12,000-MILE TRIP

Deer River. — A half-pound air mail package received recently by R. A. Metcalf from a South Pacific airport had many surprises. First of all, it included a tin of Lipton's tea, box in which he had mailed candy to his son at Christmas time. In the tin box he found a fountain pen of U. S. manufacture but with Japanese characters inscribed on it; a blood-stained Japanese flag, a New Zealand penny, some French coins and a piece of paper Japanese invasion money, marked "Tien Gulden." The bill had five jagged holes in it. After the many thousand miles of travel the tin box now is ready for the scrap drive.
